

Railway Rates Probed by Eight States' Experts

Lower Minimum Weight for Hogs and Cut in Express Tariff Urged at Omaha Meeting.

Members of state railway commissions and rate experts of eight states held a meeting yesterday at the Hotel Fontenelle to discuss the lowering of express rates and the minimum weight of carload shipments of hogs.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of Dwight L. Lewis of Iowa, president of the National Association of Railway Commissioners.

It was the opinion of the members present, that after a careful investigation and considering the evidence in the Iowa case relative to carload shipment of hogs, farmers throughout this territory will save thousands of dollars if the meeting's findings are upheld by the Interstate Commerce commission when it hears the case sometime in February in Kansas City.

"Today, a farmer pays for a 17,000 pound car to ship his hogs," said H. G. Taylor, chairman of the Nebraska commission. "Then he should only pay for 15,000 pounds, because our investigation discloses that farmers of today are not shipping fat hogs. They ship the so-called 'bacon' hogs that are much lighter and therefore they find it hard to make up a 17,000 pound car."

Mr. Taylor also expressed confidence that express rates would be lowered shortly. The meeting came to a close late yesterday.

Those present at the meeting besides Taylor were rate experts, H. M. Slater of the Illinois commission, Thomas Yarr, secretary of the Minnesota commission, and H. L. Bennett of Oklahoma. Members of the commissions were Dwight Lewis, Clyde M. Reed, Kansas; Frank Millhollan, North Dakota; John J. Murphy, South Dakota; C. A. Randall, Nebraska; and Judge J. H. Henderson, counsel for the Iowa state railway commission.

Bandanna Bandits Hold Up Grocer, Escape With $497

Two men wearing red bandanna handkerchiefs as masks, held up and robbed Mitchell Blasser, 3702 North Sixteenth street, a grocer, at 8 p. m. Monday and obtained $497.35.

They got $450 of the money from Blasser and the rest from the cash register. Blasser told police he doesn't write checks, but pays cash for everything.

"Both of the men had revolvers," said Blasser. "One of them went to the cash register and the other forced me into a back room. He searched me and found the $450."

Patrolman Rogers, who has the North Sixteenth street "beat" report of a license number which he believes is of the machine used by the "red bandanna" bandits. He said the car was driven up and down Sixth street just before the holdup.

Mrs. David Jayne Hill.

Hit by Auto Truck, Dies

Washington, Jan. 16.—Mrs. David Jayne Hill, 60, wife of the former ambassador to Germany, died here early today from injuries received when struck by an automobile late yesterday. Stepping from the curb just after leaving her home, Mrs. Hill was struck by a delivery wagon driven by Guy C. Lee, who is being held by police. She was removed at once to a hospital, where her condition was seen to be critical.

Mrs. Hill, who, before her marriage in 1888, was Miss Juliette Lewis Packer of Williamsport, Pa., was a prominent hostess in Berlin, during Dr. Hill's service as ambassador there. Since his retirement they have lived in Washington, where Mrs. Hill also was prominent socially.

Day by Day in Every Way, Country Getting Wetter, Statyon Says

Washington, Jan. 16.—"Every day in every way" prospects for modification of the dry laws are becoming "better and better," W. H. Statyon, founder and executive head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, declared in a statement issued tonight on the eve of the birthday of "so-called prohibition in this country." "After three years of unsteady reign, old king prohibition is fast tottering to a fall, he said, and "there are most encouraging evidences of a change in sentiment."

Election figures in eight states, captain Statyon declared, point to a voting majority of approximately 2,500,000 in the country in favor of the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines. In four states comprising 18 per cent of the population where the wet and dry issue was directly before the voters November 7, he explained, a prohibition majority of 260,000 was returned in Ohio and of 10,000 in California, while Massachusetts voted by 112,000 majority and Illinois by 520,000, leaving a "net wet majority" of 282,000. In the other four states, comprising another 18 per cent of the population, where prohibition was an indirect issue, he added, the wets won by 430,000 in New York, by 20,000 in Maryland, and by 40,000 in Missouri. The latter group of states, he pointed out, have 77 representatives in congress and the former group 78, of which the two states voting dry have 33.

Accused in Auto Theft Ring

William Klass, accused by detectives with being the "brains" of the auto accessories theft gang for investigation of which 12 persons have been arrested, and Mrs. Beatrice Miller, 20.

Girl Admits Part in Auto Thefts

Beatrice Miller, 20, yesterday morning confessed, according to Police Captain Jack Pzanowski, to a share in the operations of the largest automobile accessories theft gang ever uncovered in Omaha.

Klass is the only woman among 12 persons now held by police, against whom charges ranging from automobile theft and grand larceny to receiving stolen goods will be filed.

She was caught with her husband, J. A. Miller, and William Klass, by detectives with a "bait car" Sunday night.

Klass appeared at her home Christmas day, she is alleged to have told Pzanowski, and coaxed her husband out on an accessories foraging party. Other raids followed, she is alleged to have admitted, and she, unable to dissuade her spouse, decided if it was safe for him it was safe for her, and joined the expeditions.

While members of the gang would strip automobiles, she is said to have confessed she'd stand by to lend "local color" to their ruse they were repairing the machine.

Detectives Heller, Vanous, Miklas and Murphy have recovered a large quantity of tires and other accessories which they claim was stolen from 16 different automobiles by the alleged gang. They believe they have the case about closed and will file charges Thursday.

Recovered loot included tires, auto tops, motorometers, cushions, pumps and tools.

The 12 held in the case are: William Klass, 207 South Twenty-fourth street; investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Miller, 1023 South Twenty-ninth street; investigation.

Paul Grice, 2707 Hamilton street; garage owner; charged with receiving stolen property.

William Klassen, 3711 S street; held for investigation.

J. D. Bower, 4525 South Twelfth street; investigation.

S. Hindman, used car dealer, 2052 Farnam street; charged with receiving stolen property.

Dean Capbell, 508 South Twentieth street; investigation.

William Vasak, 2551 Deer Park boulevard, merchant; receiving stolen property.

John Libal, 1323 Eighth street, merchant, charged with receiving stolen property.

Hans Johnson, Fifty-sixth and Q streets; investigation.

E. S. Lingo, 612 South Fifty-eighth street, real estate man; charged with receiving stolen property.

Nebraskan Wins Honors at Denver Stock Exhibit

Denver, Jan. 16.—Colorado Mixer, owned by George W. Baker of Littleton, Colo., was adjudged grand champion steer at the fat cattle competition at the seventeenth annual National Western Livestock show here yesterday. The Aberdeen-Angus prize winner previously had captured the championship at the Royal Stock show at Kansas City and reserved honor at Chicago.

In the junior yearling class, De Witt & Lamont of Denver carried off first honors with Miss Chick Domino. In the senior calf class by Herefords, the University of Nebraska placed first with Lancaster Girl, White Model, owned by A. L. Klopping of Underwood, Ia., was adjudged grand champion in the Shorthorn class. The University of Nebraska placed first for herd of three in this division.

Law to Be Sought to Stop Practice of Third Degree

Recommendations to Legislature Adopted by Society for the Friendless—Parole System Upheld.

Judge Howard Kennedy, president of the Society for the Friendless, vigorously defended the indeterminate sentence law in an address at the society's annual meeting Monday night in the city council chamber.

"I am convinced that the indeterminate sentence, with the parole feature, is a rational law," said the judge. "It is a popular fallacy to attribute many of the present ills to the indeterminate sentence, notwithstanding that 85 per cent have made good after having been paroled. Thirty-seven states during the last 50 years have adopted this law."

"We should have more parole officers, as there is need to keep in touch with this class of people after they leave the penitentiaries. They need a helping hand. It is a real benefit to society to start one of them on a life of usefulness. There has been much misinformation broadcast concerning the indeterminate sentence."

The judge advocated speedy trials and urged that the board of pardons and parole be taken out of politics. J. A. Leavitt, superintendent of the society, submitted the following report covering last year's activities. Clothed, $96; fed, 684; assisted in miscellaneous ways, 413; addresses, 238 to 24,150 persons; calls, 1,361; miles traveled, 11,296.

The society will make the following recommendations to the legislature, as proposed by Mr. Leavitt: That applicants for marriage should post or publish 10-day public notices and be required to furnish health certificates from reputable physicians; that the practice of the third degree be made a penal offense, and that the sale of revolvers be prohibited except when authorized by the proper officials.

Rev. J. P. Sullivan, superintendent of Beulah mission, Lincoln, told a brief story of his life, from a lawbreaker to the ministry. He said he served 17 years in prisons and was known as "Missouri Pat."

Judge A. L. Sutton also spoke on the indeterminate sentence.

Boys Bound for Wild and Woolly West Held Here

Two more youngsters here been disillusioned. Bound for the wild and woolly west to get their quota of reekins, Alphonse Kowalski, 14, Merrill, Ia., and Wren Waddell, 11, Lawton, Okla., were found Monday night in the rail-road yards of South Omaha between M and N streets.

Detectives Keane and Carter took them to the police station, where they spent the night, and then the two youngsters were given into the care of the detention home while police attempt to communicate with their parents.

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange

A load of pure-bred Poland-China hogs was brought to market yesterday by E. A. Martin of Clarke. The animals averaged 275 pounds and sold for the top price of the day, $8.25 a hundred.

"I believe in raising nothing but pure-bred livestock," said Mr. Martin. "I have been raising pure-bred Hereford cattle and Poland-China hogs for some time and found that one always gets a better price for registered stock. I am not feeding any cattle this season, but there are some cattle in the feed lots around Clarke."

One of the largest hogs brought to the local market for some time was brought in yesterday by John Long of Norfolk. The animal was a stag and tipped the beam at a few ounces over 1,000 pounds. He was nearly three years old and more around like a young pig. Mr. Long received an even $50 for the hog, which sold at $5 a hundred.

Included in the shipment brought in by Mr. Long was also a load of choice young Durocs that averaged 270 pounds and sold for $8.20 a hundred. They were fattened in an alfalfa field and finished on corn.

According to Edward Dreager of Venaugo who was in the local market with a shipment of shortfed yearling cattle, corn is plentiful in his neighborhood and selling for 62 cents a bushel.

Mr. Dreager said that feeding operations were quite heavy along the western border of the state and that farmers are getting a better market for their corn by feeding it than selling it to the elevators.

Bandits Rob Grocer; Flee in Stolen Truck

Three bandits entered the grocery store and meat market of J. Matlick, 43, 2301 South Thirteenth street, shortly after 2 yesterday afternoon.

They flourished weapons and ordered the grocer to the rear of the store. There they forced him to lie down behind a counter and, while one of them held the muzzle of a revolver against his head, the second kicked him in the face, the third went to loot the money till.

Just then Emil Chlupack, 1709 South Fifteenth street, driver for the Vok bakery, entered to deliver some bread. One of the bandits knocked him down with his fist, then took him back to lie beside Matlick.

After looting the till of $15 cash, the trio fled in Chlupack's delivery truck, south on Thirteenth street.

From South Omaha police headquarters, Capt. James Sheahan led a squad of detectives armed with riot guns to pursue the fleeing bandits. The officers were in an emergency car.

Store Deliveries by Air Predicted

Owner of String of Iowa Garages Urges Development of Air at Lions Club.

Airplane store deliveries from cities to country towns were predicted by W. B. Swaney of Fort Dodge, Ia., in an address on "Future Transportation" delivered before the Lions club at Hotel Fontenelle yesterday. As the owner of a string of garages in Iowa towns, he makes frequent trips among them by airplane.

"A web of airways is being spun above the earth," he said. "The center of this web, however, is not in America, where aviation had its start, but in France. Few record making flights are attempted there, but commercial aviation has developed wonderfully. Regular schedules are kept by passenger and freight airplanes, and one may fly from Paris to any European capital except Berlin. By train, it takes 24 hours to go from Paris to the Riviera, but one may take the air route after luncheon and have dinner in Nice."

Mr. Swaney praised the United States aerial mail, which has covered 2,500,000 miles without a fatality. The army and navy aviation service, he declared, was doing its best in the face of conservative opposition. He urged the enactment of a national law establishing a code for aviation.

The Lions club is already at work in preparation for the building fund campaign of the Nebraska Children's home in which it has taken a leading part. Ralph A. Van Orsdal and Frank Myers spoke on this project. Next Tuesday night will be ladies' night, and the Lions will entertain with a dinner and dance at the University club.

Bungalow Burns Down.

Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the five-room bungalow home of H. L. Van Amburg at the Lakona club in Ralston at 3 a. m. yesterday. The cottage was valued at $4500 and furniture at $3,000, according to Van Amburg, who said the loss is partially covered by insurance.

Van Amburg spent the night downtown, as his wife and child are out of the city. He did not know of the fire until 8 this morning. He is an employe in the offices of the Union Stockyards company.
