Organize Fight on Sheriff Bill

Report Hints at Amendments Which Would Render Measure Unpopular in State.

Lincoln, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—Reports persist here that Omaha politicians are attempting to put amendments onto the Douglas county anti-sheriff feeding bill which will make it unpopular outstate and result in its death.

One amendment proposed is to take away from all sheriffs the supervision of feeding prisoners. This would instantly arouse sheriffs throughout the state and it is believed they have sufficient influence with legislators to get the bill killed.

Children of Man on Trial Testify to His Character

Frank Illian, Boone County Farmer, Faces Charge of Violation of Mann Act With Stepdaughter.

The grownup sons and daughters of Frank Illian, farmer, whose home is in Boone county, testified in federal court yesterday afternoon to his good reputation. His brother, State Senator William Illian of Boone county, also testified to his good repute.

Illian is charged with taking his stepdaughter, Elsie Thomas, from Columbus, Neb., to Excelsior Springs, Mo., last summer in violation of the Mann act.

His wife, who has applied for a divorce since then, sat in the courtroom with her daughter by her side. The wife was not permitted to testify against Illian.

Stepdaughter Testifies. Elsie, a pretty girl of 14, but looking several years older, testified that she went with her stepfather to take care of him, that he rented two rooms in an apartment house in which were a bed and a cot. She testified to improper relations there and also previously at Omaha and in Columbus.

Illian denied that there was any misconduct. His son, Dewey, a farmer of Primrose, Neb., testified that Elsie's reputation for veracity was not good. Louis Illian, another son from Primrose, and Mrs. Lulu Patterson, his daughter, testified to the same.

Pleaded Lack of Time. Bernard Illian, another son, testified that Illian asked his wife to accompany him to the Springs, but that she pleaded lack of time because of fruit canning and other duties, but that she first suggested to have the young girl go along to care for Illian. The case will go to the jury this morning after arguments.

Workers in Ruhr Plant Organize for Resistance

(Continued From Page One.) mines occurred last week. The Associated Press correspondent found all the plants in the Horst, Buer, Langenbuehlem, Recklinghausen and Gelsenkirchen districts busily at work, although in some instances inquiries revealed that the loaded coal cars were climbing the steep shafts from the pits at intervals a great deal less frequently than usual.

Production Decreased. Paris, Jan. 22.—(By A. P.)—An indication of the effect Germany's "passive resistance" is having on the coal production is contained in the fact that, since the French went into the Ruhr, 11 days ago, only about one-fourth of the normal amount previously received has been taken out of that territory.

Of this amount but little has actually reached French industries, owing to transport and other delays. In order to meet reparation demands the Ruhr must produce about 30,000 tons daily, seven days a week. Already the deficit from the Ruhr has caused French business to place largely increased orders in England.

French experts see in the present situation a big advantage for England and serious difficulty for France until the French engineers can assure substantial production of Ruhr coal. Great Britain Alarmed.

London, Jan. 22.—(By A. P.)—The critical situation in the Ruhr is a subject of much comment by the morning newspapers, which regard the outlook as so dangerous it is imperative some way of relieving the deadlock be found. Fear is expressed in some quarters lest Great Britain be forced into some form of active intervention against her will.

Germany Quit Tribunal. Paris, Jan. 22.—(By A. P.)—The German government has formally ceased participation in the Franco-Prussian arbitration tribunal, because of "the present political circumstances." This notice was served today as the hearing was about to open in a banking case handled by a Franco-American legal firm.

Aged Chicago Man Saves His Life by Leaping on Pilot of Moving Train

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Captain C. H. Robinson, 80, editor of the Western Review, had a narrow escape from death yesterday as he stood on the tracks of the Illinois Central railroad near the Fifty-third street depot.

Carrying his camera and bound for the sand dunes, Captain Robinson walked out of the station onto the tracks. He stood gazing at the lake for several minutes.

"The screech of a whistle aroused me," said Captain Robinson. "I saw the train approaching. It was almost on me. I jumped up on the pilot of the locomotive and grabbed a steel flag pole. My feet were dragged along the ground for 100 yards. I am an old man and it is the nearest I have ever been to death."

"Quick thinking saved his life," said Alfred Maddox, a policeman who saw the man's escape.

Two Killed, Four Hurt by Maniac

Crazed Man Runs Amuck in Denver Rooming House—One of Injured May Die.

Denver, Jan. 22.—A man and a woman were killed, one man was probably fatally wounded and two others, one the husband of the slain woman, and a 6-year-old boy were shot, when a man believed to be deranged, ran amuck in a lower downtown rooming house late yesterday afternoon.

The slayer, said by victims of the shooting and other roomers in the house to be Louis Cavellitti, a vocational student at Fort Collins, fled, supposedly from the rear of the house. No trace of him has been found.

Mrs. Christina Nider, the slain woman, wife of Mike Nider, proprietor of the rooming house, had just finished preparing dinner for Jimmy Earillo and Silvio Picconi, residents of the rooming house, when Cavellitti is said to have entered the place. Police believe that Mrs. Nider, her daughter, Lucille, 6, Picconi and Johnny Darigal, small son of Mrs. Mary Darigal, an employe of the place, were cornered in the kitchen when the man opened fire.

Lucille was the only one in the kitchen to escape injury. Picconi, who was shot through the mouth, died at the county hospital shortly before midnight. The husband of the slain woman and Earillo were attracted by the shots and entered the room, only to be greeted with a veritable barrage as the slayer leaped over the body of Mrs. Nider and the three wounded men and fled through the hallway. Picconi was shot twice and Earillo was shot through the neck. Physicians at the county hospital hold out no hopes for the recovery of the two men.

Nider and the Darigal boy were only slightly wounded. Cavellitti, according to police, had been attentive to Mrs. Nider for some time but she had repulsed his attentions. Cavellitti has been studying agriculture at the Colorado State Agricultural college recently. His army record shows he was born in Italy. He enlisted in the army at Camp Custer and since his discharge late in 1918 has been employed in a number of large hotels throughout the east as a waiter.

Girl and Escort Slain by Madman

Bodies of Young Woman and Man Found at Scene of Mystery Murders.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 22.—As a climax to a long string of murders of Waco men and assaults on their woman companions, the bodies of W. Ed Holt, 43, and Mrs. Ethel Deneamp, 21, were found yesterday afternoon near Tehuacans bridge, six miles southeast of Waco. Holt had been shot at least twice with a shotgun, while the woman had been riddled with four bullets from a 45-caliber pistol.

Holt's body apparently had been dragged some distance along the road, a rope being found tied around his foot and his back being lacerated as if by being dragged over sharp stones. His clothes were in shreds. Officers last night were at a loss to determine the murderer, although many expressed belief that the double murder was the work of a maniac who has terrorized this section for the last six months. No less than seven murders in this county remain unsolved and in every one evidence points toward this maniac. Four attempts at similar tragedies have been thwarted by quick work of escorts of women.

Thrown Over Cliff. Among the crimes laid to the maniac, who is said to lie in wait at points known as being frequented by men and women at night, are the murder of Harrell Bolton here last May and criminal assault of his woman companion, and the more recent murder of Grady Skipworth at Lovers Leap here November 20. Skipworth's body was thrown over a 100-foot cliff and after the man had assaulted the girl, he took her to another cliff in a local park and threw her over. Only a week ago a man armed with a shotgun and a pistol, jumped in a car with a man and woman on the edge of town and after a terrific battle the man was almost overpowered, but was allowed to get out of the car and escape. A similar business section shortly after noon Saturday. The car had been riddled with bullets. It was established that the man had been missing from his home since Friday night when he had made a date with Mrs. Deneamp who was also reported missing from her home. A sister of the murdered woman told local officers that she had had a dream in which she saw her sister and Holt in an automobile accident on the bridge near where the bodies were found. Officers then searched the creek bottoms and finally a farmer named W. W. Vanzandt found the bodies Sunday afternoon.

Housewives Attention! Economist Says Man Can Be Fed for $2.50 a Week

Chicago, Jan. 22.—It costs but $2.00 now to feed a man a week—nothing fancy, but fairly substantial food—according to Miss Florence Nesbit, home economist for the United Charities and chairman of the cost of living committee of the Illinois League of Women Voters.

"In September, 1920," says Miss Nesbit in her report, "the minimum price at which one man could be fed a week was $4.10. In January it decreased to $3; in November of that year, it slid down to $2.50, and now it is $2.50."

"Rents have increased, however," sighs Miss Nesbit, "so no real saving has been affected. The increase in rents more than takes up the amount saved in the cost of food-stuffs."

Decreases in food prices this month include pork chops, oranges, raisins, roundsteak and ham, but increases are shown in butter, cabbage, onions, cheese, cornmeal, evaporated milk, macaroni, flour, coffee and sugar.

The public debt of Argentina amounts to 809,574,218 pesos, or approximately $340,000,000.

Henry (Neb.) Bank Closed by State

Conditions Resulting From Car Shortage Partly Responsible for Failure.

Lincoln, Jan. 22.—(Special.)—The Henry State bank at Henry, Neb., the last town in Nebraska on the North Platte line of the Burlington, was closed Monday and Bank Examiner G. S. Eastman is in charge. According to a report to the department of trade and commerce, the failure is partly due to conditions brought about by the car shortage. The immediate cause of the closing of the bank was exhausted credits and reserve, the department announced.

The bank was capitalized at $15,000, with a surplus of $5,000. The last report to the state bureau showed deposits of $100,000 and loans of $200,000.

Officers of the bank are: President, W. L. Walker; cashier, G. P. Holloway; vice president, C. C. Holloway.
