

THE MORNING BEE

MORNING—EVENING—SUNDAY
THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY
NELSON E. UPDIKE, Publisher. J. BREWER, Gen. Manager.

BRING OUT ALL THE FACTS.
A resolution adopted by the house at Lincoln on Thursday ought to lead to a settlement of one important point that is in dispute.

It is too large an item to be passed over lightly, and the house has requested the governor to submit proofs of his assertion.

Governor Bryan is justified in endeavoring to effect reasonable economy in the administration of state affairs.

The house resolution is on the right line. Bring out all the facts, that no doubt will linger as to whether the McKelvey budget balances, or whether it is two and a quarter millions to the bad.

DANGER IN CARELESS WORDS.
If you or any other officer ever hits me on the head in an attempt to arrest me, I'll shoot.

This statement is credited to an Omaha city commissioner, uttered in course of the hearing of a policeman on trial for abusing two men whom he arrested.

Such an expression might be expected from one not accustomed to the full exercise of self-restraint.

Quite recently a man was retired from the Omaha police force at the end of 21 years of service, who had never in all that time struck a prisoner, even with his open hand.

But Omaha will not gain anything if men are even directly encouraged to resist officers in discharge of their duty, or what seems to be their duty, by intemperate utterances on the part of any.

AUTOMOBILES AND PROGRESS.
In the current number of the Literary Digest is contained a compilation of facts and figures regarding the automobile that is of great interest.

However comforting Mr. Beales' deductions may be, it remains true that the death rate is unnecessarily high, and it does not excuse the careless or reckless driver to cite the fact that more deaths result from whooping cough than from automobile accidents.

Nebraska has the proud position, if pride may be taken in the fact, of having the lowest death rate, from this cause, her figures for 1921 being 4.4 deaths per 10,000 machines.

Another interesting discussion in the Digest has to do with the future of the automobile. Figures are cited to combat the idea that the saturation point has yet to be reached.

Ten days in jail has been awarded a driver who knocked down a pedestrian. Now, the court should see that he serves the sentence.

It is slowly dawning upon the country that what the farmer needs is not a relief, but a remedy.

COST OF CRIMINAL TRIALS.

A bill sent into the house at Lincoln on Friday opens an interesting door to debate.

In defense of the bill it is set up that the proceeding was for the benefit of all the state, and therefore the expense should be borne by the state.

Murder is something that can not be anticipated by the authorities, and no precaution can be taken against such crime.

To Boyd county it is serious, because the funds of the county are not large, and the resources are limited.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.
From all over the land arises the insistent demand for better law enforcement—and we go right ahead enacting more laws to be violated with impunity, thereby creating a greater disregard for law.

The law condemns the man or woman who steals a goose from off the common.

Growing interference with fundamental individual rights; fads and "isms" of fanatics crystallized into legislative enactment; a "be it enacted" hooked to the puritanical pretenses of people who deem themselves so pure that to them everything that is just performance be rotten—and still we wonder at the increasing menace of disrespect for laws.

IT WAS THE SENATE'S BUSY DAY.
A portion of the Friday session of the senate was devoted to clearing up the muss made during the deliberations on Thursday.

Not in a long while has a senator won this distinction. Hefin now fills a position in the greatest deliberative body in the world somewhat to that he attained when a member of the house of representatives.

Abraham Lincoln was the first of the line, but Nebraskaans have already learned that he was not the last one to "steal the hearts of the men of Israel" by making rosy promises of what he would do for them "if only he were made a judge of the land."

It is not at all difficult to set the date when relief from the tax burden will be experienced. It will be when the taxpayers fully realize that they can not eat their cake and have it.

Italian Women Real Rulers.
The homemakers of Italy are the real power behind the active workers for a greater state.

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for DECEMBER, 1922, of
THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 71,494
Sunday 78,496

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for DECEMBER, 1922, of
THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 71,494
Sunday 78,496
B. BREWER, Gen. Mgr.
ELMER S. ROOD, Cir. Mgr.

"From State and Nation"
Editorials from Other Newspapers—

Country Churches.
From HATTISON'S Home Farmer.
Something has generally gone wrong with the country churches. A few of them flourish with good congregations.

He climbed up from a buck private in the Fourth infantry to a major general's stars. He was chief of staff of the A. E. F., transferring later to the command of the famous 101st.

Golf and Business.
From the St. Paul Dispatch.
Mr. W. A. Alexander, a Chicago business man, told the members of the Western Golf association at Chicago the other day that the man who plays golf is worth at least $500 a year more to his employer than the man who does not.

A Rank Injustice.
From the Philadelphia Record.
There is something supremely contemptible about the decision of the house of representatives in depriving Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord of the retired pay always granted retiring officers because he is now president of the Radio Corporation of America.

Common Sense.
The Value of Service to Others.
What is lacking in your life? You are not satisfied, but you cannot tell wherein you fail to measure up.

Daily Prayer.
Pray and make supplication—II Chr. 1:3.
O Lord Our God, we thank Thee for Thy Fatherhood, and that Thou hast revealed Thyself unto us through Jesus Christ, Thy Son, who is our Savior.

Final Clearance Suits and Overcoats.
Suits and Overcoats Worth up to $21.75 Now—$12.95
Suits and Overcoats Worth up to $33.75 Now—$20.95

Mainly About People.
Eight popes have been named Urban, the first of them holding that position from 222 to 230.

Special Odd Parts Sale.
$3.50 and $4.00 Pants Now—$2.95
$5 and $6.50 Pants Now—$3.95

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for DECEMBER, 1922, of
THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 71,494
Sunday 78,496

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION
for DECEMBER, 1922, of
THE OMAHA BEE
Daily 71,494
Sunday 78,496
B. BREWER, Gen. Mgr.
ELMER S. ROOD, Cir. Mgr.

"The People's Voice"

Editorials from readers of The Morning Bee.
Readers of The Morning Bee are invited to use this column freely for expression on matters of public interest.

The Dope Monster.
Kankakee, Ill.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: I say, the dope monster in the United States is growing fast.

An Appreciative Reader.
Norwich, Ia.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: I could not get along without The Omaha Bee. I like to read the editorials.

How Would Sunday Do?
Arion, Ia.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: I am writing these few lines to say I enjoy the poems written by Robert W. Hinson.

No Sympathy for Dead Criminal.
Omaha.—To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: There is a lot of misplaced sympathy in this world and a host of misguided sympathizers.

Would it Be a "Son-Of-A-Bitch?"
If France issues a special currency to pay German workers it ought to go well.

The Seat of the Mighty.
As a symbol of authority there is nothing quite so distinctively American as the swivel chair.

Not Shown at the Shows

Nebraska Ideas.
When the administration wanted to go into Europe, Borah insisted that we stay out.

Extra Special for Saturday Women's Hose.
Wool, and Silk and Wool for quick clearance. 95c the Pair.

Advertisement for Fadden & Bittner, Sixteenth Street at Harney. Features 'The Pride of Possession' pianos.

Advertisement for A. Hospe Co., 1513-15 Douglas St. Features 'The Pride of Possession' pianos.

Advertisement for PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE. Features Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets and Musterole.