

Children's Home Campaign Lauded by Harry Lapidus

Fund of $40,000 Sought Should Be Readily Raised in Omaha Opinion of Philanthropist.

The campaign of the Nebraska Children's Home society for $40,000 to build a new receiving home where homeless children will be cared for until suitable parents can be found for them was heartily endorsed by Harry Lapidus, prominent in philanthropic work here.

In a letter to District Judge Charles Goss, Mr. Lapidus wrote:

"I want to assure you that it gives me great pleasure to contribute to this splendid humanitarian institution, and it seems to me that you ought to have very little difficulty in raising $40,000 in Omaha, as one of the main things that we all should be interested in is to see that the children that require a home of this kind be provided with proper facilities and environment which I am certain the Nebraska Children's Home society will provide. I hope you will go over the top with a bang."

Today was the second of the special campaign among the livestock commission men in Omaha.

The workers furnished by the Omaha Women's club and the churches are doing very good work, according to reports received by the campaign committee.

The intensive campaign will be launched February 11.

Girl Refuses to Wed Man, Jailed

Farm Hand, Accused by Girl of Being Safe Blower, Released.

After she had flatly refused to marry Frank Wilson, 22, Ogden hotel, Council Bluffs, whom she charged with being a safe blower, Margarite Wilson, 1722 1/2 Cuming street, was sent to jail for 30 days in municipal court yesterday.

Wilson was released. They are not related.

According to Detective William Gurnett, the girl told him on January 16, that Wilson brought her from Minneapolis three weeks before and that in a fit of anger he attacked her with a hammer in a room at the Esplanade hotel.

Wilson could not be found at that time, but later both were picked up by Detectives Treglia and Lickert for investigation.

Detective Gurnett testified that Wilson has been working as a farm hand and that he has been turning over his money to the girl regularly for several weeks.

Wilson asked that they both be released, to get married.

"Do you want to marry this man?" asked the judge.

"No," said Margarite.

Many More Needed to Make Women's Quota in '1,000 Club'

"The women of Omaha should make the '1,000 Club' a '2,000 Club,'" wrote Mrs. Harry L. Keen of the Hotel Keen. "The purpose of the club, that of helping homeless children, is a wonderful one. Nearly every woman in Omaha could afford to join the club by paying her $10 in installments. The Nebraska Children's Home society is doing wonderful work, that of placing homeless children in good homes where they can have the care of a mother."

Many other women think the same as Mrs. Keen. Several joined the club yesterday, but many more are needed to make the women's quota in the campaign of the Nebraska Children's Home society to raise $40,000 for a new receiving home where the homeless kiddies are kept until good homes are found for them.

"I want to join and will get 20 more women to join," wrote Mrs. F. E. Anderson. Mrs. James H. Morton wrote: "I am very glad to have an opportunity to aid in so worthy a cause."

Here are other members of the "1,000 Club": Mrs. Thomas F. Watts, North Platte, Neb.; Marian Turner, Council Bluffs; Mrs. Harry L. Keen, Hotel Keen, and Mrs. J. R. West, Hayes Center, Neb.

Ground Hog Fails to See And One Peek's Enough Noted Scientists Claim.

His Shadow in Omaha

The groundhog didn't see his shadow yesterday morning. So he didn't get scared, didn't return to his hole, and that means, as everyone should know, that Omaha won't have any more winter weather—assuming that there has been any winter weather to speak of in this great winter resort.

The groundhog does not stay out all day on February 2, looking for his shadow. No, indeed!

The best ornithologists, entomolo-gists, zoologists, congregationalists and osteopaths all agree that the wise little fellow sticks his nose out of his hole soon after dawn and then comes out and looks about for his shadow between 9 and 10.

If the shadow isn't there, then—blessed—old Winter's done for, hasn't got a chance, no matter if the sun should come out later in the day.

You see what a great thing it is to be scientific and know all about these things.

National Association Selects Omaha as 1924 Convention City.

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—Repeal of the standard rule of fixing freight rates as provided by the federal transportation act and the restoration of state jurisdiction over state rates was recommended in a resolution passed at the closing session of the American National Livestock association here yesterday.

The convention also went on record as opposing the amalgamation of all or any of the five large packing companies. It was asserted that such an amalgamation would reduce the number of buyers at each market and also reduce the number of branch houses and distributing agencies throughout the selling territories.

Omaha was unanimously selected as the place for holding the 1924 convention.

Among other resolutions adopted were drafts:

Urging that steps be taken to enlarge foreign markets for meat production.

Opposing unfair restriction on oleomargarine products.

Condemning the practice of buyers on certain markets in buying parts of livestock shipments on condition that the remainder of the shipment is sold at the same price.

Endorsing the Capper bill to provide an agricultural credit system and requesting the different states to establish uniform chattel mortgages laws.
