

14th Infantry Brigade Chief Twice Honored

Brig. Gen. Halstead Dorey Awarded Two Medals for Bravery in World War.

Brig. Gen. Halstead Dorey, United States army, who was promoted December 15, 1922, and assigned to command the 14th Infantry brigade at Fort Omaha, will arrive in Omaha next week. He will occupy the general's office at Fort Crook.

Brigadier General Dorey at present is on an inspection tour at Fort Snelling, and from there will go to Des Moines. In addition to these two posts he will command troops at Fort Crook and Fort Omaha, also the aviation unit at Fort Riley, Kan.

General Dorey was wounded several times in action in the Philippines and France, and was awarded both the distinguished service cross and the distinguished service medal. The cross was awarded him for extraordinary heroism in action north of Montfaucon, France, October 15, 1918, for going forward when painfully wounded, through a heavy enemy barrage to the front line where he reorganized his exhausted men and directed their attack for two days until he again was severely wounded. His bravery inspired his troops to the successful assault of a strongly fortified ravine and woods, which were of vital importance and resulted in the capture of numerous prisoners and much material.

The medal was awarded General Dorey for meritorious and distinguished service in commanding his regiment during the battle of the Marne, the advance from the Marne to the Oureg, and in the St. Mihiel and Argonne-Meuse offensives. It was his regiment that led the advance in the Oureg, captured Charnel, Charnele, Chatan, Villardelle, Ferme, and Rocheres. He commanded the Fourth Infantry in France.

General Dorey was formerly in the executive offices of the chief of the industry, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Dorey is the daughter of one of the Cheney brothers of New York City, one of the largest silk manufacturers in the country. The Doreys have two daughters, one of whom will accompany Mrs. Dorey to Omaha. The other daughter is in the east.

The 23rd national automobile show held in January at the Grand Central palace brought out 79 makes of cars. There were more than 400 accessory manufacturers represented. Car models numbered 350.

10-Year-Old Boy Sells Tells Judge He Knows Where "They Make It" Hooch for 14 Marbles

"You're a good detective," Judge Day commented Saturday in juvenile court when a 10-year-old Ralston boy testified to finding a bottle half full of hooch behind a stump. The lad told of selling the liquor to Emmet Brown, a schoolmate, for 14 marbles, for Emmet knew a man who would buy it from him. Both the bottle and the marbles were produced in court by the boy's teacher, who complained that he had brought the liquor to school with them.

"None of us drank any," declared Emmet. "We just smelled of it. But we know where they make it, and we've gone up there and signaled with flashlights and knocked on the door to scare them. They thought we were detectives." Emmet admitted that he had smoked for a year or two. "Do you smoke?" his companion was asked. "I did when I was little," the 10-year-old stated gravely. "He got licked for it," giggled Emmet.

The two boys wriggled apprehensively as the judge painted a picture of what happened to bootleggers and promised to run the other way if they saw any more mysterious bottles.

Gettysburg, Feb. 3.—Under a peculiar set of circumstances which arose in the local court here recently, Catherine O'Hannigan will have to obtain the consent of her intended husband before she can wed.

Miss O'Hannigan, whose parents are dead, recently became engaged to Harry O. Melhorn. Under the state law Miss O'Hannigan, who is 19, and therefore a minor, must have the consent of a guardian before she can be married.

In her petition to the court Miss O'Hannigan said she wanted to wed Melhorn and asked he be appointed her guardian. The petition was granted.
