

Senate Refuses to Shave Rivers and Harbors Item

Amendments to Reduce Appropriation in Army Bill Tabled—Agreement to Limit Debate.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The senate today aligned itself with the house in deciding to overrule the budget bureau's recommendation as to expenditures for work on rivers and harbors. By a vote of 46 to 35, the senate tabled an amendment to the annual army appropriation which would have reduced the waterways item from $55,580,000, as passed by the house, to $27,000,000, the figure set by the bureau in one case, and to $42,000,000 in another. A final effort by Senator Wadsworth, republican, New York, to cut the item to $50,000,000 was defeated, 38 to 14.

The vote on the waterways provision came after the senate had devoted practically three days to its consideration, and it was expected to clear the way for early action on the army bill itself.

To Limit Debate.
Mr. Wadsworth, who has charge of the measure on the floor, obtained an agreement for limitation of debate after Friday, to 10 minutes for each senator on any one amendment. It was thought probable that a final vote would be reached before adjournment, leaving the British debt funding question and the shipping bill as the principal unfinished business.

Senator Underwood, democrat, Alabama, who offered the motion to table amendments to the waterways appropriation, declared most of the criticism against specific items was based on no better ground than that the items were small and the commerce affected unimportant in size.

"I maintain," he said, "that the people of a small fishing village have the same right to government aid in getting their produce to market as have the people of New York. The only difference is that in the case of the village the cost might be $2,000 and in the other instance $50,000,000. I move to table these amendments so that the issue may be clear cut."

Caraway Renews Charge.
Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas, renewed his charge that "local statesmanship" was behind the opposition and declared opponents were without foresight. Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, compared the total cost of all the projects with palaces built for federal reserve banks, which he said had been approved by most senators "without batting an eye."

The majority of senators voting to approve the house figure of $56,580,000 for the river and harbor fund, defeating proposals by Senators Borah, republican, Idaho, and Lenroot, republican, Wisconsin, to reduce it to $27,000,000 and $42,000,000, respectively, were democrats, 26 voting with 20 republicans to table the reduction motions. Twenty-nine republicans were joined by six democrats in favor of reduction. On the motion of Senator Wadsworth to cut the fund to $50,000,000, eight democrats and 30 republicans lined up against 24 democrats, and 20 republicans supporting the larger appropriation.

Zoning Law Is Sought by Grand Island Clubs

Grand Island, Neb., Feb. 8.—(Special.)—Governor Bryan may be requested to introduce a special bill authorizing cities of this class, or Grand Island particularly, to establish zoning systems. The Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis club, the Rotarians and the City Improvement association are requesting the measure, owing to the sudden increase in small grocery stores that are being planted even in the best residence districts and where other property owners object without recourse. The council passed a resolution favoring a zoning law by unanimous vote, and passed an interim ordinance stopping the complained of practice in the meantime.
