

Proposal of De Valera Acceptable

Cosgrave Willing to Agree That Rebel Leader Advise Followers to Give Up Arms.

Irregulars Surrendering

London, Feb. 11.—President Cosgrave of the Dail Eireann in a statement in the Daily Mail, declared that he was ready to agree that Eamon de Valera should advise his followers to surrender their arms on the condition that the question of a republic or the free state should be left to the electors.

Rebels Surrender

Dublin, Feb. 11.—The first official report of a surrender under the government's new amnesty decree has been received from County Cork, where a number of irregulars, accompanied by their leader, delivered up their arms and ammunition at the Newmarket military barracks and entered into an undertaking not to fight against the free state government.

Prisoners Issue Appeal

Kearney Prosecutor and Deputies Conduct Raid

Kearney, Neb., Feb. 11.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff Tracy, County Attorney Drake and Deputy John Trindle searched the Walter Vohland residence, south of Gibbon, resulting in locating a still, a small bag of hashish and some mash. The still was found hidden in a hayloft. While the officers were searching the premises, according to the county attorney, one of the women on the place spilled a large container of mash on the kitchen floor and, with a broom, quickly swept it into the basement.

Bishop Would Probe Sanity of Editors for Stand on Prohibition

Cardonville, Pa., Feb. 11.—Bishop R. H. Berry of Philadelphia, senior bishop of the Methodist church, said that if he had his way a commission would be appointed and editors of metropolitan newspapers would be tried for their sanity because of their attitude toward the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Bishop Berry defended the prohibition amendment against attacks of those who declare the law is a failure and that it should be repealed because it could not be enforced.

"We have had laws against murder, arson and theft for a long time," said Bishop Berry, "but does it stop these crimes? Violation of the law does not discredit it. Rum has been a great article of commerce in this country for more than 150 years. You cannot eliminate it without a financial disaster. The nation as a whole has received untold benefits and the amendment should be imbedded in the constitution as long as there is a country."

Foreign Policy Raked at Gridiron Dinner

Washington, Feb. 11.—American foreign policy was raked over the coals in a satirical midwinter dinner of the Gridiron club of Washington newspaper correspondents. Several hundred guests, among them authors, artists and cartoonists, mingled with statesmen, diplomats and leaders of finance and industry, enjoying the fun.

A series of stunts, musical and otherwise, by the club members after braving the dangerous field of foreign entertainment, ran rough shod over national domestic affairs and irreverently dragged those who sit in high places over the hot grid.

With its usual spirit of reciprocity, however, the club gave a selected few of the guests, including President Harding, an opportunity to get even in brief speeches, but these, under the club's tradition and rule that "reporters are never present," may not be made public.

Leaders to Keep Shipping Measure Before Senate

Washington, Feb. 11.—President Harding's coalition on the collision in the senate between the administration and the opposition, the shipping and the shipping and the shipping measure, was sought by senate leaders and as a result the shipping bill will not be laid aside immediately to make way for the debt funding proposal.

Harding's Advice on Two Major Issues Sought—Expresses Opposition to Delay of Bill

Washington, Feb. 11.—President Harding's coalition on the collision in the senate between the administration and the opposition, the shipping and the shipping and the shipping measure, was sought by senate leaders and as a result the shipping bill will not be laid aside immediately to make way for the debt funding proposal.

Opposed to Delay

It is understood the president is disposed to advise against immediately dispatching the shipping bill as the senate's unfinished business, as he was said to believe that this, the business which congress was called into extra session last November, should be held before the senate and pressed vigorously.

To Meet Earlier

Monday the senate will meet an hour earlier than usual in accordance with the order for the day by the administration leaders despite objection of those fighting the shipping bill. The bill will come up at 1 o'clock under the senate rules, with a proposal pending by Senator Jones for a unanimous agreement to limit debate, beginning February 14. This is expected to fall and administration forces are planning other moves to clear the situation.

Both Make Money

—both the man who uses The Omaha Bee "Want" Ads and the man who reads them.

You will find, however, that the fellow who inserts the "Want" Ad has the greater opportunity, for he reaches so many more people who are susceptible to his proposition than if he were to answer the advertisement of other people. He saves much time, too, for people come to him with their offers instead of him being obliged to chase after them.

A well worded, convincing advertisement in the "Want" Ad section of tomorrow's Omaha Bee will put your proposition squarely before more than 300,000 readers of The Omaha Bee.

Warships Again Warned

Constantinople, Feb. 11.—Although the additional 24 hours in the Turkish ultimatum that the allies withdraw from Smyrna expired Saturday, the French and British cruisers remained in the port. Negotiations have been continuing here the entire day between the allies and Adnan Bey, the Turkish governor, but although the latter asserted that the matter could be settled by diplomacy, no solution had been reached when Adnan Bey left for his home this afternoon.

Ready for War

The official Angora Journal declares: "We are repeating that we are not impatient and until the arrival of Ismet Pasha we will prevent untoward incidents, but we are ready for war, if a just peace is not obtained."

Governor's Explanation

"I do not intend to become involved in any arguments before a committee," the governor said in explanation.

Situation Grave

It is understood, however, that the Americans are convinced that the situation is grave and the slightest responsibility on the part of Greek or allied soldiers and sailors, on land and sea, who are nervously playing their fingers over rifle triggers or are desultorily aiming their cannons, might precipitate a catastrophe which would not only increase the suffering of the millions in the near east, but would involve all Europe and possibly America.

Attitude Unprejudiced

After former Governor McKelvie presented his budgets, either the governor or the head of the department of finance always stood willing to go before the committee to explain the budgetary recommendations.

Canine Heirs to $16,000 Left by Chicago Woman Disinherited by Judge

Chicago, Feb. 11.—Four dogs, estimated heirs of $16,000, part of the estate of Mrs. Margaret Howard, were disinherited by Judge Henry Horner of the probate court, who refused to accept for probate either of two wills left by Mrs. Howard.

Several other legatees, including the Arkansas Children's Home at Little Rock, Mrs. Tillie Leighton, a sister of the dead woman, and Rev. Edward Lawton of Alliance, O., agreed to "maintain the dogs in the luxury to which they have been accustomed," pending an appeal of the ruling to the circuit court.

Under the wills, the Arkansas home was left $50,000; Rev. Mr. Lawton, $10,000; Mrs. Leighton, the sister, $500 and $16,000 for the support of the dogs. Mrs. Leighton is fighting both wills. She will inherit the entire estate if the nullifying of both wills is upheld by the higher court.
