

Bryan Urges U. S. to Call Halt on Rum Smuggling

Commoner Advocates That Government Enforce Prohibition Law Beyond 3-Mile Limit.

By GEORGE F. LUTHER.
Washington Correspondent The Omaha Bee.
Washington, Feb. 13.—(Special.)—Breaking up the swarms of rum smugglers outside the three-mile limit is advocated in a statement made public here tonight by former Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan.

The "Prince of Peace" assumes a militant attitude and urges that the authorities set about enforcing the law courageously.

"Prohibition is of no value," he said, "unless it is enforced. If we are going to enforce prohibition, we might just as well take up the work courageously and we will do it whenever those in authority resolve that the law is to be enforced, both as against those who hover about the three-mile limit and those who bring their stores of liquor into our harbors.

"What reliance," asks Mr. Bryan, "can be placed upon any nation that puts its interest in the liquor traffic above its respect for the lives of a friendly nation? Would a foreign shipowner be allowed to throw up an island at three-mile limit and open a bar there? The three-mile limit was intended for the protection of legitimate trade, not for the protection of criminals.

"It is worse than mockery for the authorities to remain inactive while this open defiance goes on every day. Suppose our nation prohibited the sale and carrying of firearms under the American flag. Would the majors of Europe be permitted to open up gun shops along our coasts and sell to smugglers? Alcohol is more of a menace than a pistol or gun in the hands of a sober man.

"It is time to quit looking for objections and begin enforcement of the law in earnest."

Commenting upon the right of the government to fix the conditions under which foreign ships shall enter American ports, Mr. Bryan says: "The right of the United States to fix the terms and conditions upon which foreign ships can enter our harbors can hardly be disputed, unless a nation loses its sovereignty when it goes dry. After a struggle of nearly 50 years the nation, in obedience to an aroused conscience, prohibited the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. This law extended not only to the land of the United States but to American ships. The United States has a right to protect its homes from the invasion of alcohol as much as it has the right to exclude the slave trade and exclude piracy.

"No nation would have attempted to force slave trade upon the United States after it was abolished. It is hardly likely that a slave ship sailing under another flag would have been permitted to come in and out of our ports with slaves aboard, even though the shipmasters were to agree that

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D. C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have if I did not get the very best of medicine for my trouble. My system was all run down for two years after my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 140 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. Ida Hewitt, 1629 Penna. Ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Make-Believe Stage Becomes Reality for Nebraska Girl

Miss Who "Played Show" at Home Appears Here on Orpheum Bill.

Once upon a time—only a few years ago, in fact—a farmer's daughter at Alvo, Neb., played before a mirror that she was an actress, before a make-believe audience and upon a make-believe stage.

"Gladya is going to be an actress," vouchsafed the mother one day at table, while the father grimly resigned himself. He wanted his daughter to be a school teacher.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Appleman of Alvo occupied seats at the Orpheum theater where they observed their little Gladya as Nita Leslie in the farcical skit, "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath."

This young Nebraska ingenue is Gladya Mann on the program and in private life she is Gladya Appleman, a Nebraska farm girl.

"There isn't much that is thrilling or romantic in my career as yet," she said Sunday afternoon as she was starting to make-up for the opening performance.

"I attended the Sacred Heart convent in Omaha," she continued. "I graduated from Nebraska university in 1918 and then I directed high school plays in Nebraska and Iowa for a year through the university extension department. In that manner I saved money and went to Los Angeles. I was lucky in obtaining an engagement as ingenue with Harry Carson Clark, who was appearing with the late Wallace Reid in "The Rotters."

She showed an autographed photograph of Mr. Reid.

After appearing on the Pacific coast with Mr. Reid and Mr. Clark, she filled an engagement with the Trahern stock company in California. This is her first season in vaudeville. Next year she expects to appear in her own vaudeville act.

"Wherever I go," she said, "I am always proud to say that I am from Nebraska."

Underground Streams May Give Nebraska Cities Power

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 12.—Millions of dollars worth of wasted energy will be harnessed and put to work in the vicinity of College View and Nebraska City if the plans of business men of those communities do not go a'gley.

Engineers employed by citizens of College View have reported that district is underlaid by swift subterranean streams of pure water. It is not impossible, the engineers said, to harness these underground currents and convert their energy into sufficient power to light every city and run every trolley car in the state.

College Youth Kills Watchman

Pair in Gun Battle on Kentucky U. Campus—Slayer Dying.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 12.—Joseph N. Self, 47-year-old night watchman at the University of Kentucky, is dead, and William H. Middleton, 19, of Paducah, Ky., a student at the university, is dying as a result of a pistol battle fought last night on the university campus. Self was found dying just before midnight. He had been shot through the body. As he died he gashed out that boys in a coupe had shot him. Tracks of an automobile in the snow fallen snow led around the university mechanical hall and back. Students who witnessed Self dying said they heard one shot, then five in quick succession. Self's pistol with five discharged cartridges lay in the snow beside him. Police worked all night trying to find the slayers. Middleton, a member of a leading western Kentucky family, was taken to a hospital by members of his college fraternity. He had two pistol wounds in his back. One bullet had passed through his liver. From a statement accredited to him, Middleton is said to have stated that when he tried to flee the watchman opened fire and then he (Middleton) fired. However, the fact that one shot came first and then five in quick succession put another face on the matter.

Normal Beet Crop Expected by Company

Scottsbluff, Neb., Feb. 12.—(Special.)—The Great Western Sugar company in a published statement following the refusal of most farmers to sign contracts for sugar beet acreage under the proposed minimum guarantee of $5.50 a ton declares that normal beet planting will result if the farmers give careful attention to the favorable factors surrounding the growth of beets, including their value in crop rotation; the certainty of a ready market for cash that they afford; that they increase the larger aggregate annual income of the farmer; that they transform more water into more cash than other crops, and that the by-products are especially useful in fattening cattle.

The company also asserts that there is a reasonable expectation that under the proposed sliding scale contract the final total payment will be higher than the guarantee.

A Quarter Century Of Service

"If a man write a better book or preach a better sermon or build a better mouse-trap Than he lives in the depths of the forest The world will beat a path to his door." —EMERSON

25 years ago a small druggist—in a small town—discovered a new way—an "external" way—to treat colds. So Vicks was born.

And for a quarter of a century, in ever increasing numbers, the world has beaten a path to its door.

Until today more than 17 million jars go out yearly to serve the people of this land.

Avoid Influenza—Grip—Pneumonia

How To Apply Vicks To Help Avoid These Infections

How To Use Vicks In Case You Are Attacked

DEEP, grippy colds—frequently leading into pneumonia—have been unusually prevalent this winter. Some authorities insist that they are a form of influenza, not so virulent as the influenza during the first epidemic, though they are worse than ordinary colds.

Most medical authorities now agree that these troubles are germ diseases—commonly spread by breathing in the germs. If the system is in good shape—the membrane of the air passages in a healthy condition—these germs do not ordinarily breed.

Keep a little Vicks rubbed up the nostrils at all times, particularly when exposed to crowds. At night melt Vicks in a spoon and inhale the vapors, or, better still, use Vicks in a teakettle as directed below. This treatment helps to keep the air passages in good condition.

The chief danger lies in the development of pneumonia. What is needed therefore is something to decrease the congestion of the lungs. For this purpose there is nothing like a rubefacient or counter-irritant, as witness the use of blisters, poultices and plasters for many generations. This irritation reddens the skin—draws the blood from the congested parts to the surface; the circulation is improved; there is a sensation of warmth and the possibility of pneumonia is greatly lessened.

A "Quick" Rubefacient Needed. The value of this counter-irritant effect is greatly increased if it is produced quickly. Nearly every family has its favorite method—onion poultices, turpentine stapes, mustard plasters and poultices of various kinds—all are good.

A very simple method is to apply towels wrung out in hot water, as hot as the patient can stand. This not only reddens the skin

VICKS VAPORUB

THE SECOND ACTION OF VICKS IS EXTERNAL—BY ABSORPTION THROUGH AND STIMULATION OF THE SKIN.

When the vapors begin to lose their strength, fresh Vicks should be applied over the throat and chest. This to keep up the continuous supply of vapors. When the redness of the skin dies out, all the Vicks remaining should be wiped off and the entire treatment repeated. That is, the hot wet towels or mustard plasters should be used until the skin is again thoroughly reddened, then massage with Vicks, spread on thickly and cover with hot flannels, just as previously done.

Steam and Vapor Method. Sometimes when the patient is badly choked up, the vapors from the application on the chest are not sufficient to make the breathing easier. In these cases drop a tablespoonful of Vicks into a kettle of boiling water and allow the patient to inhale the warm steam and vapors combined for about 10 minutes. Do this several times a day if needed. Keep the water boiling and put in additional Vicks whenever the vapors decrease. Put a sheet over the patient and the teakettle, making a kind of a tent.

Take no chances with these grippy colds. Remember, Vicks must be used freely to be effective—and always call a doctor.
