he Capper bill the section of the Lenroot bill which repeals the amendment to the federal reserve act authorizing progressive rediscount rates.

Summary of Stand.

"If I may sum up briefly the my opinion, the reasons why, in Capper bill is preferable to the Len root bill is this: The Lenroot bill attempts to create a separate and independent rediscount system for agriculture. Necessarily this secondary and in all probability, an inadequate rediscount system. It seems to mean, on the other hand, the agricultural interests can properly demand that they be give the benefit, upon sound lines, of the best and adequate rediscount system which the country can furnish, and that, in my opinion, is the federal reserve system, liberalized and ezended as proposed in the Capper bill. The Capper bill aims at strengthening and developing the existing banking structure and the federal reserve system, and rendering them more use ful and more suited to the needs of agriculture."
