

250 Nebraska Credit Men in Convention Here

Seventh Annual Conference Opens at Hotel Fontenelle; to Discuss Important Problems.

Seventh annual conference of Nebraska credit men opened at Hotel Fontenelle yesterday morning with approximately 250 persons in attendance. J. H. Tregoe of New York City, secretary and treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men, is at the conference.

"These conferences," he said, "were organized for the purpose of getting the credit managers together and giving them the privilege of discussing important subjects."

He also says that the credits of the country have become very complex; they now run into enormous figures. To handle them, requires care, skill and training and the chief aim of the conference is to develop the skill so that credits can flow freely, and at a minimum of waste.

Owing to the inflation of 1919-20, Mr. Tregoe says, the losses of the last two years have run into a very large sum, approximating $1,000,000,000.

"This depletes the nation's capital, and should be avoided in the future," he said.

He explained that the conference is to be a school. A subject is presented and the speaker is subjected to a "quiz" with a general discussion from the floor.

"Nebraska has always held a prominent place in the conference program," he declared. "The Credit Men's association of Omaha was organized some years ago, and has always played a useful part in the affairs of the national organizations."

It was anticipated at least 350 would attend the banquet last night at Hotel Fontenelle.

Douglas-Sarpy Merger Sought

Petition Requesting Change Drawn Up at Mass Meeting in Bellevue.
