

U. S. Seat in New Court Advocated

Harding Asks Senate to Approve American Membership in International Tribunal of League.

Message Big Surprise

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Conditional American membership in the international court set up by the league of nations was proposed today by President Harding.

In a message to the senate asking that it advise and consent to such a step, the president declared participation in the tribunal offered an opportunity through which the United States could demonstrate its willingness to aid in preserving world stability without in any manner assuming "any legal relation to the league."

Four reservations, the first of which would specifically disclaim any obligations under the league, were suggested by Mr. Harding as necessary conditions to membership in the court. The others would give this government a voice in selecting the judges of the court and in making changes in its basic regulations and would provide that complete and exclusive jurisdiction of the tribunal are to be paid out of the American treasury.

Message Is Surprise

Although there had been intimations in the court was favored in administration quarters, the president's message came as a complete surprise to senators generally and all indications pointed to a delay in senate action on the recommendation until the session of congress which meets in December.

Among the leaders of the "irreconcilables" of the league of nations fight in particular, there were predictions that no action would be taken until time had been given for mature reflection and debate. A special meeting of the foreign relations committee was called to meet Tuesday to take up the president's proposal, but there seemed to be no hope that final action would be possible in the four days remaining thereafter before the present congress goes out of existence.

Comment Withheld

So far as the merits of the proposal were concerned, there was a general disinclination to comment. Even the "irreconcilables" were unwilling to openly declare war on the plan, despite their private aversion to its satisfaction. The republican organization leaders, including Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the foreign relations committee, would only say that they must give the subject further study before announcing what would be done. Among the democrats who had supported the league there was a general disposition to endorse the objects sought by Mr. Harding, but they all stopped there and asked for time to think it over.

It was indicated that one factor standing in the way of an immediate expression of individual senatorial opinion was the fact that the president's message, having gone to the capital late in the day, had not yet received a careful reading, even by the leaders. It arrived at the senate chamber five minutes before the day's business was halted under a previous unanimous consent agreement and so had to be read to the senate behind the closed doors of the brief executive session held to consider nominations before the senate recessed until Monday.

Kin of Man Who Died in Hospital Sought

County hospital authorities are making a search for relatives of Charles J. Fitzpatrick, formerly an elevator operator in the Omaha National bank building, who died of pneumonia Thursday at the hospital.

The man's private life, they say, is a mystery. Maj. F. A. McCormick of the Volunteers of America stated that Fitzpatrick had been a lodger there for a month before he was taken to the hospital. Fitzpatrick was suffering with mental trouble at that time, and was unable to give an account of himself.

He said he had a sister, Mrs. Louise Sutter, in Ohio, and mentioned a family named Peterson at Twenty-ninth and Seward streets, but search for these persons has proven futile. The body is being held by F. J. Stack & Co. Unless provision is made for burial, it probably will be turned over to a medical college.

Text of Harding's Message to Senate Requesting Place in World Court

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The text of President Harding's message to the senate requesting participation in the international court established by the league of nations follows:

There has been established at The Hague permanent court of international justice for the trial and decision of international causes by judicial methods, now effective through the ratification by the signatory powers of a special protocol. It is organized and functioning.

The United States is a competent suitor in the court, through provision of the statute creating it, but that relation is not sufficient for a nation long committed to the peaceful settlement of international controversies. Indeed, our nation has a conspicuous place in the advocacy of such an agency of peace and international adjustment, and our public opinion of today is overwhelmingly in favor of our full participation and the attending obligations of maintenance and the furtherance of its prestige.

It is for this reason that I am now asking for the consent of the senate to our adhesion to the protocol.

History of Court. With this request I am sending to the senate a copy of the letter addressed to me by the secretary of state, in which he presents in detail the history of the establishment of the court, takes note of the objection to our adhesion because of the court's organization under the auspices of the league of nations and its relation thereto, and indicates how, with certain reservations, we may fully adhere and participate and remain wholly free from any legal relation to the league or assumption of obligation under the covenant of the league.

Police Arrest 15 in First Move on Gambling Dens

Woman Is Pinched With 12 Men in Raid on Apartment—Two Cigar Stores Are Visited.

Fourteen men and one woman were arrested in three raids conducted by police yesterday, as the first move in a war on gambling houses and gamblers in Omaha.

Two of the places raided were cigar stores. Where only the proprietors were arrested, the third place was the Bourgeois Bachelor apartments, 1216 Farnam street, where the proprietor, 11 players and one spectator, a woman, were arrested when the police found a dice game in progress.

The raids were the sequel to several complaints. Persons have been calling daily for more than a week, the police said, telling of gambling games and devices that were conducted in Omaha apparently without any regard for the law. None of the informants was willing to sign a complaint against any of the places where gambling was reported and, in most instances, they would not even give their names.

The raiding squad, organized shortly after noon yesterday, was composed of detectives and patrolmen who began making a round of all places where irregularities had been reported.

Find Game Going On. On reaching the Bourgeois apartments they found a large game going on in the rear of the establishment. Three tables had been pushed together to make room for the players. A "box" containing dice, change and playing cards, was at the end of the table. A sheet covered the table to deaden the sound of the "galloping dominoes."

A croupier stood at the head of the table, a "whip" in his hand, raking in all bets and crying the turn of the dice, according to the version of police.

So interested were the players in the game that they failed to notice the officers when they entered. It was not until the burly bluecoat pushed his way to the side of the table and declared all the paraphernalia confiscated and every inmate of the house under arrest that the alleged gamblers became aware.

Owner Leads Others. G. A. Fagerburg acknowledged he was proprietor of the establishment and led the way to the waiting police patrol. Eleven players and one woman, who said she had entered the place in search of something to eat, followed him.

At the police station they were all booked on charges of being inmates of a disorderly house, except Fagerburg, who was charged with keeping a disorderly house.

Cigar Men Arrested.

John Yaver was arrested at his cigar store, 250 S. Sherman avenue, when police found a gambling device in operation. He was charged with being the proprietor of a disorderly house.

At another cigar store, 594 South Sixteenth street, R. A. Jones was arrested as keeper of a disorderly house when a gambling device was found in the backroom of his establishment.

Lincoln Man Kills Self at Home of Father in Elk Creek

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 24.—(Special)—Arthur Schultz, 29, of Lincoln committed suicide at the home of his father, E. E. Schultz, in Elk Creek by shooting himself. Relatives give domestic trouble as the cause, saying Schultz's wife left him. She was formerly Lulu Edden of the Falls City schools. Several minutes' talk about the sudden revolution in her scheme of life, made a "test case" of the mandate, but they were immediately convinced when their portable boudoirs were taken from them—right before the eyes of their classmates, too.

Monday Set for Death of Bill of Fight Expected to Come on Motion of Senator Ladd to Take Up Filled Milk Measure.

Friends Concede Defeat

Washington, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Proponents of the administration shipping bill demonstrated their superior strength in the senate but their efforts only served to pave the way for the death of the legislation on Monday.

Those supporting the measure, although openly conceding it to be doomed, defeated the opponents on two roll calls by the identical vote of 46 to 38. One vote was on a motion by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the acting democratic leader. The second was on the motion to proceed with the bill, which motion was made Wednesday night after the measure had been laid aside to permit action on two conference reports.

Thus the shipping bill was temporarily revived but Senator Robinson immediately presented a motion to send the bill back to the commerce committee and to its death. This motion was by agreement left pending when the senate adjourned for the day and will come to a vote soon after 1 Monday afternoon.

End to Come Monday

Supporters of the bill expect to defeat this motion. The end of the legislation for this congress and other similar shipping legislation for at least two or more years then will come on a motion expected to be made by Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, to lay aside the bill and take up the filled milk bill.

Omaha Motor Show to Open Monday at 2

"Smallest and Best" Boast of Backers—Auditorium All Dolled Up for Occasion.

Omaha's 15th annual motor show will open its doors at the Auditorium at 2 Monday afternoon boasting that it's the smallest of all.

Twenty-seven passenger exhibits including 35 cars, and six truck displays will be spread through the embellished space of the big building forming a mechanical symposium of the realized dreams of America's greatest automotive engineers and designers.

"The smallest show, but the best," was the forecast of A. B. Waugh, show manager and commissioner of the Omaha Automobile Trade association, under the auspices of which it will be held. "The speculative era of motordom has passed, depression has eliminated the weak and confirmed the strong, and standard cars have come out in more glorious perfection."

Priced on Low Level. Waugh declared prices would be found to reach a level even lower than prewar figures when compared on a basis of dollar for dollar.

Fourteen hundred dealers attended last year's show. Improved business conditions are said to promise a greater number for the 1923 exhibit. The contracts they usually place involve the sale of thousands of cars. "On a basis of dealer attendance," Waugh declared, "it will be the biggest motor show of the middle-west."

Accessories will have a prominent part in the show, many booths lining the Auditorium stage.

Place Finishing Touches. A score of laborers worked feverishly all night putting the building in readiness for the show.

Show hours will be 2 to 10:30 tomorrow and 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. every other day until the close of the event the night of March 3.

Georgians decorations in orange and white have completely altered the appearance of the Auditorium. Two orchestras will furnish music every day.

Seven hundred dealers are expected to attend a dinner at Hotel Fontaine Wednesday night. Mayor Dahlman will welcome them and J. R. McCain, Jr., vice president of Peters National bank, will speak. Elaborate entertainment has been planned.

The Joneses Look 'Em Over

Banking Measure Passed by House

Three Democratic Floor Leaders Vote for Bill Opposed by Governor.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 24.—(Special)—Democrats and republicans joined in the lower house today and passed the bill, which the Nebraska State Bankers' association by a vote of 13 to 4. This is the bill that J. J. Hall of Lincoln, the governor's personal banker, declared the governor would veto if it passed the house and the senate.

It was considered significant that three democratic floor leaders, Osterman, Ogara and Hegan, voted in favor of the bill.

The measure calls for the appointment of a commission by the banking committee to investigate weak banks and suggest to the state banking department changes in personnel of officers of such banks and recommend advancement of money from the state guaranty fund to strengthen shaky institutions and keep them away from failure and a costly receivership.

The bill now goes to the senate and probably will be referred to the senate banking committee.

A similar bill has been in the senate banking committee for weeks and has been the subject of much debate. It is probably that the senate banking bill will be abandoned and action will be taken on the house bill by the committee.

The four votes against the bill were cast by Axtell, Broome, Davis of Fillmore and Wells.

Riata, barber, banker and financier, whose financial methods investigators have declared resulted in shortages in the accounts of three eastern concerns totaling $519,000, still was sought today, Samuel Lombardo, an associate of the missing man, was reported in Chicago.

Lombardo, vice president of the Niagara Insurance company of Buffalo, N. Y., one of the concerns said to be short in its accounts, refused to talk when found last night by newspaper men.

Nebraska's Best-Known Newspaper to Publish Works of Native Writers

Nebraska's best-known newspaper, The Omaha Bee, is helping Nebraskans to recognize the literary genius in their midst, by publishing the works of two of the foremost writers, both Nebraskans, in their respective fields today.

They are John G. Nehardt, Nebraska's poet laureate, one of whose poems appears daily on the editorial page, and Willa Cather, novelist, whose latest novel, "One of Ours" will begin next Friday in The Omaha Morning Post.

Miss Cather, who was born near Red Cloud, Neb., and who spent her girlhood in the vicinity, has achieved international fame as a writer. She is placed by many critics as the foremost living American woman novelist.

Day's Activities in Washington

The administration leaders finally abandoned hope of passing the shipping bill and agreed in the senate to a vote to dispose of it early next week.

The house banking committee completed a composite farm credits bill, embracing the principal features of the Lenroot-Anderson, Capper and Strong measures.

A special senate committee recommended unanimously that there be an investigation of the veterans' bureau by a joint committee during the recess of congress.

President Harding asked the senate to authorize American membership in the permanent court of international justice organized under the auspices of the league of nations.

Five divisional prohibition chiefs were transferred to new berths by Commissioner Haynes in a readjustment of enforcement personnel affecting widely separated sections of the country.

Bryan Asks Aid in Council Plan

3,000-Word Statement Calls on Nebraskans to Support Proposed Government Change.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 24.—(Special)—Gov. Charles W. Bryan today issued a 3,000-word statement calling on the people of Nebraska to support his executive council plan of government and to write members of the legislature and the governor himself urging adoption of the plan.

The governor, in his statement, made it plain that he would not compromise in any way with a modification of the civil administration code of government now in force at the state house at Lincoln.

The plan asserted that under his plan taxes would be reduced $9,000,000. In arriving at this figure, he takes the total amount of appropriations asked of the legislature two years ago and fails to take into consideration that these requests were trimmed millions of dollars by the last administration.

Members of the legislature declared this statement by the governor was a desperate attempt to rally support to his plan, but they expressed the sentiment that the people will learn that his plan does not entail a $9,000,000 reduction as he claims and that it does spread responsibility for official acts on the six constitutional officers instead of the governor, ruins the present budget system and at the same time gives the governor the sole appointive power.

Wife of Noted Baritone Obtains Divorce Decree

Renov, Nev., Feb. 24.—Ruby Thomas, wife of John Charles Thomas, noted American baritone, obtained a divorce in the district court here late Friday. Cruelty was charged in the complaint. Thomas was temperamental, Mrs. Thomas testified, and on one occasion he bit her until the blood ran from her shoulder, she said. On another occasion Thomas did not like the gown she wore at the breakfast table and in the presence of a male guest, he is alleged to have torn the garment from her body. The couple were married in Baltimore in 1912.

Daring Robbery Staged in Elevator of Chicago Building—Throw Operator Out of Car.

Other Thefts $35,000

Chicago, Feb. 24.—Henry Hart, a New York jewelry salesman, was robbed of unset diamonds which he valued at $100,000 by two armed men in an elevator in a downtown building today. Hart said his concern has offices at 87 Nassau street, New York. The robbers escaped.

The robbers threw Eugene Winsby, the elevator operator, from the cage at the sixth floor, he told the police, and with Hart a prisoner mounted several floors higher in the building at 139 North State street. They stopped the elevator and menacing him with their revolvers took his satchel of diamonds. Hart said and left him on an upper floor.

When Winsby reached the street the robbers had descended in the elevator and escaped.

Into Elevator. "The bandits followed me into the elevator," Hart said. "I was about to get out at the sixth floor when one of the men grabbed me. 'We want you,' one of them said and then forced the elevator operator out of the car, ran a few floors higher and then took my satchel of jewels. Then they put me out of the elevator and descended."

Several persons in the lobby saw the bandits escape. $25,000 Loot in Ohio. Cambridge, O., Feb. 24.—A lone bandit this afternoon held up and robbed Harry Moss and John Lansing of between $20,000 and $25,000 of payroll money belonging to the Akron Coal company. The bandit escaped after shooting Moss in the left shoulder.

The money was being transported in an automobile along a lonely road to Kings mines, about 12 miles east of here, when Moss and Lansing were stopped by the bandit. Moss was shot when he resisted. Mine officials and a sheriff's posse are searching for the bandit.

Three months ago Ellis Hendrick, father of Thomas, was found dead in the same house.

Anti-Saloon League Seeks to Strengthen Dry Laws

Denial that the Anti-Saloon League of Nebraska is opposed to further enactment of dry legislation, was made yesterday by F. A. High, state superintendent, with headquarters at Lincoln, Neb.

"I understand this impression has gone out," he said. "I wish to say that it is absolutely wrong. The league is very much interested in measures that have been introduced at the present session of the legislature which will strengthen our present dry laws."

"We are especially interested in the passage of the bill which has been introduced amending the Sackett law in accordance with the suggestion of Governor Bryan in his message to the legislature. Every man and woman in the state who believes in enforcement of law should give that amendment his hearty support."
