

House Medical Bills Are Placed on General File

Provision of Dyball Measure Meets Opposition of Senate Committee—Three Bills Are Passed.

Lincoln, Feb. 27.—(Special)—The two so-called Christian Science bills, H. R. 17 and H. R. 29, were placed on general file in the senate today. The first by Representative Dyball of Omaha prevents discriminatory employment of special physicians in eleemosynary and charitable institutions supported in whole or in part by public funds and allows treatment on request by physicians of any school or system of healing, if duly licensed by the state.

The bill also provides that no child shall be exempt from the quarantine laws nor from examination for infectious disease. The bill provides that no child shall be compelled to submit to medical or surgical treatment when the parents object, and that no official or agent of the schools shall have authority to enter the homes, over their objections, to take charge of the home.

In the senate medical committee, opposition centered on the last provision, it being claimed that this was for the sole purpose of curtailing the authority of the trustee officer in schools.

R. 219, by Reynolds and Axtell, was also placed on general file. It provides for the issuance of "intersections" paving bonds and warrants in constructing improvements, adjacent to the United States property, and that the work be paid by general assessment of the city.

Three bills were passed in the senate on third reading. They are: S. F. 92, by Hastings—The marriage bill, providing for a 10-day posted notice before securing license, and preventing marriage of persons afflicted with venereal disease, feeble-minded and epileptic.

H. R. 192, by Osterman and Donnelly—Provides for issuance of sewer bonds in cities of the second class.

H. R. 156—Provides $2 per day for coroner's juryman.

A joint resolution was introduced in the senate memorializing congress to enact uniform marriage and divorce laws. Under the rules it went over for a day.

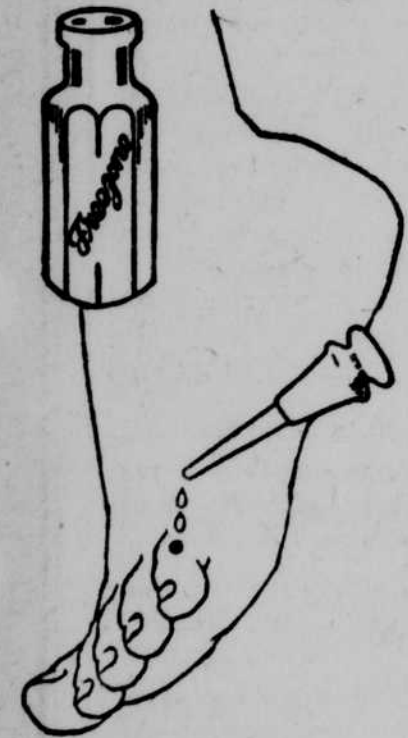

School to Be Held Here for "Rookie" Postmasters

CORNS

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. "Wru!" Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Duck Pond Bill Advanced in House

Claim Made Poor Denied Use of Lakes to Hunt by Wealthy.

Lincoln, Feb. 27.—(Special)—A bill appropriating $50,000 for purposes of sinking wells and transforming sand hill swamps into duck lakes was advanced today in the house today following a short struggle.

Lamb of Tecumseh, the principal opponent, asserted the only way to save money was to quit spending, no matter whether the money spent was raised by fees or by taxes.

Hughes of Sarpy asserted that at present there was approximately $250,000 in the state treasury derived from collection of hunting and fishing licenses, all as a result of the building of the fish and game department in the last four years into one of the most effective, money-making divisions of the state government.

"The fact is that the wealthy men from the cities are gobbling up all the duck lakes in the state and in a few years there won't be any place where a person not a member of a club or a friend of a wealthy man can hunt unless the state makes more lakes and takes charge of them," Hughes said.

"I think the hunters, who in recent years have had changes of heart and now seek a game warden to purchase a license instead of dodging these purchases, should receive the benefit of some of their own money. Licenses collected from automobilists go into roads; why shouldn't money collected from hunters go into duck lakes and for building up of hunting in Nebraska?"

After disposing of this proposition, the lower house jumped into a solution of a problem as to how long a fish should be before it could be taken from a river and carried up the village street to excite admiration and envy of friends.

The law as it stood today made it impossible for a person with a deep regard for law to keep a fish out of water unless it was 11 inches long. An amendment has been proposed to cut the size of the fish to nine inches.

Omahan In Prison on Robbery Charge Held to Be False

Freedom Likely to Be Granted Molendres on Ground He Was Unjustly Accused and Convicted.

Lincoln, Feb. 27.—(Special)—Jesse Molendres, young Mexican laborer of Omaha, told the state pardon board Tuesday that he had served more than 10 months of a three-year sentence for a highway robbery which never took place on complaint of a man who was never robbed and who later turned out to be a thief himself. Molendres is asking for a pardon and it is almost certain that his freedom will be granted on the strength of his showing.

Although not present at the hearing, Judge Fitzgerald, the trial judge who sentenced the young Mexican, has been active in bringing the case to the attention of the pardon board. The term of court in which Molendres was convicted having terminated, the judge could not pardon the accused or reverse the jury finding.

Alibi Discredited by Jury

Molendres established an alibi which the jury failed to credit, but it later developed, the board was told, that the complaining witness was never robbed but lost his money gambling and had made up the holdup story. Omaha officers informed the board that the complainant later robbed his roommate and escaped. Molendres has served his 10 months in the Douglas county jail and his jailer and the sheriff urged that he be unconditionally pardoned.

The board considered the applications of two men from Scottsbluff county who had spent only a part of their time in jail because of overcrowded conditions. They had been permitted to work outside for wages and slept in outside quarters. The applicants were Albia A. Byrd, serving one to seven years for stealing several sets of harness and Hans P. Rathman, serving one to 10 years for automobile stealing.

Biggs Case Deferred

The board was asked to take up the case of Manfred E. Biggs, whose sentence for embezzlement was cut to two years because he helped prevent a wholesale jail delivery in Douglas county some time ago. His case had not been advertised, however, and the board refused to act contrary to a rule established by the old board that a case could not be considered a second time within less than six months of the first hearing.

Other cases heard by the board Tuesday were: Walter Chapman, Douglas, convicted of cashing forged checks. Gilbert Foster, Douglas, 1 to 10 years for stealing $1,500 worth of clothing from the Berg Clothing company of Omaha.

August Soucek, held in the Valley county jail, on a sentence of two months and $1,000 fine for violation of liquor law.

High Court Upholds Cut in Bank Stock Assessment

Lincoln, Feb. 27.—(Special)—Tax assessments on capital stock, surplus and undivided profits of state and national banks, loan, trust and investment companies in Nebraska can be assessed only one-fourth of the assessment of tangible property under a ruling by the state supreme court. The effect of this decision is to cut taxes collected from banks in the state $750,000 this year.

W. H. Osborne, state tax commissioner, held that such stocks were tangibles and should be taxed as such. The State Bank of Omaha obtained a temporary injunction to avoid payment of the full assessment on its stock, and the litigation which followed resulted in today's decision.

Supreme Court Affirms Royal Highlander Fines

Lincoln, Feb. 27.—(Special)—The Nebraska supreme court today affirmed the fines of $500 imposed on W. E. Sharp and F. J. Sharp, officials of the Royal Highlanders, who were declared guilty of contempt of court by the district court of Lancaster county.

The case grew out of litigation involving an increase in Highlander rates ordered at a meeting of the executive committee in 1919. At a regular meeting in 1921, the new scale of rates was put into effect and the court held them to be legal. The action against the Sharps followed a suit instituted by William Widener objecting to collection of the higher scale before the regular meeting of the governing body.
