

Amendments to Guaranty Fund Bill Agreed on

Compromise Is Drawn to Break Impending Deadlock When Measure Comes to Vote in Senate.

Lincoln, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Important amendments to S. F. 105, the bill to recognize the depositors' guaranty fund system, were worked out at an executive meeting of the senate banking committee. The measure, as it now stands, is considered a compromise, drawn to break the impending deadlock. The committee will consider these changes over the weekend.

The proposed amendment provides for a bankers' advisory commission to consist of seven members, one for each bankers' association group, to be elected by the bankers. The commission is to "advise" the governor and banking department and recommend needed changes to the legislature. The much objected to "smelling committee" feature is thus eliminated. One of the commission may be appointed a special examiner to examine a specific bank.

Except taxes, depositors and holders of exchange will have priority over all claims against a failed bank, and will be paid immediately out of cash on hand. If the cash is insufficient, the court in which the receivership is pending will order a draft on the guaranty fund. The court may, on the other hand, authorize the receiver to issue and sell receivers' certificates to pay depositors whose deposit is subject to immediate check. The court fixes the interest rate of the receivers' certificates and they are a first lien on the assets of the bank. Under the proposed change, receivers would be done away with. This is done through notice and a hearing in court, brought by the banking department. If the court orders the bank's assets sold, the department may bid in the assets, using guaranty fund money, and administer them for the benefit of the fund. This liquidation will be done by a state bank examiner.

The assessment for the guaranty fund is to remain at 1 per cent of average deposits, during 1921 and then be cut to 1-2 per cent. The committee members said, was to encourage a number of strong state banks to remain in the system instead of nationalizing.

Medical Measure Killed by Senate

Bill Relating to Practice in State Institutions Indefinitely Postponed.

Lincoln, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The senate indefinitely postponed H. R. 17, by Dyball, which provided that patients in charitable and state supported institutions might be treated by a physician of any school or system. The bill was killed after an amendment had been tacked on making the treatments "subject to the rules of the institution."

By a vote of 17 to 13, the upper chamber advanced to third reading, H. R. 39 by Davis of Cass, which provides that no school children can be examined over the protest of their parents, except for contagious or infectious disease, by other than the teacher.

The following bills were advanced to third reading:

S. F. 278 by Warner fixes date of fire prevention day as November 9.

S. F. 306 by Warner, as amended applied to rural, village and smaller city school districts, which must submit plans of all new buildings to state superintendent and state engineer, who will check them over and return to the board in 10 days. The board is not required to follow the state officials' recommendations.

H. R. 219 by Reynolds and Axtell. Provides for the issuance of paving intersection bonds and warrants to pave intersections and one-half of streets adjacent to United States property, for which the entire city shall be assessed.

H. R. 31 by Gould, amended to provide that construction of sewer systems in villages and cities of the second class may be prevented on petition of a majority of owners of property affected.

The upper branch adjourned until 2 Monday.

House Will Vote on Farm Credits Measure Today

Bill Taken Up Under Special Rule Limiting Debate—Eastern Representatives Lead Opposition.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Farm credit legislation was put well on its way to passage in the house tonight, but a final vote was deferred until Thursday because of the absence of a number of members. After the house acts, the bill will be sent to conference for adjustment of differences with the senate.

The measure, a combination of the Capper, Lenroot-Anderson and Strong bills, was called up under a special rule limiting general debate to four hours and at a right session. It was considered section by section, by amendment, under a rule limiting discussion on each amendment to five minutes for each speaker.

Chief opposition was voiced by representatives from eastern states, with members of the west and south giving almost solid support. Representative Luce, republican, Massachusetts, was in charge of opposing forces, while leading the supporters in the debate were Chairman McFadden of the banking committee which reported the bill; Representative Wingo of Arkansas, ranking democrat on that committee, and Representatives Anderson of Minnesota and Tincher of Kansas, republican.

Debt Pact Praised by Ambassador Harvey

(Continued From Page One.) I am confident, will deny that the outcome was worth the money and probably—Got pity, us all—the lives. Another misapprehension regarding the United States, he wished to remove—"it has been said that we singled out and dunned Great Britain. We did neither one nor the other. The expiration of the three years during which we had agreed to bear the entire burden was approaching, and on the same day our government gave notice to all our debtors to that effect, which was merely the customary preliminary to payment, or the negotiation of terms. One or two appeared and talked about the weather; Great Britain arrived and talked business. The outcome was the completed settlement of this greatest financial transaction in less than a month."

Income Tax Bill Is Given Favorable Vote

Lincoln, Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The Osterman income tax bill has been given a favorable recommendation in standing committee.

This measure forces persons to make sworn affidavits to their county clerks of the income tax statement given to the federal government. The persons making these affidavits must pay to the state the same amount paid to the federal government, minus the total of all other taxes paid.

The Jacoby bill, which has been advanced to third reading and was referred back to committee, deals with corporation incomes and not with incomes of individuals.
