

Fishermen Drift for Week in Boat During Blizzard

Men Lose Way When Compass Goes Wrong—Three Days Without Water—Rescued by Schooner.

New York, March 13.—The two Freeport, L. I., fishermen who disappeared a week ago last Sunday, returned Monday with an epic of the sea. Caught in a snow storm that isolated their little motor boat 20 miles to sea from Freeport, their compass went wrong and they began a drift that ended Saturday night when a schooner from Nassau picked them up, 45 miles southeast of Amherst.

Smith said he and Matthews went fishing. They started back when something went wrong with their compass and they found themselves heading out to sea. Soon they realized they were lost. Then they stopped their motor and let the boat drift. It drifted until Friday afternoon throughout a great blizzard.

The only provisions they had were some raw potatoes, a gallon of drinking water and a pie. For three days before they were picked up they had no food nor water. Matthews drank sea water and became delirious.

While in this condition he tried to persuade Smith to split a bottle of iodine in a suicide pact. At least one ship passed every day, Smith said, but always too far away to hail until the schooner passed Friday afternoon.

The boat began to leak badly before the men were picked up and they took the lifelines out of their overcoats to caulk the seams.

Man Offered $85,000 for Gasoline Saver

Columbus, Neb., March 13.—(Special.)—Joseph Savage, 26, Union Pacific roundhouse boiler washer, has been offered $85,000 by the New York Industrial Promotion company for his recently patented invention, which consists of an attachment for automobile, gas tanks, eliminating the carburetor and increasing the mileage on a given gasoline consumption from 200 to 500 per cent depending on the make of car.

Working out his idea in his little shop at home during the odd hours when he was not busy at the roundhouse, Mr. Savage after two years of experimentation completed the apparatus and attached it to his automobile where the first trial proved a success.

The invention is attached to the gasoline tank of the car. The suction made by the engine draws the air through the gasoline, evaporating it, and creating a vapor. This vapor then combines with air in equal proportions sufficient to create the necessary explosion.

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange

Olaf Jensen came in from St. Edward yesterday with a load of choice Poland-China and Duroc hogs which sold at the top price of the day, $7.90 a hundred. There were 65 head in the shipment and they averaged 314 pounds.

Stanton was represented on the local livestock market by Arthur Vogel, a young farmer and feeder, who brought in 20 head of heavy steers that averaged 1361 pounds, for which he received $8.60 a hundred.

"I had those steers on feed about six months and they made a satisfactory gain," said Mr. Vogel. "I fed them on a ration of shelled corn and alfalfa, which I like better than any other ration I have used."

Glenn D. Laird came down from Worland, Wyo., bringing with him four carloads of steers that had been fattened on beet pulp and hay, and they were sold at feeders for $7.80 a hundred, the shipment averaging 984 pounds.

Mr. Laird said feeding operations in his section had been quite extensive this season, there being about 3,500 head of cattle as well as a large number of sheep, but most of the cattle have been sent to market, leaving a few yearlings.

Two loads of Shorthorn yearlings were brought to market by William Helwig of Fort Crook. The shipment averaged 356 pounds and sold for $5.85 a hundred. They were bought here last September at $6.50 a hundred when they averaged 587 pounds. In the shipment were also 13 head of Shorthorn heifers averaging 789 pounds, that sold for $6.75 a hundred.

Valentino Fears '13' 'Legal' Marriage Set for Tomorrow Postpones Wedding

Chicago, March 13.—The unlucky date caused Rodolph Valentino and his second wife, Winifred Hudnut, to postpone their second or "legal" marriage today until tomorrow, it was announced. They are preparing to leave Friday on a dancing and musical tour of the south.

Plans have been made for a quiet ceremony tomorrow at the hotel where the motion picture actor and his bride are guests. Judge M. L. McKinley, chief justice of the Cook county criminal court, is expected to perform the ceremony.

The second ceremony is to be held to eliminate any conflict with the law of California, where Valentino and his first wife, Jean Acker, were divorced a year ago. The interlocutory decree became effective yesterday, but Valentino and Miss Hudnut were previously married in Mexico.

Opening of the dancing tour in Omaha Saturday was announced by Jack Curley, New York promoter.

Butler and Dunn May Swap Jobs as Commissioners

Mayor Dahlman to Present Resolution to Council Seeking Transfer—"Frame-up," Says Butler.

City Commissioner D. B. Butler, in charge of the department of accounts and finance, states that he believes Mayor Dahlman is serious in the proposition of transferring him to the commissionership of police.

"I guess it's all framed up," said Butler. "But I want to state that if they give me the police department and then try to jam me, there will be recall petitions circulated by friends of mine who already have expressed themselves."

"Only on a few occasions, and then for good reasons, have I failed to support Police Commissioner Dunn in the council meetings. I know, for one thing, that while I have been commissioner I have not taken orders from the outside."

Clairvoyant Accused of Fraud Disappears

Beatrice, Neb., March 13.—(Special Telegram.)—Officers are looking for Professor Anderson, clairvoyant, who recently disappeared from the city with about $2,000, it is alleged, before he was arrested.

D. E. Crom, a retired farmer, reported to Chief of Police White that he lost $800 through his dealings with the clairvoyant. He says the money was in a package in a vault and that when the clairvoyant visited the vault in company with Crom, he did a slight of hand stunt, taking the package containing the money and leaving a package containing some blank papers. Two other men, it is said, lost $200 to $700, respectively.

Anderson came here recently and established an office at 412 Court street. Crom says he became acquainted with him when he took him to his home to see his sick wife.

Killing Result of Feud, Claim

Father Tearfully Describes Death of Son at Trial of City Fireman.

Eugene O'Sullivan, counsel for Chris Hald, city fireman accused of fatally stabbing Roy Ward with a revolver through the eye into the brain a year ago, hopes to convince a jury that the tragedy was the result of a year's feud between several families living in "West Bedford hills."

These hills and feuds, O'Sullivan said, are similar to those in Kentucky.

James Ward, father of Roy, on the stand in District Judge Redick's courtroom, pointed his finger at Hald as the man who had slain his boy.

"I observed that Hald was walking toward the crowd with his hand on his revolver,"

Tears rolled down Ward's cheeks as he further related his story of the death of his boy.

Hald's three sons took the witness stand and told how Roy had engaged in a fight with their family.

O'Sullivan stated he would have a number of witnesses, among whom will be officials of the fire department, to testify in regard to Hald's peaceable reputation.
