Canada House of Commons Upholds Taboo on Titles

Ottawa, March 20.—The taboo on titles in Canada was upheld by the house of commons last night.

By a vote of 121 to 14 the members defeated a resolution which would have permitted the granting of decorations (except those carrying titles) for "distinguished service or high attainments in education, literature, art and science." An amendment, which also was defeated without a record vote, would have permitted the granting of titles as well as the decorations.

Hoover Declares Progress Lies in Individual Action

Secretary Says Advance of Civilization Is Impeded Unless Inspired by Spirit—Asserts Individualism, Insisting on "Divine" in Each Human Being, Finds Greatest Expression in Service.

By HERBERT HOOVER, Secretary of Commerce.

(Editor's Note—This is the third installment of a series of six by Mr. Hoover on "American Individualism" which appear daily in The Omaha Morning Bee. The following article deals with "Spiritual Phases" of Mr. Hoover's Individualism.)

Our social and economic system cannot march toward better days unless it is inspired by things of the spirit. It is here that the higher purposes of individualism must find their sustenance. Men do not live by bread alone. Nor is individualism merely a stimulus to production and the road to liberty; it alone admits the universal divine inspiration of every human soul. I may repeat that the divine spark does not lie in agreements, in organizations, in institutions, in masses or in groups. Spiritually with its faith, its hope, its charity, can be increased by each individual's own effort. And in proportion as individuals increase their own store of spirituality, in that proportion increases the idealism of democracy.

Divine Spark in All.

For centuries, the human race believed that divine inspiration rested in a few. The result was blind faith in religious hierarchies, the divine right of kings. The world has been disillusioned of this belief that divinity rests in any special group or class whether it be through a creed, a tyranny of kings or of proletariat. Our individualism insists upon the divine in each human being. It rests upon the firm faith that the divine spark can be awakened in every heart. It was the refusal to compromise these things that led to the migration of those religious groups who so diversely composed our forefathers. Our diversified religious faiths are the apotheosis of individualism.

The vast multiplication of voluntary organizations for altruistic purposes are themselves proof of the ferment of spirituality, service, and mutual responsibility. These associations for advancement of public welfare, improvement, morals, charity, public opinion, health, the clubs and societies for recreation and intellectual advancement, represent something moving at a far greater depth than "joining." They represent the widespread aspiration for mutual advancement, self-expression, and neighborly helpfulness.

Pride Found in Service.

Moreover, today when we rehearse our own individual memories of success, we find that one gives us such comfort as memory of service given. Do we not refer to our veterans as

Feature Transactions of Livestock Exchange

Two loads of cattle were brought to the local market Tuesday by J. W. Dyson of Lyons. The load of heaviest steers averaged 1,105 pounds and sold for an even $9 a hundred while the other load was a mixed one made up of steers and heifers and averaged about 900 pounds. They were sold for $8.35 a hundred.

"There was about six inches of snow fell around Lyons," said Mr. Dyson, "but it drifted considerably in places, causing trouble in driving cattle around the occasional big piles. Many of the feed lots are filled with snow which will make them muddy. This will cause a lot of farmers to market their stock earlier than they had intended."

The day's top price, of $9.35 a hundred, was received at the local yards by Herman Schweers, who brought in a load of nicely finished steers of the Hereford breed that averaged 1,231 pounds. There were 20 head in the shipment.

"It has been a fine winter for feeding," said Mr. Schweers. "My own cattle made large gains in weight on a ration of shelled corn and alfalfa. The storms of last week were not so heavy as near Omaha, but they interfered with shipping livestock and it took me two days before I could get cars for my cattle."

Much Air Carried in All Ice Cream

Necessary to Force Frozen Delight to Stiffen, Maker Reveals in Talk.

Ice cream manufacturers do not sell the blue sky, but they sell air. Every gallon of ice cream is 50 per cent air, according to John Collins, speaking to his fellow members of the Triangle club at Hotel Fontenelle.

Mr. Collins is the ice cream member of the club and he told the members of the inner workings of the business.

"In making ice cream it is necessary to mix air with the ingredients so that the cream will stand up as it should," Mr. Collins said. "One gallon of the mixture will make two gallons of ice cream when the process is completed."

Mr. Collins explained that during the season when cream is plentiful this product is put through a process and stored for the season when cream production is low. For storage purposes, he said, the cream is neutralized with lime water and when used it is restored to its original state. He stated that he believes the Nebraska law, requiring 14 per cent butter fat in ice cream is a reasonable regulation. The relative content of ice cream has a high food value, he said.
