Declares Tanlac Ended Indigestion, Nervousness and Weakness and She Gained 15 Lbs.

"I have actually gained fifteen pounds by taking Tanlac and am so healthy and happy that taking the medicine is second nature with me now."

"My appetite was so poor that meal time held no pleasure for me, and if I ate a little something I paid the penalty in suffering from indigestion, heartburn and palpitation something awful, and my nerves were so shattered the least noise startled me. Headaches, dizziness and backaches made me all the more miserable and I felt so weak and depressed I thought I would suffer a complete breakdown."

"After my troubles had the upper hand for a year's time I ran across Tanlac, and the treatment gave me the very relief I had been seeking. It ended all my suffering, restored my strength and energy, and I am just so thankful I am glad to join everybody else in praising Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 25,000,000 bottles sold—Advertisement.

HEAD STUFFED BY CATARRH? USE A HEALING CREAM

If your nostrils are clogged, your throat distressed, or your head is stuffed by nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure antiseptic, germ destroying cream into your nostrils.

How good it feels. Your nostrils are open. Your head is clear. No more hawking, snuffling, dryness or struggling for breath. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from any druggist. Colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed up. Relief is sure.

CORNS Lift Off with Fingers

"Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little 'Freezone' on an itching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of 'Freezone' for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Death by Shooting Held Accidental

His Fiancee Chief Mourner at Masonic Funeral for Ahe Bernard Lee.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Masonic temple for Ahe Bernard Lee, 35, manager of the General Tire and Rubber company here at Lincoln, Neb., who shot himself to death accidentally in the bathroom of the H. W. Kellogg home, 1051 South Twenty-third street, March 15.

The funeral oration was delivered by Rabbi Frederick Cohn, who was to have married Mr. Lee and Miss Sylvia Fox, proprietor of the Sample Fur store on Douglas street. On the day of his death Lee had given her a diamond engagement ring. Miss Fox was one of the principal mourners.

G. G. Lee of Bartlesville, Okla., brother and C. B. Adair with whom Mr. Lee organized the Adair & Lee rubber company here in 1918, attended the funeral.

They said they have made a complete investigation of the shooting, and that a private detective employed by the Masonic lodge also had made an investigation and that they were convinced Lee was not killed by another person. His leaves $1000 life insurance to his mother, living in Brattleboro, Vt., where the body will be taken for burial.

Police Record in Year Held Good

Chief Dempsey Reports More Stolen Goods Recovered Than in Past Years.

Chief of Police Mike Dempsey in his annual report to the commissioner of public safety yesterday, stated that despite handicaps to the department in the way of personnel and funds the police department had made decided advances.

"During 1922 we recovered $166,944.17 worth of stolen property as compared with $48,218.98 recovered in 1921, and 819 automobiles as compared with 757 in the same period of time," read the report.

"Our small numerical strength was again put to the test during the railroad strike and I believe that we are one of the four cities in the country who came through this crisis without any serious trouble, which reflects much credit on the members of the department."

Total arrests numbered 19,324. Net balance of $208,625.81 is shown in the Omaha metropolitan police relief fund.

ONE OF OURS

By WILLA CATHER. Famous Nebraska Author.

By WILLA CATHER. (Continued from Yesterday.) Claude Wheeler, living on a Nebraska ranch with his parents and a younger brother, Ralph, leaving for the summer vacation from Temple college, small combination school at Lincoln which he has been attending unwillingly because he prefers to go to the state university. Things have happened during the third year, however, to cheer him. One of these was his enrollment in a special European history class under a professor in the state university. The other is his chance acquaintance with Julius Erlich, university eleven quarterback, and his mother, who makes the shy boy feel at home on his numerous visits to the Erlich residence. Claude's father, Nat Wheeler, buys a ranch in Colorado. Care of the ranch necessitates his absence. Mr. Wheeler and Ralph from their Nebraska home, and Claude has to quit school to take care of the home place. An older brother, Bayless, runs an implement store at Frankfort.

CHAPTER XV. Claude dreaded the inactivity of the winter, to which the farmer usually looks forward with pleasure. He made the Thanksgiving football game a pretext for going up to Lincoln—went intending to stay three days and stayed 10. The first night, when he knocked at the glass door of the Erlich's sitting room and took them by surprise, he thought he could never go back to the farm. Approaching the house on that clear, frosty autumn evening, crossing the Iowa stream with cracking dry leaves, he would be going home tomorrow. On leaving the house that night, he looked back at the ruddy windows and told himself that it was good by indeed, and not as Mrs. Erlich had fondly said, auf wiedersehen. Coming here only made him more discontented with his lot; his frail claim on this kind of life seemed no longer valid. He must settle down into something that was his own, take hold of it with both hands, no matter how grim it was. The next day, Henry took a book of memoirs from the shelf to prove to them that at the time when the French emigres were coming to Philadelphia, powder was going out of fashion.

During this discussion, Mrs. Erlich drew Claude aside and told him in excited whispers that her cousin Wilhelm, the singer, had at last been relieved of the invalid husband whom she had supported for so many years, and now was going to marry her accompanist, a man much younger than herself. After the French emigre had gone off to his party, two young instructors from the university dropped in and Mrs. Erlich introduced Claude as her "landed proprietor" who managed a big ranch out in one of the western counties. The instructors took their leave early, but Claude stayed on. What was it that made life seem so much more interesting and attractive here than elsewhere? There was nothing wonderful about this; a lot of books, a lamp, a comfortable, hard-used furniture, some people whose lives were in no way remarkable—and yet he had the sense of being in a warm and gracious atmosphere, charged with generous enthusiasms and an ADVERTISEMENT.

What a welcome she gave him, and how much she had to tell him! While they were all talking at once, Henry, the oldest son, came downstairs dressed for a Colonial ball, with satin breeches and stockings and a sword. Claude had not written when he would be home, but on Saturday there were always some of the neighbor's in town. He rode out with one of the Yoder boys, and from their goodbyes and explanations he must be going home tomorrow. On leaving the house that night, he looked back at the ruddy windows and told himself that it was good by indeed, and not as Mrs. Erlich had fondly said, auf wiedersehen. Coming here only made him more discontented with his lot; his frail claim on this kind of life seemed no longer valid. He must settle down into something that was his own, take hold of it with both hands, no matter how grim it was. Ep to the time of Lamay it was almost impossible to get a face powder to stay on the face longer than it takes to put it on. You powder your nose nicely, and the first gust of wind or the first puff of your handkerchief and away goes the powder, leaving your nose shiny and conspicuous, probably just when you would give anything to appear at your best. A specialist has perfected a pure powder that really stays on that stays on until you wash it off. It does not contain white lead or starchy rice powder to make it stay on. This improved formula contains just the medicinal powder doctors prescribe to improve the complexion. In fact, this powder helps to prevent and reduce enlarged pores and irritations. It is also astringent, discouraging flabbiness, crow's feet and wrinkles. This unusual powder is called Lamay (French, Poudre L'Amel). Because Lamay is pure and because it stays on so well it is used by millions of American women. All dealers carry the large box and many carry the generous thirty-five cent size. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion you will understand why so many beautiful New York women say they cannot buy a better powder than Lamay anywhere at any price.

WOMEN SAY La-may stays on better than any other face powder.

And if you took all the great sinners out of the Bible, you'd take out all the interesting characters, wouldn't you?" "Except Christ," she murmured. "Yes, except Christ. But I suppose the Jews were honest when they thought him the most dangerous kind of criminal."

"Are you trying to tangle me up?" his mother inquired, with both reproach and amusement in her voice. Claude went to the window where she was sitting, and looked out at the snowy fields, now becoming blue and desolate as the shadows deepened. "I only mean that even in the Bible the people who were merely free from blame didn't amount to much."

"Ah, I see!" Mrs. Wheeler chuckled softly. "You are trying to get me back to faith and works. There's where you always balked when you were a little fellow. Well, Claude I don't know as much about it as I did then. As I get older, I leave a good deal more to God. I believe He wants to save whatever is noble in this world, and that He knows more ways of doing it than I."

For a moment they clung together in the pale, clear square of the west window, as the two natures in one person sometimes meet and cling in a fated hour. (To Be Continued.)

FOOD robbery is often disguised. Vital essentials of diet are left out and the defect hidden by quantity, looks and taste.

Phosphorus is a food element necessary to the body. Nature provides it in her good grains—but extra "refinement" in the milling processes throws it away.

Grape-Nuts supplies phosphorus as a part of the well-rounded, perfected nourishment from wheat and malted barley—together with iron, vitamin, and a bran content so often lacking in modern food.

Grape-Nuts with cream or milk is completely and soundly nourishing; so crisp and delicious that every member of your family will greatly enjoy it for breakfast, lunch or supper.

Ready to serve in a moment. Order from your grocer today.
