

New York Yankees Look Like Sure Winners in American League This Season

With Ruth, Meusel and Witt in Outfield to Start Season Team Should Do Great Things

Manager Huggins Intends to Carry Nine Hurlers—Oscar Roettger, Former Sioux City Western Leaguer, Showing Up Well in Practice.

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.
By Universal Service.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 27.—The Yankees, excepting Babe Ruth, inevitably ambitious rookies and a few others, go about spring training methodically.

They act as if thinking: "Why, man, we're a team of stars, the highest priced in baseball, we'll be ready, all right, we ain't going to kill ourselves. There's plenty of time."

At least that's our impression, after watching them at Helman park today. It must be said they all look in good shape, and that there's no shirking.

But, compared to the Tigers, for instance, they are far from inspiring in their actions.

The team indulged in a two-hour workout, 11 to 1, and then were through for the day. All appeared in good spirits, and it was noticeable, had a better "family" air than in the past.

So the story goes, some of the temperamental boys have been toning down since, with talks of trades and riot acts being read for carry-ons last season.

Huggins Satisfied.

Manager Huggins expressed himself as satisfied with the team's progress. "We'll be ready, all right, by the looks of things," he said.

"We've got a good team, when we leave here, which, I expect, will top off our conditioning nicely."

He, of course, figures a pennant. Asked what he thought of the Tigers, he declared:

"They've been strengthened and should make a good fight."

Last season, in addition to the Browns, the Tigers had Huggins on the anxious seat.

Huggins is looking for another experienced infielder, someone of proven worth in the "big time," to have around in case of an emergency.

The infield, will be: Pipp, first; Ward, second; Scott, short; Dugan, third; McNally who can play third, short or second, will be the utility man again.

Quintana, the little Cuban, fields brilliantly, but cannot hit well.

Dandy Fielder.

"He sure is a dandy fielder and thrower," said Huggins, "and looks to me to have the makings of a fine natural ball player. He bats too stiffly, however, but needs training. Look at him out there at short! A ball awks!"

"If he could hit he'd be a corker." Quintana will be sent down for seasoning and to improve his hitting. He is likely to go to Bridgeport, Conn., where "Hug" can have an eye on him. Huggins thinks Quintana ought to profit greatly by experience.

John Wight, last season with Chattanooga, will be retained as a utility infielder, says Huggins.

Huggins intends to carry two or three others whom Elmer Stark will be one, Harvey Hendricks, from Cleveland; Hinky Haines, farmed last season to Reading and Jersey City, and Ollie Tucker, let out to New Orleans in 1922, are fighting it out to be retained.

The catchers will be Schang and Herman, veterans, and Benny Bengough, from Buffalo.

Veteran Hurlers.

The pitching staff, greatest in either league, will have the veterans Bush, Shawkey, Mays, Hoyt, Jones and Herb Pennock.

Still, Huggins says he plans carrying nine hurlers. The best rookies seem to be Oscar Roettger, from Sioux City; Johnny Suggs, from Atlanta, and George Figgess, from Charleston. Suggs is a southpaw; Fred Spates, from Brown University; Elbert Johnson, from Aberdeen, S. D., and Pat McKinsly, from Akron, appear to need more experience.

Huggins figures Pennock to pitch about 15 winning games anyway. The club was without a proven southpaw last season and sorely missed one.

Bear for Ruth.

Every time "Babe" Ruth connected solidly and he did often, he ran around the park. The "Babe" had on a sweat shirt, increased in a rubber shirt, and also a big rubber abdominal belt. The perspiration formed in big globes. "Babe" is a wonder for work.

Huggins doesn't look any too well. But he hustles as though in tiptop condition.

Joe Bush and Shawkey did a lot of pitching and looked in A-1 shape.

The Yanks look great on paper. They didn't have Ruth and Meusel for six weeks last season, nor Witt in the outfield, nor Dugan in the infield, also the addition of Pennock is considered a big strengthening factor. If they welded together, they should do great things.

Bentley Makes Hit.

New York, March 27.—Complete satisfaction with Jack Bentley, the $65,000 holdout, purchased by the New York Giants from Baltimore, was voiced today by Manager McEwain, commenting on the scrutiny given the recruit yesterday at his first workout at San Antonio.

Bentley dropped four pounds and has only 17 more to lose to be at his normal weight of 200. McGraw said he would not put Bentley at first base, but would keep him for his southpaw pitching and perhaps use him as a pinch hitter.

Knocks Out Frankie Murphy

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 26.—Frankie Murphy of Denver was knocked out by Jack Vincelli, local welterweight, in the first round of their scheduled four-round bout here tonight.

Walt Hart, local bantamweight champion, and Eddie Lynch of North Platte fought a six-round draw. Leonard Maloy of Laramie, Wyo., defeated Johnny Woodmansee, local featherweight, in four rounds.

Winter Weather at Seguin.

Old man winter returned to Seguin, Tex., yesterday on the wings of a cold north wind and caused postponement of the game between the New York National league team and the Chicago American league team. The game will be played in San Antonio, Thursday.

Konetchy Begins Pruning Process at Omaha Camp; Three Recruits Released

SKIPPER ED KONETCHY began weeding out surplus material yesterday when he welded the ax on three Buffalo recruits.

Oscar Sloner, St. Louis semi-pro catcher, and George Becker, semi-pro pitcher from Richmond, Neb., were released to the Corsicana club, and Al Wallin, a semi-pro catcher from Kansas City, was sold to Waco.

Yesterday's pruning left 21 men at the Omaha camp, two recruits, Charlie Ritz and John Brantiff, both of Omaha, having been farmed out to a Nebraska state league club two weeks ago.

Several more recruits probably will get their walking papers in a few days, as Manager Konetchy must be down to 15 players when the season opens.

King Winter descended on Corsicana yesterday on the wings of a stiff northerly and caused postponement

Jess Working With Wrestler

By Associated Press.

NELSHOR SPRINGS, March 27.—Jess Willard has been in training two weeks for his bout with Floyd Johnson in New York, May 12.

The former champion is willing, he said today, to meet Firpo, the South American titleholder, if necessary, to obtain a match with Dempsey.

Crowds assemble daily to watch Willard at work. Jess arises at 6 o'clock, takes an eight mile workout on the hilly roads of this region, and after a shower bath and an hour under the hands of his rubber, rests until 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

He then punches the bag for three rounds, boxes four rounds with his boxing partner, Harry Drake of London, does four rounds of shadow boxing, clinches and tugs with a professional wrestler for three rounds to strengthen his shoulders and improve his wind, and finishes up his ring work with three or four rounds of exercise. After this, he takes a shower and remains upon the rubbering table until 6 p. m.

Everett Scott Nears His 1,000 Game Mark

NEW YORK, March 27.—(Special.)—Everett Scott, brilliant shortstop of the New York Yankees, will reach his goal of playing 1,000 consecutive games early in the 1923 campaign, unless some unforeseen slip of fate intervenes.

The veteran infielder wound up the season of 1922 with a record of 986 straight games in playing harness, so that he needs but 14 more to reach the mark he started shooting at when he wore a Boston Red Sox uniform June 20, 1916.

Scott reeled off 193 games without an absence from the lineup in 1916, followed by 17 in 1917, 126 and 138 in the abbreviated seasons of 1918 and 1919, and 154 games each in the last three years. He transferred his allegiance from the Hub to Gotham in the winter of 1921-22, coming to the Yankees with Sam Jones and Joe Judge in exchange for Roger Peckinpaugh, Bill Percy, Jack Quinn and Rip Collins.

Scott's continuous performing record is nearly double that of the best previous major league marks. The closest approach to it was made by George B. Pinckney, who played in 577 straight games with the old Brooklyn club in the American association and National league from 1885 to 1899. The nearest mark in modern baseball history was 533 games, reeled off by Fred Luderus of the Philadelphia Nationals, from 1916 to 1919.

Scott has had several narrow escapes from having his record streak broken. One of these occurred about the middle of last season, when he stopped in Indiana while the Yankees were on their way to open a series in Chicago. "Scotty" was blocked by a train wreck on his way to rejoin his teammates, but pressed emergency means of conveyance into service and reached the White Sox ball park as the game was in progress, donning his uniform in time to play the last few innings.

"Scotty" started his professional career with the Kokomo (Ind.) club; was given his first big league tryout by the Red Sox in 1913, released on option and recalled the next year to become a regular in the Boston inner city. He is rated among the greatest defensive shortstops in the game, and, while not a heavy stick-smith, has a knack of punching out his safe blows when they are most needed.

Refuses to O. K. Lodge-Firpo Go

New York, March 27.—The New York state athletic commission today announced it would not permit Firpo's Lodge of Minneapolis to box Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight, at the Yankee stadium on May 12.

The commission ruled that Lodge was not a suitable opponent for Firpo and ordered a selection be made from Jim Herman of Omaha, Jack Renault of Canada and Jack McAuliffe, II, of Detroit.

In the absence of Promoter Tex Rickard, who arranged the match in conjunction with the Jess Willard-Floyd Johnson contest on the same date, Frank Colfax, general manager of Madison Square Garden, started immediate negotiations in an effort to fill Lodge's place.

Damon Runyon's Column

By DAMON RUNYON.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent—

New York, March 27.—Madame Jeanne Lamar, tiny French woman, brisk, voluble, calls on the writer.

She is a boxer, she says. She wishes to meet Mrs. Ida Schnell-Schulzer, an American woman, well known for her swimming, basketball playing and all-around athletic feats, in a boxing bout.

Mrs. Ida Schnell-Schulzer calls later with photographs of herself in boxing poses, displaying a fine figure. She is willing to box Mme. Lamar she says.

The ladies depart leaving the writer somewhat dazed.

Strange times, these, you may say, when women wish to engage in fistie combat. Your great grandmother would turn over in her grave at the very thought.

It is not new. There is nothing new under the sun.

In the days of the old Romans women took part in combats, wrestling and fighting, sometimes to the death. Then in London prize ring times we find females battling with their fists.

Perhaps civilization is going back wards.

Sixteen hundred and fifteen pounds of human bone and sinew—and perhaps some fat—in one ring the same afternoon!

That is the program as just completed by Tex Rickard for the boxing show for the New York Milk Fund at the Yankee Field on May 12.

Rickard today matched Luis Firpo against "Farmer" Lodge for the occasion.

Jess Willard, 240 pounds, against Floyd Johnson, 200; Luis Firpo, 223 pounds, against Farmer Lodge, 231 pounds; Bob Fitzsimmons, 185 pounds, against Harry Drake, 185 pounds; against Carlos Scaglia, 175 pounds, against Charley McKenna, 175 pounds.

It will be a spectacle such as the modern game of boxing has never before witnessed.

Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion of the world, will look on with deep interest. These giants and strikers will over the occasion meet in the champion, a chance to win the title that is elected these days to have a value of a million dollars.

The great middle west, with Willard of Kansas and Johnson of Iowa, the northwest, with Lodge, a Minnesotan, the east, with Fitzsimmons and McKenna, the latter once a Manhattan Island freeman; England, with Harry Drake, and the Argentine, with Firpo and Scaglia are represented.

Men and women will come from all America for over the world, to witness the struggle of the giants.

Floyd Johnson Kayoes Thompson

Boston, March 27.—Floyd Johnson of Iowa knocked out Ray Thompson of New York in 20 seconds here tonight. The Iowa heavyweight sent Thompson reeling to the floor with a punch to the jaw after 12 seconds of milling and the New Yorker stayed down until the count of eight. A blow to the right temple felled him for the last time.

Johnson entered the ring weighing 195 pounds and Thompson scaled 188 pounds. The two shook hands and Thompson led with a left for Johnson's face. The latter countered with a blow to Thompson's heart that sent the New Yorker back. Johnson sank to the floor and Thompson went down in a heap. Twelve seconds only had elapsed. Eight was counted before Thompson arose.

Thompson, shaky but willing, closed in as if in an attempt to clinch. Johnson's right hand crashed against his left temple and he sank to the floor—knocked out. A brief 20 seconds saw the end of the fight.

Creighton to Play South Dakota Team

S. D. 1923 GRID CARD.

September 29—Northern normal at Vermillion.
October 6—Yankton college at Vermillion.
October 13—North Dakota university at Grand Forks.
October 20—Nebraska Wesleyan at Vermillion.
October 27—South Dakota State at Vermillion (Dakota day).
November 3—Open.
November 10—Dakota Wesleyan at Mitchell.
November 17—Creighton at Omaha.
November 24—Open.
November 31—Morningside at Sioux City.

Vermillion, S. D., March 26.—The South Dakota university football card for next fall was announced by Coach L. B. Allison tonight. This schedule is one of the hardest faced by the Coyote gridder in a number of years.

One of the features of the season's card will be the resumption of athletic relations with Morningside, at Sioux City, Thanksgiving day, when the Coyotes will tangle with the Maroons. From all indications, both teams will be ready for this game.

The annual Dakota day game will be played October 27, with the South Dakota State college eleven. This is another classic of the Coyote grid calendar.

Eight teams will be played this year. Five of the clashes will be with Big Nine teams, while three South Dakota schools not in the conference will be met.

The season's play will open with a go with the Northern Normal, at Vermillion.

Stars Predict Strong Team.

New York, March 27.—Manuel Alonso and his brother, Jose Alonso, stars of last year's Spanish Davis cup team, who have arrived in the United States to take up business careers, predicted today that France and possibly Spain or the British Isles would be the finalists in the European zone competition in this year's Davis cup contest.

Despite the fact that in the Alonsos, Spain has lost its No. 1 and No. 4 ranking players, they declared their native land would muster a strong team. It will be headed, they said, by Count De Gomar, a member of last year's team, and Eduardo Flaquer, No. 2 and No. 3 ranking players, respectively.

Should Spain survive the European zone play and come to this country to meet the American zone finalists, the Alonsos brothers would be available as contestants.

They do not expect to return to Spain before the spring of 1924, when they will practice on hard courts preliminary to entering the Olympic games championships at Paris in July.
