Jake Isaacson, "Father of Amateur Baseball" in Omaha, to Give Up Duties

JAKE ISAACSON is going quit. The man who organized amateur baseball in Omaha and who nursed it to its present high plane, is to step "down and out."

He's going to let others try their hand at running it. Although Isaacson's confirmation is lacking, word tricks in from authentic sources that the "big chief" will wield the "big stick" only a short time more.

Isaacson is going into the haberdashery business, says this same dependable informant.

Frank Jacobs, member of the board of directors, admitted there was "some truth" in the report this morning. He did not deny that the Municipal Baseball association directors probably will employ a secretary at $125 a month to do the work "Jake" was doing for nothing.

Hummel to Run It

It is proposed to establish an office in the city recreational department of the city hall, it is said, and it may come to pass that Park Commissioner Joe Hummel will take a hand and help finance the proposition.

Isaacson realized last season that municipal baseball had outgrown the system of being operated by officers who do not receive any recompense for their services.

Isaacson devoted two-thirds of his time gratis to the association last year and complaints were heard that he "wasn't on the job like he used to be."

Municipal baseball in St. Louis is operated by the park department and is declared by some to be a model plan.

Organized in 1914

Whether Hummel will want to assume responsibility of conducting the sand lot game, which furnishes the major amusement at city parks, remains to be seen.

Isaacson organized the sandlotters in 1914 into an organization then known as the Omaha Amateur Baseball association. He served as president of the body until entering the army in 1918 when he was succeeded by Joe Wavrin, who had been acting in the capacity of vice president.

On his return from the service in 1919, Isaacson reorganized the amateur as the Municipal Baseball association and Al Scott was chosen president. Omaha business men were induced to serve as directors and Isaacson assumed the duties of secretary.

That organization is still intact.

Karr Chants Freely About Stopping Kid

Bubbling over with confidence, or sorely afflicted with the old "ego," Johnny Karr, Cleveland welterweight, arrived in Omaha this morning and took his first workout this afternoon at the Business Men's gymnasium.

Dave Shade, Frankie Schoell, Billy Wells et al, express the most profound respect for Morris Schlaifer's fighting ability. But not Karr.

"He's 'nary thing," he said this morning. "I'll make cat's meat of him in less than 10 rounds. Didn't I hit him with everything but the ring post and fight license at Davenport the other night?"

"Well, that's just a sample of what I'm gonna do Thursday."

Karr frankly admits he doesn't like Schlaifer.

"He's too cocky," he explains.

But Karr's rhapsody failed to impress Morris.

"I'm about due to stop some bird and I know of no one I'd rather kyo than the Cleveland braggard," chirped the "Kid."

Karr was accompanied here by Johnny Papke, a middleweight sparring partner, and Frank McGinty, a former major league umpire.

Jimmy Dunn, his manager, was unable to accompany him here.

Andre Anderson of Chicago, who meets Tiny Terman in the semi-wind-up, is on the scene and working out.

Death Won Bentley Over

Jack Bentley

There is sentiment in professional sport after all. Jack Bentley, sportswriter for the Baltimore (Md.) Orioles, was a buddy in Franco to Jack Dunn, Jr., son of the owner of the Baltimore team. The elder Dunn sold Bentley to the New York Giants for $2,000, but Bentley refused to report because Dunn would not give him part of the purchase price. Then his buddy, Dunn's son, died, and rather than cause the grief-stricken parent any more worry, Bentley packed his old kitbag and hid him south to join Manager McGraw and the Giants.

Murphy Gets "Glass" in Jaw

Frankie Murphy

FRANKIE MURPHY seems to have developed "glass" in his jaw since his appearance in an Omaha ring against Morris Schlaifer.

Paul Doyle, one of the leading contenders for Mickey Walker's crown, stopped the colossal state product in five rounds at Madison Square Garden, recently.

Taking a dive at the hands of Doyle was in a way forgettable, for he's a hard socking welter, but last night the "Mile High" city fighter was stopped in one round by Jack Vincelli, a Salt Lake fighter, unknown outside the bounds of Utah.

All of which leads to the conclusion that Murphy has developed a weakness to take 'em on the whiskers or if following the precedent set by many boxers to "take the easiest way out"—a quick road to oblivion.

To Dainty People
Who don't want dingy film on teeth

This offers you a method millions now employ. It is used the world over—in some 50 countries—by people who want to fight film.

You see the results everywhere. Now charm, new beauty comes from glistening teeth. Now we urge you to learn, by a delightful test, how such teeth are acquired.

Film—the great enemy

Film is the teeth's great enemy—that vicious film you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. Food stains, etc., discolor it. Then it forms dingy coats. Tartar is based on film. That's why beautiful teeth were seen less often than now.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. That's why few escaped tooth troubles.

Germs breed by millions in film. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea, now so alarmingly common.

So dental science sought ways to fight film, and in time found two. One acts to curdle film, one to remove it, and without any harmful scouring.

Avoid Harmful Grit

Pepsodent curdles the film and removes it without harmful scouring. Its polishing agent is far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Able authorities proved these methods by many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created, based on modern research. Those two great film combatants were embodied in it.

That tooth paste is called Pepsodent. Dentists the world over now advise its daily use.

Constant guardians

Pepsodent also creates constant guardians. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids, the cause of tooth decay.

It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids.

Thus it gives manifold power to these great natural tooth-protecting agents.

'Twill delight you

The Pepsodent results will amaze and delight you. This test may change the whole dental history in your home.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the vicious film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

What you see and feel will very soon convince you. And that is most important. Cut out coupon now.
