

Bluffs Veteran Again Saved From Being Swindled

Man Accused of Selling Newsstand Encumbered by Debt to Legless War Hero Agrees to Pay.

For the second time this year, retributive justice has overtaken persons who have attempted to fleece Terry Black, Council Bluffs disabled war veteran and hero, who sacrificed both limbs for his country while fighting overseas as a member of Company L, 168th Infantry, Rainbow division.

Black returned to the Bluffs after the war and began to plan a home for a pretty English nurse, whom he had met in a hospital. She arrived and they were married. Despite his physical handicap, the war hero worked as insurance salesman and succeeded in putting aside a sum of money to establish himself in business.

A year ago he borrowed additional funds to augment his savings and purchased the cigar and news stand in the lobby of the Grand hotel from Clarence W. Mack, son-in-law of the hotel proprietor, A. Lacy. The consideration was $500 in cash and the business itself was represented as free from encumbrance, Blackie states.

Mack Arrested.

Within two months, however, bills and accounts totaling $200 were presented to the new owner of the stand and he was obliged to meet them to protect his own interests. Mack had left the community and demands for reimbursement were met, according to the legless hero, with evasive replies and no remittances.

During the year Blackie won the friendship and esteem of the various traveling men who stop regularly at the hotel on their trips. Many of them learned the story of the alleged fraud in connection with the sale of the stand and were anxious to help the victim locate the former owner, who had disappeared after the first correspondence in regard to the matter.

Last week one of the salesmen met Mack at Indianola, Ia., and reported the occurrence when he arrived at the Bluffs hotel. Blackie signed an information charging cheating by false pretenses and Sheriff P. A. Lanson, former commander of the company in which the hero served during the war, wired Indianola for his arrest as a fugitive from justice. Mack was lodged in the county jail there on Sunday.

Settlement Made.

Negotiations were opened at once for a man under arrest agreed to forward cash to cover the amount alleged due to Blackie if criminal charges against him would be dismissed in return. His victim was satisfied with this proposition and the matter was adjusted on that basis.

On June 14, 1922, Mack became the center of public attention in the community as the result of his alleged attack in the lobby of the Grand hotel upon Lieut. Henry C. Hall of Company L, Iowa national guard. The officer had presided at a court martial in which Quentin Lacy, son of the hotel proprietor and brother-in-law of Mack, had been sentenced to jail for alleged insubordination.

As the result of this fracas, many of the civic organizations which lunched at the hotel every week, including the Lions club of which Hall was a member, withdrew their patronage. Within a few weeks, A. Lacy sold out his interests in the hotel business and Mack disposed of the cigar stand to Blackie.

In January of this year, George Henderson was arraigned in district court on the charge of passing two worthless checks upon the war veteran proprietor of the cigar stand. He still is serving a 60-day sentence in the county jail, although the bad paper was made good by his father.

Beekeepers of State Meet Here on Saturday

Beekeepers of Nebraska will hold a special meeting in Omaha March 31 to discuss some of their problems and lay plans for the coming season.

C. E. Carhart of Wayne, A. H. Dunn of Council Bluffs and H. C. Cook of Omaha will address the meeting.

Dr. G. E. Condra of the state university will show the beekeeping film prepared in Nebraska last year.

The morning session will comprise an inspection trip to the A. I. Root company plant. The meeting in the afternoon will be held in the Burgess-Nash auditorium beginning at 2.

Pneumonia Takes Fireman.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Beatrice, Neb., March 27.—Jacob E. Hodge, 35, locomotive fireman who has been running out of Wymore for some time, died at his home at Barneston following an attack of pneumonia after he had been ill for some days with smallpox. He had lived at Barneston since boyhood.

Clarence Saunders

Clarence Saunders of Memphis, Tenn., formerly an iron puddler and later an 18-a-week grocery clerk, may clear up $7,500,000 from his corner on Piggly Wiggly stock, a corporation of chain grocery stores he organized and controlled. Wall street, in a frenzy of selling, went far short on stock, which the brokers cannot deliver. It has been bought from the New York Stock exchange.

Saunders once worked as a clerk in Omaha.

Nonpartisan League Gets Restraining Order

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Lincoln, Neb., March 27.—Upon application of Harry M. Lux, state manager and treasurer of the Nebraska branch of the Nonpartisan league, District Judge W. M. Morning today granted an order temporarily restraining Arthur C. Townley, Luther L. Griffiths, Einar Johnson, C. C. Griffiths and H. E. Moore from removing the money, automobiles, negotiable instruments and office equipment of the Nebraska branch from this state, or disposing of any of the above-mentioned property.

Lux alleges that A. C. Townley with the other defendants has formed a conspiracy, the object of which is "to secure control of all the money, property, goods, rights and chattels" of the Nebraska branch, and convert the same to their own use.

Folks in "House Party" on Farm Face Grave Charge

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Nebraska City, Neb., March 27.—Sheriff Ryder, Deputy McCullum, Chief of Police Cook and a patrolman went to the Willie Walter farm southwest of this city Monday to arrest Walter on a warrant sworn out by a Fremont county (Ia.) court on the charge of stealing automobile accessories.

When the officers arrived at the farmhouse they found five men and four women there who had been holding a "house party." Two of the women were released, but the others, with the men, were held in the county jail.

It is said that charges of a serious nature will be filed against them.

Walter, who is out on bail pending a hearing for a new trial after conviction of burglary in Johnson county and sentenced to the reformatory, declares he will not return to Iowa without requisition.

Mrs. Greiner Dies of Old Age

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Columbus, Neb., March 27.—Funeral services for Mrs. Carolina Greiner, 84, many years a resident here, who died of old age at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Deborah Mueller, Monday, were held at the Evangelical Protestant church Tuesday, followed by burial in Columbus cemetery.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Anna Rath of Columbus, and by Hans and Emil Greiner of Omaha.

Boy Not Harmed by 15-Foot Fall

Goes Into Gully by Way of Snowdrift—Baseball Is His First Thought.

Sammy Gorrotto, 9, a little husky as to voice and with a rag under his throat, but otherwise none the worse for his tumble through a snow-drift into a 15-foot gully yesterday afternoon which nearly cost him his life, returned to his class at Train school Tuesday.

Sammy was rescued with difficulty after he jumped into a snowdrift in a vacant lot on Pine street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, on his way home from school, and dropped on through into the gully.

His cries attracted John Saab, 1307 Pierce street, who called two of Sammy's boy friends, Carl Mangano, 12, 1517 Parkwell avenue, and George Swoboda, 13, 1507 Parkwell avenue.

They ran to his home to tell his parents. When they returned Sammy

Live Royally

That doesn't mean money. It means to foster and enhance the gifts Nature gave to you.

You often see women of 30 who differ ten years in their looks.

A little care—just knowing how—can multiply your years of youthful bloom. Then you'll live life to the full.

The supreme help

The great difference lies in soap. One woman attacks the skin every time she washes. Another woman benefits her skin.

Some people say, "Don't use water on the face." That's because some soaps may ruin the complexion.

But Palmolive soap has done more for complexions than any other factor known. For millions of women it has brought and kept a youthful bloom and texture.

Clean skins first!

Clean skins come first. A clogged skin cannot long keep beauty.

So Palmolive Soap is made to penetrate—to clean the skin to its depths.

Then there are fostering oils, which seem to be skin affinities. They are palm and olive oils. The ages have found nothing else which does what they do for complexions.

Palmolive Soap combines these great essentials. It is made by experts who have spent their lives in the study of facial soap.

It gives to palm and olive oils an efficiency they never had before. It has become, on that account, the leading toilet soap of the world.

A woman who doesn't use it does herself injustice.
