

Six Army Planes Complete Flight of 6,000 Miles

Secretary Weeks Orders Citations for Pilots Who Flew to Porto Rico With Land Planes.

Washington, April 3.—The six army airplanes which left San Antonio, Tex., a month ago on a 6,000-mile flight to Porto Rico and thence to Washington, landed at Bolling field today, bringing to successful conclusion one of the most remarkable flights ever attempted by the army air service. Secretary Weeks extended the welcome to the 12 pilots who made the trip and directed that a citation be placed in their records crediting them properly with their achievement.

Air service officials said the flight negotiated by land planes over wide stretches of water and strange land areas without accident and on schedule, splendidly illustrated the role aircraft could take in the scheme of national defense.

Capt. Thomas G. Lanphier, in command of the squadron, declared Porto Rico formed the logical base of action for an air force against enemy fleet approaching the Panama canal from the Atlantic side, adding that it had been proved possible to concentrate an air force at Porto Rico within 24 hours and attack an enemy fleet or bombard land bases within a radius of 800 miles.

Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, also called attention to the part aircraft could play in defending the country and providing means of quick communication between the continental United States and the island possessions.

The officers will remain here several days before they return to their posts of duty.

Woman, 92, Desires to Live Until She Is 100 and Ride in Airplane

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee, Grand Island, Neb., April 3.—Mrs. Mary A. Berger, an inmate of the soldiers' home, is 92 and so thoroughly enjoys life that she wants to remain on this sphere at least as long as her mother, who died at the age of only three months less than 100 years. Her paternal grandfather lived to be 103. Aside from desiring to become a centenarian, the sprightly little woman would also like to make a flight in an air plane.

At woman suffrage she throws up her hands and declares: "Let the men do it." She makes pin-cushions out of egg-beaters and sends them as gifts, at one time buying 50 egg-beaters for the purpose. She also likes to make gowns for hospital patients.

In the early years Mrs. Berger's family moved to Kansas. She relates that there was more danger from pro-slavery activities than from the Indians. While Mr. Berger was in the civil war the family went back to Illinois. Because the husband was wounded in battle they never came back to Kansas to reclaim their land. Later the family moved to Nebraska. Mr. Berger died 13 years after the war as the result of injuries.

Custer Survivor Given Pension

Indian Scout, Only Man to Escape in Massacre, Is Living in Montana.

By Universal Service. Washington, April 3.—A survivor of the famous Custer massacre, in which it was believed everyone was killed, has been unearthed and pensioned, the Department of the Interior announced today.

He is Shuh-Shee-Ahsh, alias Curley, a Crow Indian living on a reservation in Montana. He has satisfied the government that he was a scout with Colonel Custer at the time every man in his command was killed by the tribes of northern Cheyenne and the Sioux.

With three other Indian scouts, Shuh-Shee-Ahsh went with Custer into the battle of the Little Big Horn on June 25, 1876. On the morning following the battle, when soldiers sent to the relief of Custer surveyed the scene, they were able to account for every man except one of the scouts.

A search of War department records reveals that this man, who could not be accounted for, was the Crow Indian now claiming a pension. "The fourth scout who left the field of Custer's fight, named Curley, was actually with Custer throughout

Lincoln Man Wounded in Duel With Police

Pasadena, Cal., April 3.—Police shotguns, in a running duel, dropped H. E. Edmundson, 27, of Lincoln, Neb., in his flight over backyard fences in an exclusive residence district here today. He was identified, police say, as a daylight burglar, but despite six wounds, which police surgeons say will probably prove fatal, Edmundson refused to divulge any information concerning himself or his activities other than his wife and
