

Jolanda Weds Soldier Count in Royal Hall

Italian Princess Becomes Wife of Obscure Nobleman After Surmounting Parental Objections.

Rome, April 9.—A tall, slender, olive-skinned girl, born in the legends of Italy, was "born to be a soldier's bride," fulfilled the prophecy here today when the Princess Jolanda, eldest daughter of King Victor Emmanuel and Count Calvi Di Bergolo, a war veteran, and a captain in the Italian army.

There were two services, one civil and the second religious, in accordance with the plan of the Roman Catholic church. It was the first time a religious nuptial ceremony had taken place in the royal hall of the quinal palace, formerly the throne hall of the popes.

This was the first royal marriage in Italy in 27 years and the first in Europe since the Princess Mary, daughter of King George of England, was married, 14 months ago.

The Princess Jolanda, a beautiful girl of 22, had been reported engaged to scions of two royal families—first the prince of Wales, and later to the crown prince of Belgium. Such a marriage contract would have a large element of international politics and diplomacy involved in it.

The wedding today was the culmination of a genuine love match, for the bridegroom is not a member of royalty. He belongs only to the Piedemontez petty nobility.

King and Queen Object. Serious obstacles arose when Count Di Bergolo began to pay court to the pretty princess. The king and queen objected. But then Jolanda solicited the aid of her grandmother, the former Queen Elena, of Montenegro. She proved an excellent diplomat, and the parental objections were swept away.

Italy's court was in mourning for the late Queen Elena, who died shortly after the engagement was announced, but the mourning period was suspended for one day for the nuptials.

After the double ceremony Jolanda received congratulations and her cheeks were suffused with blushes of happiness and excitement.

The wedding was a quiet affair, compared with the nuptial events of royal families in pre-war days. Seven hundred invitations were sent out, but no representatives of foreign royal families were present.

Wedding Gifts Simple. Owing to the hard times through which Italy has been passing, Jolanda had requested that there be no elaborate wedding presents, but that the money intended for this purpose should be turned over to charity. Consequently, most of the gifts were simple, useful articles. Count Di Bergolo's gift was a great sapphire, rectangular in shape and set in a ring of platinum. Among the other gifts were a pearl necklace, a grand piano, a victrola, a silver fruit service, a table service of solid silver, china of exquisite ancient make and design and the like.

Simplicity and solemn dignity formed the keynote of the ceremonies. The soldier-groom wore his uniform and medals. He is 13 years older than his bride.

King at Wedding. Benito Mussolini, former socialist and editor, founder of the fascisti, and now premier of Italy—a man noted for his blunt speech and rigid discipline in public affairs—figured in the civil ceremony. In his capacity as notary of the crown, the premier conducted the civil rites. During this ceremony, Jolanda—who might have vacillated or even excepted for the various of love—renounced all her royal rights, including that of succession to the throne, her title of princess and the qualification of royal highness.

Among those present at the civil ceremony were King Victor Emmanuel; Queen Elena; the parents of the groom; Princess Aage, since the groom; a brother of the groom; Marchioness Della Valle, aunt of the bride and Lady in waiting to Queen Elena; the brothers and sisters of the bride; President Tittoni, the Crown Registrar and the army and navy officers; members of the diplomatic corps; members of parliament; members of the royal household; the Dowager Queen Margaret; Duke and Duchess of Aosta; Duke and Duchess of Genova; Count of Turin; Duke of Poggio; Duke of Bergamo; Prince of Udine; Duke of Ancona and others.

After a wedding breakfast the couple left on their honeymoon which will be held near Pisa. Later the couple will live quietly in their 10-room villa at Pine Rolo—their future home. The princess will turn housewife and conduct her own home just like any woman in the lower ranks of society.

Lincoln Judge Dies of Pneumonia Attack

Prominence was gained by Judge Clements some years ago, when he was appointed referee in the famous Beach-Moore majority case, which resulted in a finding of embezzlement against the defendant. At that time he resided at Ord, Neb.

Pupils Entered in Judging Event

Schedules Arranged for State-wide Meeting at Lincoln in May.

The best judges of agricultural products from many high schools in the state will compete for supremacy in the annual high school contest held at the agricultural college May 3-4. Rules provide for judging general livestock for three men teams, grain grading for two men teams, milk testing, grain judging and identification, egg grading, poultry production, judging and woodworking, all for one man teams.

These contests are open to any students regularly registered in high schools where they have received preparatory training for these contests. The students must be carrying at least 15 hours reaction per week in their high school at the time of the contest. No student who has previously competed in a state contest is eligible. One man may be on more than one team provided the schedule of contests permits.

Schedule of Contests. The schedule of contests as arranged now is: Thursday, May 3, egg grading, poultry production judging, egg show and woodwork construction. Friday, May 4, livestock judging, Babcock milk tests, grain grading, grain judging and identification. The egg show is open to all students. Several students from the same school may enter this contest.

Climax of Work. These annual contests are the climax of the season's work in judging as given in the high schools of the state which teach agriculture, according to the agricultural college. Any high school in the state that offers such training may enter teams. This event was staged last year the same week end, and most of the boys and their instructors remained as guests of the Farmers fair on the Saturday following the contest. These high school visitors are welcome to stay for the fair again this year, say the Farmers fair board, who are making a few special provisions for the entertainment of their high school guests.

INGROWN TOE NAIL
URNS OUT ITSELF
A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so softens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe all that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Harding Back from Vacation

Returns to Desk at White House After Five Weeks in South.

Washington, April 9.—President Harding was back at his desk today, invigorated by his five-weeks' vacation in the south and ready to shoulder again the accumulation of official business.

The president and Mrs. Harding arrived in Washington shortly after noon yesterday from Augusta, Ga., where they spent last week.

Mrs. Harding was said to have shown only the slightest evidence of fatigue from the 16-hour journey, and her improved health was further shown by the fact that she walked through the station to the automobile at the entrance, whereas on leaving here she was driven direct to the private car in the railroad yards.

The president is taking up the important matters now before him with the intention of disposing of as many of them as possible in the next two months in order to clear the way for the proposed western trip. The middle of June is now set as the tentative time for the beginning of the trip, but the president has not yet definitely decided whether he will carry out the proposed tour to the Pacific coast, with a possible extension to Alaska.

While Mrs. Harding has greatly benefited by her five weeks in the south, the president is deferring a decision on the western trip until he feels assured on the advisability of her undertaking such an extended journey as the one contemplated.

In addition to various angles of the political situation which are expected to receive the president's attention in the next few weeks, the immediate questions pending are the sugar price situation and plans for disposition of the government's merchant fleet.

A preliminary report from the tariff commission on the sugar question is looked for in the next week or two, while time required for the preparation of data to be submitted to the president on the merchant marine problems may defer action on that for several weeks.

Light Cruiser Omaha Proves Speedy Vessel

San Diego, April 9.—Although one of its boilers was not working, the new light cruiser Omaha made an average speed of 21 1/2 knots, or more than 35 miles an hour, for more than nine hours on a trial run off the California coast, according to word received at naval headquarters here Sunday. Naval officers say that this may be a new record for fighting ships.

In its trial runs the Omaha was 200 tons over draught. The Omaha lost the use of one boiler early in the trials, but Capt. David C. Hanrahan decided to go ahead despite that handicap.

French Troops Occupy Mine; Fire on Workers

Mellon Defends a Lower Surtax

Secretary of Treasury Points to Increased Collections Under New Rate.

Washington, April 9.—A $70,000,000 increase in the March collections of income and profits taxes as compared with the March collections of last year, on which the higher income surtax rates applied, gives a practical answer to the tax problem and "shows clearly what course further revision should take," Secretary Mellon declared in a statement last night.

Forecasting in his statement possible efforts by the treasury to have congress further cut the surtax rates on incomes, Secretary Mellon asserted that the March collections of $463,000,000 had fully justified his prediction that downward revision would have the effect of increasing rather than decreasing the federal revenue. The secretary viewed the increase in collections as proof that the downward revision had acted as a stimulant to business.

Even the present surtax rates, which range to a maximum of 50 per cent and give a combined maximum normal and surtax of 58 per cent, Mr. Mellon said, are tending to hamper business and causing the large taxpayers to seek every possible means of avoiding the realization of taxable income. The March collections, he said, had "confirmed his conclusion that if readjusted to the maximum of 25 per cent recommended by the treasury the surtaxes would better accomplish their purpose and yield at least as large and probably larger revenues than the existing rates."

"365 days a year whether there are any roads or not"

Ira Wilson & Sons, Detroit, who use 16 Heavy Duty Pierce-Arrow Trucks, hauling milk from a 120-mile radius, write as follows:

"Our business demands that our trucks be on the road every day, 365 days in the year, and they have to haul milk whether there are any roads or not. We have tried all makes of trucks, and Pierce-Arrows climb hills on high gear where other trucks have to shift into low gear; do it every day, and at much less cost.

"Our first Pierce-Arrow, which was delivered to us on October 15, 1920, has just been overhauled for the first time (November, 1922) after having run over 80,000 miles. We expected to spend a lot of money for new parts. But we spent less than $25.00 for new parts and this was for bushings in the chassis. The rear axle and transmission were perfect, and we could find no place to put any new part in the motor."

Pierce-Arrow Trucks are being operated successfully in 174 industries and trades. Let us show you how much more economical and profitable Pierce-Arrow Worm-Drive Dual-Valve Trucks are in your business.
