

Borah Charges Public Deceived on World Court

Idaho Senator Says Only "Benefit" Would Be Opportunity to Pay Europe More Money.

Washington, April 13.—The Harding-Hughes-Hoover scheme to force American membership in the world court was assailed Thursday in a vigorous statement by Senator Borah.

The senator, as spokesman for the senate irreconcilables charged, in effect, that an effort is being made to deceive the American people as to the benefits supposed to be derived from membership in the court.

It was charged that the sole "benefit" which can come to the United States through joining the court will be an opportunity to pay more money to Europe for maintaining the court.

Wait Seven Years for Vote. Even the opportunity of voting for an American representative on the tribunal cannot be exercised for seven years, Senator Borah said, because the court is full and no vacancies exist.

Senator Borah made this plain by quoting from the speech delivered in Des Moines by Secretary Hoover Wednesday night, in which it was stated that all the United States will do if the court proposal is ratified, is to agree to pay part of the running expenses of the court and participate in the selection of judges.

With fine sarcasm, the senator then inquired what satisfaction it would be to the American housewife now faced with the threat of 10 cent sugar, to know that she could help pay the expenses of a world court, who has no jurisdiction whatever over any of the questions that threaten world peace.

Seeking to Cloud Issue. Senator Borah's most serious charge was that the administration is seeking to divert attention from the real issues which confront the country. He pointed out that there are questions of far greater importance to be solved than that of helping to pay expenses of a useless court in Europe.

Italy Carefully Studying War Debt to United States. Rome, April 13.—The Italian government, according to an official statement, is carefully studying the question of the war debt to the United States, and has even gone to the extent of exchanging views with other debtors of America, especially France, although no general agreement between such debtor nations and the United States is anticipated.

Japanese Princess, Hurt in Auto Crash, Recovers. Paris, April 13.—Princess Kitashira Kawa, sister of the emperor of Japan, has so far recovered from the injuries she received in the automobile accident near Bernay that she is considered out of danger and will be brought to Paris from the Bernay hospital in a few days.

Omaha Man, Civil War Vet, Erects Own Tombstone

Martin J. Feenan

Fifty feet from the grave-to-be of Quartermaster Sergt. "Marty" Feenan is the grave of Rev. Gen. George M. O'Brien. And not far distant are the resting places of Generals John O'Neill and Mulcahy, Colonela McNamara and Butler, Capt. M. J. Fitzgerald, Major Heelan, Dr. Knicker, Maj. J. B. Furry, Lieut. J. E. Byrne, Capt. J. M. Simeral and Dr. Victor Coffman, and the remainder of "the 84 boys of 1861."

Erected in 1883. Their names are written on a roll kept in Mr. Feenan's office at Forty-eighth and Leavenworth streets, just across from the cemetery, where he may sit and watch imaginary columns of horsemen wheeling once more into action.

Mr. Feenan carved by hand an American flag and a saber on one face of his tombstone. His sons, Martin, J. Jr.; Edward Creighton and Albert F., who are engaged in the marble business with him, will use air power to engrave with sand the words to be placed on it after his death.

Other Veterans Near. Mr. Feenan knows, too, just what kind of company he will be keeping when he dies. There are 84 Union veterans buried in Holy Sepulcher.

Half Dozen Cities in Running for G.O.P. Convention

Party Chiefs Discuss Plans for 1924 Campaign—$1,700,000 Deficit of 1920 Reduced to $300,000.

Washington, April 13.—Preliminary discussion relative to the 1924 convention city of the republican party, together with plans to wipe out the remainder of the deficit incurred by the republicans in the 1920 campaign and a survey of the general political situation constitute the outstanding developments of a series of conferences with republican leaders, concluded here tonight by Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee.

Participants in the conferences with Mr. Upham included John T. Adams, chairman of the republican national committee who returned to Washington today after a trip abroad; Secretaries Weeks and Davis, Rush L. Holt, assistant attorney general, and others prominent in the councils of the party. Mr. Upham, during his two-day stay in the capital, also has had two conferences with President Harding, but at these politics have been entered upon, it was explained, only in a general way.

Six Cities Want Convention. The discussions which have been in progress and which will be continued by Mr. Upham Friday in New York with Charles D. Hilles, republican national committee man for New York, and Will H. Hays, former republican national chairman, are understood from some of those who saw the republican treasurer to have developed.

That consideration now is being given to six cities, Chicago, Kansas City, San Francisco, Cleveland, Washington and Buffalo, as the site for the 1924 convention. That the deficit of approximately $1,700,000 resulting from the 1920 campaign has been reduced to about $200,000 and that steps have been taken which it is hoped by party leaders will wipe it out completely by June 1.

That party leaders expect that the fortunes of the republican party in 1924 may turn largely on the general business conditions obtaining during the next 19 months.

Discuss Alaskan Trip. Mr. Upham, in his conferences with President Harding, is understood to have discussed in some detail the trip to Alaska contemplated by the executive, but these discussions were of a nonpolitical nature, the president having let it be known that he is firmly opposed to giving the tour a political tinge.

The republican treasurer asked the president to make an address in Chicago on his return from Alaska. The discussions relative to the proposed trip were said to have developed that the president has tentatively decided upon about 15 addresses in the west, about six to be made en route to the coast by the southern route, probably three in coast cities and some half dozen on his return eastward by the northern route.

While the cities to be visited by Mr. Harding have not been designated, it was said to be likely that the return trip would include addresses at Spokane and Seattle, Helena, Mont.; some city in South Dakota, probably Aberdeen, Minneapolis and St. Paul and Chicago.

Bandit Trio Escapes With $4,500 Loot

Wealthy Omaha Couple and Guests Robbed in Dundee Home—Three Other Holdups.

A trio of bandits raided Omaha residence districts in a blug car early Thursday night and escaped with more than $4,500 worth of loot taken from 15 persons despite the vigilance of the police department's new motor bike patrol.

Darkness had not yet settled when the holdups forced their way into the magnificent home of Edward Updike, 22, 294 North Fifty-second street, and robbed him and Mrs. Updike of $100 worth of goods, and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Byron H. Smith, 3536 Harney street, of jewels valued at $3,000—an uninsured loss.

Motorcycle Patrolman William Jacobson and Warren Duffield encountered the bandit car, it is believed, about 9. It was a blue Cadillac car going west on Q street at Fifteenth. They sped after it.

It was the first daring crime that the police department had had to cope with since being reorganized by Commissioner Dan Butler.

Although the bandits were not captured, Butler said his men did fine work.

Mrs. Smith, a charming woman of whitening hair—an inspiration to a president—proved also an inspiration to the bandits.

Harding Shakes Hands. Senator Warren G. Harding, now president, at Hotel Fontenelle on the night of October 7, 1920, walked up to Mrs. Smith and asked to shake hands.

"I saw you while I was speaking at the Auditorium," he said, "and you were an inspiration for my speech. I talked to you as you sat in the third row."
