Oklahoma City, Okl., April 15.—Bunching three hits with a base on balls and two sacrifices in the sixth, Oklahoma City scored three runs and defeated Omaha 3 to 1 before a capacity crowd here Sunday. ## Montana Legion Objects to Jack Dempsey Ever Fighting in State---Hold a Meeting

If Champion Never Visits Montana That's Soon Enough, Says Legion Adjutant.

April 15. — The April 14. — The possibility of a 15-round match at Shelby, Mont., next July 4, between Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Tom Gibbons are declared to be exceedingly bright as a result of a conference here today between Jack Kearnes and Mike Collins, representing the Montana American Legion.

Kearns, after a meeting with Collins at noon, left Salt Lake City for California and announced that he would return to Salt Lake City next week and again would take up proposals for the bout.

Helena, Mont., April 15.—Objection to Jack Dempsey ever fighting in Montana was telegraphed from Helena today by C. O. Lamport, state adjutant of the American Legion, acting on authority of the executive committee, to Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey; Mike O. Collins, manager for Tom Gibbons, and Loy Molumby, state commander of the legion, who were scheduled to be in Salt Lake City to negotiate for the proposed fight between Dempsey and Gibbons at Shelby, Mont., July 4.

The telegram follows:

"This is to inform you that the American Legion, department of Montana, is not now and never has been a party to the negotiations which Commander Loy J. Molumby is carrying on, which if successful, would bring Jack Dempsey to Montana for the purpose of staging a prize fight. We admire Tom Gibbons and this is no reflection on him, but our attitude toward Dempsey is unchanged. We believe him a good man with his fists, but in time of national stress, a better riveter than warrior. Th executivt committee of the department of Montana has withheld comment, striving to protect its commander, but his disregard of the committee has caused this declaration. If Dempsey never comes to Montana that is soon enough. We are unqualifiedly opposed to the promotion of any prize fight in Montana with Jack Dempsey as one of the participants."

Heinie Manush in Tiger Lineup

Detroit, April 15.—Despite the poor showing of his men during the training season, Manager Tyrus R. Cobb of the Detroit Tigers thinks the fight for the American league pennant this year will be between Detroit and New York with the Chicago White Sox as a third dangerous contender.

The Tiger outfield in the opening game at St. Louis Wednesday may find two youngsters replacing the veterans, Veach and Heilmann. Manush, last year with the Omaha Western league club, will play rightfield, and Fothergill will be in left, if Cobb's present plan is carried out. Veach was benched last week because of indifferent playing, and Heilmann has proved disappointing at bat this spring.

The pitching staff is a comparatively unknown factor, but the Georgian is pinning his hopes upon the Veterans Dauss and Pillette, Holloway, Collins and Francis.

Vincent Richards Wins Tennis Title

By VINCENT RICHARDS.
National Indoor Singles Champion.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

Pinehurst, N .C., April 15.—Playing the most spectacular tennis of his entire career, S. H. Voshell, former national indoor singles champion, came within two games of winning the annual north and south championship from me Saturday on the clay courts of the Pinehurst Country club.

I finally won the match only after the hardest kind of a struggle at 6-2, 3-6, 6-4. Voshell and the writer won the men's doubles tournament from Raymond D. Bidwell and Josiah H. Wheelwright at 6-2, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3. This match was continued from where it was left off yesterday.

All these matches were played in the morning, the tournament committee having determined, owing to the threatening weather, not to take any chances of rain in the afternoon. Probably never before have the final round matches in the annual tournament been held under more discouraging condition, for both the players and the gallery. The courts were slow and slippery underfoot and the large gallery sat with chattering teeth.

McGraw's Team "Doped" to Cop Another Pennant

Scribe Says Champions Should Win by Comfortable Margin in 1923.

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY,
Universal Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 15. —Pleading innocence of crystal-gazing, nor yet a dream, we launch into the job of arranging the National league standing when next October comes around. Strange as it may seem to some, particularly ardent followers of teams other than our choices, we do ot think it a very hard task regarding the first three.

Our predictions follow:

1—Giants.
2—Reds.
3—Pirates.
4—Cubs, Cardinals or Braves.
7—Brooklyn.
8—Phillies.

The Giants ought to win by a comfortable margin, while the battle for second and fourth place should be a fierce one.

The Giants are a team of class. They proved it indisputably by winning though badly handicapped by a shattered hurling staff last season, and then upsetting the prevailing dope by soundly licking the Yanks in the world's series. That class is still there.

Some world's champions have suffered greatly in the succeeding year by "cockiness," over-confidence. But with a leader like John McGraw, this is not likely to happen to the Giants. The players are masterfully handled by "Mac," and there's no prima donna stuff.

McGraw is going out to tie the record of the Cubs, under Frank Chance, back in 1906, 1907 and 1908, of winning three league titles in a row, and, a fond dream, of making it three world's championships in succession—a new record. The players well know it, they are treated finely, and they'll play real ball.

The costly Bentley, for pitching, and O'Connell, for outfielding, should add much strength. It appears that Ryan, Nehf, Scott, McQuillan and Jonnard will do high-class hurling.

Frankly, the Giants ought to run along smoothly to win handily, but not so as to rob the race of much interest.

Pat Moran has a real ball club in the Reds, but it doesn't compare with the Giants in all-around strength, barring possibily, pitching. In Rixey, Donohue, Couch and Rube Benton, Don Patrick has four fine hurlers. The first three topped the league last season.

Jake Daubert's illness and Eddie Roush holding out will weaken the club. They may say in Cincinnati that Roush won't be missed, but it doesn't seem so. Fonseca can hit splendidly, but his fielding at first is not apt to be as good as Jake's, old as the latter is.

A veteran of 38, the age of Daubert, he is likely to suffer long from the effects of pneumonia.

Because of Benton's acquisition, and on the chance Roush and Daubert will be in the play in 1922 style, the Reds are ranked second.

Manager Bill McKechnie of the Pirates has got team spirit into the club. He is well liked, and the players are behaving. Schmidt, a great handler of catchers, and a brainy player, is contented, and this will give the Pirates much strength. Schmidt held out for months last season, and the pitchers worried, and it had a bad effect all around. Reb Russell, who came in last midseason, bids fair to keep up his murderous hitting, instrumental in giving the club batting leadership in 1922.

All fine things, the foregoing. Also, the Pirates have, on paper, the best hurling corps in the league. But it is mostly a veteran one, particularly as regards Babe Adams and Cooper, and may not stand up. Because of this doubt, and because Maranville, at short, does not assay as good as of old, fielding or hitting, we are inclined to place the Pirates third.

The Cubs, a young, fighting team, from Manager Bill Killifer down, will be troublesome, but they do not as yet rank with the Giants, Reds and Pirates. A year or two, and they ought to be real pennant contenders. As it is, they have a chance, but it seems safer to rank them a first division possibility.

The Cardinals, under Branch Rickey, have been bolstered by Hy Myers in center and Bottomley at first. Shortstop is dubious, good as the veteran Lavan looks in exhibitions, after fine conditioning on the oriental tour. The biggest problem, though, is pitching. Rickey hopes for much from old Toney, who has worked hard getting in trim, but he must remain an uncertain quantity until he proves otherwise. Pfeffer and Sherdell, of the rest of the hurlers, seem the only ones fairly dependable.

The Cardinals, as of old, are likely to play bang-up ball in spurts, and then drop off, as pitching fails them. They are not a pennant contender, in our opinion, but only a first division prospect.

Manager Fred Mitchell of the Braves, saw his "dark horse" club going to pieces with injuries last season, 11 men being injured within a short period, but this year naturally does not expect such a calamity, and, furthermore, has many highly promising newcomers. On the chance McNamara and Cooney deliver in pitching, along with Watson and Fillingim, as a guess, the Braves should make a hard fight for fourth place. They are a hustling, peppy team, and if they get going, may be hard to stop.

Christy Mathewson's association with the club, as president, is likely to have a fine psychological effect.

Every Pitcher in American Camping on Ruth's Trail

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKY.

New York, April 15.—Babe Ruth may be pictured as a Buffalo with a pack of wolves after him.

The players of opposing teams, particularly pitchers, are wolves snapping at his haunches. Up in the stands and bleachers are thousands of wolves, yelping and howling.

They pursue him relentlessly, and are only thwarted when he gets a homer. This throws them back momentarily, but they are up and at him in a twinkling.

Every game, the Babe has to face it all over again, on a long trail of 154 games, reaching away from mid-April to early October.

Imagine Babe, the buffalo, facing these menaces:

Every hurler trying with all cunning and strength to slay him.

Every outfielder playing far back trying to outgeneral him.

Every manager, leader of each particular bunch of wolves, trying to outguess him.

Thousands and thousands of fans, by some strange twist of nature, ready to rend him limb from limb if he fails.

It is a situation of surpassing interest.

Babe's weapons against the pack are:

Great shoulders and bulk, co-ordination of mind and muscle in a herculean follow-through swing, a big bat, and confidence in himself.

He may be said to be lean and primed for the race. He now weighs 205 pounds stripped, lighter than in six years.

He says:

"I feel confident I can get 60 homers if they'll pitch to me."

From inquiries at training camps, in a recent tour down south, it strikes us that pitchers will pitch to Babe. They do not fear him as of old, because of his debacle last season.

Babe is now on the eve of his break into the big league reservation, where the wolves are, and whether he will win or lose is about as great in interest as his wonder climb to the heights in 1921 with 59 homers.

Great drama centers in the Babe and his battle, and the lure of it reaches country-wide. It would seem a safe bet, from the talk we've heard in towns and cities in the south, on Pullman trains, and up here in the north, that the Ruth question ranks with any in America today in general interest.

There is always drama in a man achieving greatness and then falling away, attempting to come back. Baseball has never known such interest in an individual before; only the prize ring stirred people so.

We have marvelled often at a real Ruthian homer, particularly a couple of years or so back, when there was novelty in them.

The bat met the ball, and it went up and up, far and away, a speck in the vault of the sky. A great roar swelled in the park. It was near-hysteria, if not actually hysteria.

The combination of primitive strength and the nicety of timing, the doing of things not done before, gripped the multitude, gathered from far and near.

Ruth, heard the cheers in those days; he was idolized. He fell from the pinnacle, and the rabble were at him. He was hurt, chagrined, wounded. But he is tenacious. That's one thing about him, and he seeks glory again.

Only time and ball games can tell how he will make out.

Holloway Stable at Ak Field

Tom Holloway, former trainer of the Charlie B. Irwin stable of runners, and the one who conditioned Rifle for the James W. Cofforth handicap at Tisjuana in 1921 and 1922 when the bangtail place second both times, arrived in Omaha last week.

Holloway has a stable of his own this season and has reserved stalls at Ak-Sar-Ben track so that he can have plenty time training his horses. The star of the Holloway stable is Alledane, a 4-year-old gelding.

Word was received at Ak-Sar-Ben offices yesterday that Charlie Jones of Thomas, Okl., will ship nine head of runners to Ak field early next month. E. E. Stillman of Denver has asked for stalls at Ak field.

The Ak-Sar-Ben race meeting starts June 3 and ends June 23.
