

Nelson and Stout Deny Taking Part in 'Blue Car' Raids

Pair, Held in Solitary Confinement, Claim They Were Absent From City on Night of Holdups.

Pete Nelson and Arthur Stout returned Saturday from St. Joseph, Mo., in connection with the series of hold-ups a week ago Thursday night by the "blue car" bandits, denied to detectives all knowledge of the crime.

Nelson declared he was at Tekamah, Neb., the day of the holdup, and a check by police showed that he slept that night at a house in Millard, Neb.

A barber at Forty-eighth street and Military avenue told police that he shaved Nelson the day following the holdup and that he had a three-days' growth of beard.

Stout maintains his innocence. Both men are being held in solitary confinement. Police have denied them access to newspapers, and have refused to permit them to have razors with which to shave.

Both men declared that on the night of the holdup they were on their way to St. Joseph, where they planned to obtain an automobile load of liquor. They said they did not know Roy Smith, who has confessed to complicity in the holdup.

Tram Car Severs Foot of Boy, 6; Girl Hit by Auto

Unidentified Motorist Speeds Away After Striking Dorothy Wilds, Whose Skull Is Fractured.

Two children, one 6 and the other 9, were seriously injured in accidents late Saturday afternoon. The left foot of Andrew Mauerdl, 6, 2503 Pierce street was severed when he stumbled and fell under the rear truck of a street car at Twenty-fourth and Pierce streets. Dorothy Wilds, 812 Twenty-ninth avenue, suffered a fracture at the base of the skull when she was run down by an unidentified motorist in front of her grandmother's home at 2220 North Nineteenth street.

Andrew was playing in the street near his home at the time of his accident. He had been running beside street cars as they passed his home for nearly an hour. Then a street car driven by motorman No. 468, going south, passed and the little boy began to run alongside. When he was about even with the center of the car he slipped and fell under the rear truck.

Motorist Sees Accident.

Arthur S. Sorneson, president of the Equitable Life Insurance company, 1229 North Nineteenth street, was passing the place in his machine at the time and saw the accident. He is the only witness. The motorist did not know the street car hit the boy until Mr. Sorneson overtook him one block away.

By the time Sorneson had returned to the scene of the accident Andrew's parents had arrived. He took the little boy and the parents to St. Joseph hospital. Physicians declared that the boy's foot would have to be amputated.

Driver Speeds Away.

Dorothy Wilds was removed to Swedish Mission hospital suffering from a fractured skull after she had been run down by an unidentified motorist a short time later. She had been visiting at the home of Lucille Root, 2229 North Nineteenth street, where a birthday party for Lucille was given. She had stepped from the sidewalk during a game the children were playing just as the machine came along. She attempted to jump back out of the way but was unable.

The motorist looked back after he had driven half a block, Mrs. A. C. Cohen, 2215 North Nineteenth street, a witness to the accident, said. After seeing that the little girl was lying in the street he put on more speed. The little girl was adopted five weeks ago by Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wilds. She and her twin brother, Donald, also adopted by the Wilds, were visiting friends they had made while living with their grandmother, Mrs. U. G. Graham.

Feminist Leaders Visiting in Omaha

the finger of her right hand. It is a large emerald, the band of the ring encrusted with diamonds.

"Did you give up your career for marriage?" she was asked.

"Indeed I did not. Ever since we came back from Paris in October, I have been making speeches in New York for the new feminist program to make women equal to men before the law and in custom."

"So you think a woman can have both a home and a career?"

"Yes, in fact," said Miss Stevens, "a woman's love chances are much better if she doesn't give her identity, if she has some outside interest. She won't get tired of her husband, nor he of her."

At this point Mother Stevens, who had been beaming love and admiration on her daughter, could contain herself no longer.

Admirers Many.

"Doris had lots of admirers when she was scarcely out of high school," she said, "and when they got too persistent, she would tell them all they were just friends and she didn't intend to get married for a long, long time."

Doris laughed and reached over and took hold of her mother's arm.

"Now, mother, mother," she protested. "You see she's just like all mothers. Well, I did hold off from marriage quite a while and I'm glad I did."

Miss Stevens is about 35, but looks no more than 25.

She will leave tonight to join her husband in New York. They will sail next Saturday on the Olympic for Paris.

Mr. Malone's law practice in New York and Europe brings him an enormous income.

"We have our home in Westchester, just outside of New York, and an apartment in Paris," said Mrs. Malone—er—pardon, Miss Stevens. "I believe in making housekeeping just as practical as possible and won't have an establishment that requires more than two servants to keep up," she concluded.

Forest Fires Menace Gas and Powder Stores

By International News Service. Pottsville, Pa., April 21.—More than 50 forest fires were raging in this part of the anthracite coal region today. Steps were being taken to prevent the fires from igniting a coal vein which crops out on the surface, because such blazes are hard to extinguish. At Minersville, a large quantity of gasoline was saved from the approaching fire.

Scranton, Pa., April 21.—Forest fires are wiping out great tracts of timber land on the East mountain near here tonight. State foresters, aided by hundreds of volunteers, have been fighting forest fires for 48 hours at a stretch. Scranton police today quelled fires which crept dangerously near the Maloney Home for the Aged at Dunmore, near here.

Rome Labor Day Marked by Huge Fascisti Ovation

National Militia Troops Reviewed by Premier Mussolini—20,000 Syndicate Workers in Parade.

Rome, April 21.—Labor day, in past years marked by rioting and bloodshed, today was the occasion of an enthusiastic ovation to the fascist government and its accomplishments.

Twenty thousand fascist of the national militia were reviewed by Premier Mussolini in Rome and took the oath of allegiance while 100,000 more went through a similar ceremony in other leading cities of the country. Mussolini, in the uniform of a fascist corporal rode a spirited sorrel horse and was accompanied on his right by general Armando Diaz, minister of war, and on his left by Signor De Bono, director-general of police.

As the review was taking place friends of the premier remarked that the composition of the fascist militia is the most tangible proof of the psychological change Mussolini has wrought in the minds of the people in that the majority of the militiamen are peasants whom even Garibaldi's influence did not succeed in arousing.

After Mussolini, the most cheers went to the war chaplain, Carletti, whose breast was covered with medals awarded for his exploits at the front. One of the decorations was in recognition of his bravery in taking command of a detachment of men, all of whose officers had been killed and leading them in a victorious charge.

One of the features of the day was the parading of the fascist syndicates, 20,000 workers taking part in the demonstration and cheering for Mussolini and fascism.

Woman Stricken at Daughter's Party

Mrs. Anna Marie Hemmingsen, 44, wife of John Hemmingsen, 2017 South Eleventh street, Council Bluffs, died of heart disease at 9 last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sena Kelsen, 1904 South Eleventh street, where she had gathered with other relatives to celebrate Mrs. Kelsen's 26th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Hemmingsen, one of several who had been enjoying the evening's festivities, had taken a few dance steps when she was stricken. She complained of sudden illness and was assisted to the front porch, where she died immediately. Dr. Harry D. Kelly pronounced death due to heart disease.

Mrs. Hemmingsen had been in unusually good health and remarked about her health just before she began dancing.

The death of Mrs. Hemmingsen brought an abrupt halt to the joyous rapture over the occasion of the wedding anniversary. Two other daughters of Mrs. Hemmingsen, Mrs. Martin Nelson and Mrs. Andrew Madison, and her two sons, Hans and Axel Hemmingsen, with their families, were at the party.
