Former Omaha Girl Designs Brick

When a woman wins a prize for face brick design, one decides that there is nothing in the field of arts and crafts that woman cannot do.

Ruth Cook Gerth, daughter of R. W. Cook of Omaha, has been awarded "the first prize of $500 in the American Face Brick association's competition for the best designs for face brick work for the grounds or garden of a residence."

Ruth Cook Gerth.

Mrs. Gerth was graduated from Central High school here about 8 years ago. She studied architectural drafting in Omaha for a year and then went to the Art Institute, Chicago, where she specialized in design and color.

Minneapolis is now her home where she and her husband, William H. Gerth, are "consultants and designers in decorative art."

Book plates, greeting cards, war medals, designs for decorative materials, furniture and lighting fixtures special furniture, drapery materials and fixtures have all come in the range of Mrs. Gerth's work. She has done considerable lecturing for women's organizations. She has just been commissioned to design and supervise the lighting installation of a new $2,500,000 university library building, and she won first and second prizes in a recent Cloister Clock Competition.

The news of Mrs. Gerth's award for brick design, faces a page in "Pencil Points," a journal for the drafting room, which announces the formation of a Chicago Woman's Drafting club. Miss E. A. Martini, the president, is the only licensed woman architect in that city. The members are actively engaged as "draftsmen."

There have been women draftsmen in Omaha but most of them have moved on east where positions are easier to find. The outstanding school for them in the country is at Cambridge, Mass., at the Cambridge School of Architecture and Landscape Architecture. This school draws on Harvard professors for some of the instruction. One hundred girls are enrolled there. The Chicago Art Institute is the nearest school. A four year course is necessary to completely cover the professional requirements.

"Women are as good architectural draftsmen as men," according to Alan McDonald, local architect, "better in some respects, where interiors are involved, for example." Salaries in this profession run all the way from $25 to $80 a week.

Honey Ice Cream

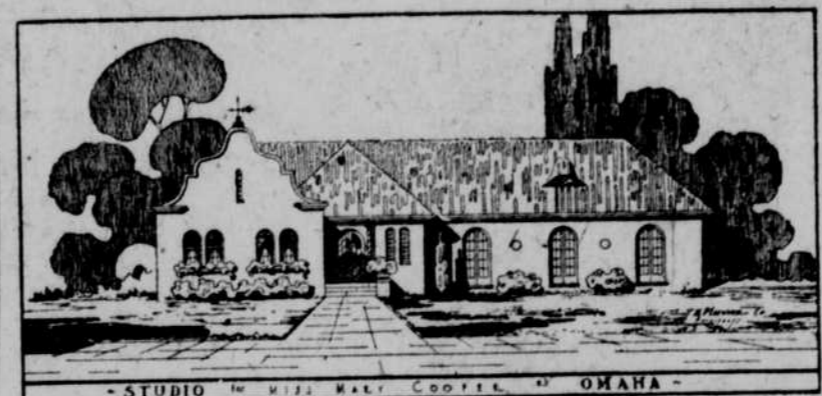

Heat five cups of rich milk and stir in two ounces of cornstarch which has been moistened with a little cold milk and a quarter of a teaspoon of salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until well thickened, then cook for eight minutes. Remove from the fire, add 19 ounces of strained honey, any preferred flavoring, and when cold fold in half a pint of double cream, whipped solid. Freeze slowly as for any ice cream. This recipe, although it uses very little cream and no eggs, gives an ice cream that is deliciously smooth and very rich.

Brings Back the Lustrous

In the spring the gold or silver trimmings begin to look a trifle passé. Place a cloth over the trimming and pass a warm iron over it gently for a few minutes and the brightness will return.

New Cooper Studio to Be Art Center

A most attractive studio will be that of Miss Mary Cooper on Forty-first street, between Farnam and Dodge. Construction has already begun and it will be completed by October 1.

According to T. H. Maenner, the architect, the building will be of Spanish mission type with an auditorium 40 by 70 feet. The entrance doorway will be of wrought iron grill work, typical of early Spanish mission style. The main gable will be carried out with a graceful coping and the arched windows will be in pairs. Rough cast plaster tinted in variegated tans will be used and an elevated floor arrangement, making the building suitable for use as a little theater. Miss Cooper will spend the summer in New York studying with Miss Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, also with Dalcroze, who has worked out a system of eurhythmics, or visualization of music. Before her departure she will present her older girls in a benefit recital, May 25 and 26.

Election of Mrs. Smith Ratified by D. A. R.

The election of Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary Smith of Chadron as state regent of the D. A. R. in Nebraska, was confirmed yesterday at Washington, D. C., by the national body.

The Chadron chapter, to which Mrs. Smith belongs, is named the Rev. Reuben Pickett chapter, and Mrs. Smith is the great-granddaughter of Rev. Pickett. It was he, an evangelist, who, when conducting a prayer meeting October 7, 1780, at Kings Mountain, S. C., heard the roar of a cannon and shouted: "Brethren, this is no time to pray; get your guns." The battle which followed is called the turning point of the revolution. Mrs. Smith traces back to Capt. William Pickett, who sailed from England in 1609 and settled in Virginia. She is a member of the first families of Virginia. She is a colonial dame, a descendant of Daniel Brainerd, one of the founders of Haddam, Conn., and is also a member of the Founders and Patriots of America.

Mrs. Smith has been president of Nebraska State Library association and is now head of the library department.

"Most of my patients are slowly poisoning themselves"

"It's amazing how many people are constipated and don't know it!"

A prominent physician was speaking. "It is always amazing to me," he said, "to discover how many of my patients are slowly poisoning themselves with constipation—many of them people who never realize that they are constipated at all."

Everyone knows that the "waste" which clogs the intestines must be removed regularly. If not—it turns to deadly poisons that escape into the blood and flood your whole system.

Yet nowadays there are fewer and fewer people who do not suffer from constipation. Instead of the raw foods of the forest for which our bodies were built, modern civilization demands a more delicate, concentrated diet which lets the intestinal muscles get soft and flabby. They fail to remove the waste completely—a poisonous residue is left in the intestines. Then, little by little, we begin to suffer from all the ills of constipation—premature age, loss of appetite and vitality, skin disorders, indigestion, etc.

Restoring thousands of sufferers to perfect normal health

Medical science knows that drugs and cathartics are useless in getting rid of the trouble—indeed, they actually weaken the intestinal muscles and make matters worse.

That is why so many physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast today.

Every cake of Fleischmann's fresh yeast consists of millions of tiny living plants, which soften and increase the bulk of the waste matter, and gently encourage even the weakest muscles to act. Every such action gives the muscles normal, natural exercise—something that violent cathartics and purges can never do—and so gradually trains them back to a healthy, active state.

Hundreds of thousands of men and women are finding in Fleischmann's Yeast the key to freedom from all the evils of constipation.

Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast—yeast in its natural fresh form. Recent experiments have shown that yeast corrects constipation only when its cells are alive and active, and that it loses its laxative effect when these cells are "killed" and dried.

Fleischmann's Yeast, like any other food, must be eaten regularly to secure results. Eat two or three cakes a day—plain, or dissolved in water, milk or fruit juices—preferably half an hour before a meal, or the last thing at night. Get several cakes at a time—they will keep several days in a cool, dry place. Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast! All grocers have it.

Send for free booklet, "The New Found Value of Fleischmann's Yeast in Building Health." The Fleischmann Company, 701 Washington Street, New York.
