Let's Shopping with Polly

Oh, it's spring once more in France, and it's spring in But I hear a whisper steady, blowing down my own gay Algiers, home stream, And it's spring along the happy Appian Way; Full of all the glad romance I used to know; There are cherries in Japan, and the thrushes' joy and tears, "Leave the lands beyond to others; Our wee woodfolk are your brothers; And the earth is bursting treasure" So I go. Pipe for England, "There is nowhere such a day!" How the call rings clear, commanding: "Hurry over, When the wander-urge is on me, there are never bonds that hold, To the date-tree and the banyan's dim domain; When the summons comes, it never comes in vain; To the Yangtze and the Yalu, where the bell-topped But the foreign trails are either far too new or far temples are; And remember there are castles left in Spain." Give me April in my native woods again!

If Colorful, the Graduating Dress May Serve as Bridesmaid's Gown

SEVERAL of my girl friends have been included in the wedding plans of "best chums" this spring, and they're planning to buy a graduating dress of color which will serve in the rainbow tinted bridal procession as a flowerlike bridesmaid's frock. "Happy the bride the sun shines on," happy also the bride whose maids and tiny flower girls make a foil of delicate color for her own exquisite beauty. Have just heard of a "Bride's Book" which may be obtained for a small sum, a detailed description of a wedding party lovely enough to have advanced under the arching trees of fairyland, trousseau hints, gifts for the attendants, linen needs, in fact, everything the bride usually asks of her shopping lady.

Ribbons and Lace Decorate the Girl Graduates Dream Frock of Sheer Chiffon and Georgette.

FAMILIAR with the dreams of girlhood must be the one who designed the exquisite gowns for the graduate on display at Hayden's, for they're lavishly frilled with fine laces, gleamingly ruffled in ribbons of lustrous loveliness. Georgettes and chiffons in tints of rare velvet, coral, shell pink, jade and Lavin green, tangerine and the naturtium shadings all fashioned over silk slips and alluringly girlish in modeling. From the flower petal frilled affair with braided ribbon giridia to the very plain frock which depends for its beauty upon the fineness of the handwoven work on blouse and skirt. Equally lovely frocks in all white are shown at the same prices.

Real Pearls the Gift Supreme for Girl Graduate.

ALBERT EDHOLM, art jeweler, 2nd floor, City National Bank Bldg., 16th and Harney, presents for the viewing of the jewel lover: dainty 15-inch necklaces of real pearls, ideal gift offering for the girl graduate. Of a peculiarly lovely luster the pearls are of a beauty to delight both the girlish recipient and her donor, a truly wonderful "buy" at $50. An "heirloom" gift for it is particularly fitting that this spring's girl graduate should give her pearls to her daughter, to add to the beauty of another girlish throat in the years to come.

New Fur Storage Vault in Well-Known Store.

THOMSON-BELDEN'S have installed a new cold storage vault for furs in their store where your furs and fur-trimmed wraps and suits may be stored after a thorough cleaning and repairing. If desired, the fur experts in the department will remodel your peltries after the models of the advance style season.

Pleated Panels Knotted Into Girdles, New Decorative Note

THE Ideal Button & Pleating company, third floor Brown block, Sixteenth and Douglas, is doing literally "oceans of pleating," one of the most noticeable of the new uses of graceful pleating being the narrow pleated panels extending from each shoulder to headline with loops knotted into the girdle of the same material or lustrous satin ribbon gracefully wide. When you're having your figured or flowered chiffon frock outlined in beads, remember that the more bizarre the colors of the beads, the more up-to-the-minute the effect achieved. A season of lavish decoration.

Flower Shop a Busy Place Now That Social Activities are Resumed.

THE John Bath Flower Shop, 15th and Farnam, is always busy, especially now that spring entertaining has again begun. Mrs. K. must have just her own favored shade of roses for the club luncheon, Miss T. the correct corsage favors for formal dinner. Memorandum for anniversary flowers for this one, blossoms of a just right gayness for the shut-in at the hospital. Busy, efficiently so.

"Assured and Insured"—Statement Made by Experienced Owner of Scientific Dry Cleaning Plant.

"TELL them that when they send their cleaning, dye-work and repair jobs to Dresher Bros., that they are assured and insured," was the amusing statement made by Mr. A. Dresher, one of the "brothers," a man experienced in every stage of the scientific cleaning and dye work done in his establishment. "They are assured of the very best cleaning possible to human accomplishment by means of highly perfected machinery, insured against failure of processes." Call AT. 0345 for immediate delivery service.

Ask for the Business Book Club List.

THE books purchased at the Mat. Thews Book Store, 1512 Harney, will list your Business Book Club, a list of books which will be sent to you upon request. Mrs. Matthews planned the list with the idea in mind that it would carry an appeal to every member of the institution to which it is submitted, men, women and office boys. One of our latest inspirations is to add to each list such books with reference to the particular business in question as might be of interest to the progressive spirits in the organization. Write for details in regard to the working plans of the Business Book Club.

Modish Models for the Larger Woman, Young and Old, Exponents of Season's Most Stylish Novelties

BURGESS-NASH department of apparel for the larger woman is a delightful place to find modish models for both young and old. Mrs. Rogers, who has recently come to Omaha from the east to take charge of the department, is full of enthusiasm for a solving of the larger woman's dress problems, and truly, one decides after viewing the loveliness on display, she has purchased wisely and well. The season's best silk products find a place in the gowns for afternoon and evening wear, the novelties in textile manufacture in the costumes for sports occasions, wraps of wool and silk, separate skirts for sweater wear, all in a size range of from 18 1/2 to 22 1/2. Perhaps the most appealing feature of the new season's showing is the same style details embodied in the large models which one sees in the smaller models. Very smart is the gray bloused, three-piece suit of navy blue, size 48. Pleated in brilliant blue of a slightly different shade is a sand and blue figured chiffon, the following of the figure in beads serving to weight the pleated panels, size 42 1/2. For the young, big woman, the orchid gown with corsage of velvet, 40 1/2, the new and vivid green of spring in beaded chiffon for early club wear, under fur collared silk wrap, Unusual!

Tweed Suits Include Knickers for Good Measure—Afternoon and Evening Gowns Modishly Beaded

AT THE Edward Reynolds Shop, 1618 Farnam, Omaha, fashion followers will find well known friends and shopping counselors to aid in becoming selections. Grace Olsen will call to your delighted attention many details you may have overlooked in the tweed sport suits. One point which is of particular joy to her is the fact that there's a pair of knickers to be bought with your suit for hiking, riding, driving, climbing, and all kinds of jolly outdoor wear. Anna Fryer, whose graciousness has endeared her to you, is altogether "ravished" by the elaborate, beaded intricacies of madam's new beaded gown! She will supply a gown for every need of spring and summer from the extensive stock.

Specialty Shop Buyer Returns From New York With Moderate Priced Sports Costumes of Pronounced Smartness.

LAMOND'S, 17th and Farnam, is aglow with the infinitely charming new sports costumes selected by Mr. Lamond on his recent trip to New York. Unbelievably moderate in price you'll find these chic creations, $29.50. Especially to be noted are the crepe knits in novelty weavings, the silk above all others to take the vivid colors of the dye experts. Tangerine is lovely when combined with the white afforded by pearl buttons placed in a row at one side of an accordion-pleated frill which extends from neckline to hem. Coral Kumra Kumra crepe in two shades, forming a plaid-pleated skirt, is striking contrast to a solid coral Crepe Rosha gown. Navy blue silk knit has chosen as its chief decorative note a knotted neck scarf which extends well below the waistline. Soft rose in an all-over design gives the desired color contrast to the somber blue beige, spring's most becoming fashion color, is the background in a long, straight lined dress whose tiny navy figures are emphasized by applied flying panels of navy blue down front and back. A host of lovely dresses.
