"A Fly's Ear" Munsey
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Chauncey Depew, confidential man of three generations of Vanderbilts, once president of the New York Central railroad and United States senator, yesterday celebrated his 89th birthday. President Harding and his wife sent congratulations; so did the King of England and his son.

Chauncey Depew explains his long life and good health, but doesn't give the real explanation, which is cheerfulness.

We kill ourselves with foolish eating and many foolish things. But above all, we poison ourselves with worry and ill temper. Depew has let the others worry, so his 89th birthday finds him well.

A great thing is a trade. Every wise man will teach his son or daughter some way to earn a living. That makes a child ready for whatever may happen.

Especially lucky are those that have their trade and workshop inside the brain. Paderevski, whose finger tips obey his mind, has earned $460,000 since November, an average of $7,000 for each of the 66 times he played in public.

Prof. Perry of Harvard suggests that, instead of wasting energy censoring, it would be a good idea to get the people to read a few books which a majority don't do now.

The Atlantic Monthly calls your attention to the fact that for $1 spent on books in the United States we spend $27 for chewing gum and $27 for perfume.

As for "immoral books," they are easily identified. Their authors and sellers should be jailed. Such books, however, do not seek the readers. When a woman told Doctor Johnson there were many improper words in his dictionary, his reply was, "Madam, I see that you have been looking for them."

The world's struggle is for oil. It is needed for ships, flying machines. It represents industry, power and safety. Americans, through the Chester grant, though, have secured great oil possibilities from the Turkish government. France and England object. There will be a row about it at Lausanne.

What chance does President Harding think this country would have to get oil from Mesopotamia if we were pushed into the world court and that court were allowed to decide the question for us?

In the language of Frank A. Munsey, "we wouldn't get enough oil to grease a fly's ear."

The world is horrified to read that in Moscow a young woman with thick bobbed hair, barely 20 years old, presided as judge and in a calm voice sentenced to death seven men for robbery with violence.

Citizeness Anna Gluzman is the name of the Russian. Of eight men, all young, Anna sentenced seven to death. One she let off with 10 years in jail, because he was only 18.

Our horror at the sight of a bobbed hair young lady, sentencing men to death, is merely habit. When an old gentleman with no hair at all sentences people to death we take it for granted. But what's the difference?

The judgment of the bobbed young woman may be as sound as that of the bald old man. Women are intuitively just.

Three hundred years ago the first folio of Shakespeare's plays appeared and the world is celebrating that event. Some mourn, because in London, where Shakespeare began his work, none of his plays is now on the boards. But that is not important. There have not been, all told, half a dozen actors or actresses fit to play Shakespeare, able to read his lines intelligently. Unless you can get more out of "Hamlet" with your own book and lamp than you could by listening to a young gentleman with handsome legs holding a skull in his hand and talking deep down in his chest, you don't get much out of Shakespeare.

Rabbi Silverman is distressed by modern marriage. Young people get married with a mental reservation, providing for "trial marriage," and he "could name names."

Civilization makes us want three things: "Wealth, power and pleasure," says the rabbi. Some try for a fourth, "self-approval."

Men have always struggled for wealth, power, pleasure. And in their struggling they have developed civilization, science, literature, everything worth while. Supreme wisdom uses our feeble, selfish desires to make us do useful work.

"Trial marriage," is nothing new. Every marriage was originally a trial marriage. We are gradually working up to permanent marriage. It's a long way off for the majority, because they are not fit for it—the men especially.

Howell Doubtful About Taking Trip With Weeks

Washington, April 24.—The itinerary of two transports, which will convey Secretary Weeks and a congressional party to Porto Rico, Panama, the Pacific coast, Honolulu and Alaska, were announced Monday at the War Department. The party will start from New York April 27. Senator R. B. Howell is among those listed to accompany Secretary Weeks.

United States Senator Howell stated last night that he probably will not be in a position to accompany Secretary Weeks and a congressional party on the proposed Atlantic and Pacific trip.

"There is so much to be done in regard to the administration of the Metropolitan Utilities district in Omaha," said the senator, "that I am undecided whether I will be able to go. Of course, I'd like to see the new 549-mile railroad the United States is building in Alaska, which is to be finished this summer. The two transports are scheduled to leave New York April 27 and reach San Francisco June 22. It will make a pleasant journey for those who can make it."

Iron Masters of France Demanding Ruhr Settlement

Lack of Fuel Causing Grave Losses in Industry—Strong Pressure Applied to Poincare.

By Universal Service
London, April 24.—Strong pressure is being brought to bear on Premier Poincare of France to force him to agree to a settlement of the Ruhr question, according to information gained from high diplomatic quarters last night.

The French iron masters, who have suffered grave losses through lack of fuel and have thus been forced to close down their operations largely, are leaders in the move to compel a change of policy in the French government.

Added to this pressure it is understood that General Degoutte, commander-in-chief in the Ruhr, has made a special request for an early adjustment, as he is afraid that the young troops now forming the bulk of his forces will get out of control. In order to avoid clashes the French military authorities have to enforce the strictest discipline. This has resulted in making the troops very restive.

Home Robbed of $3,500 Cash, Gems

Mrs. Louie Ahko Fails to Discover Loss for Two Hours.

The home of Mrs. Louie Ahko, 1417 Harney street, was robbed of more than $3,500 in cash and jewels Monday. One suitcase, in which the money had been hidden, and a small jewel case that had been put away in a dresser drawer, were taken.

Mrs. Ahko left her home shortly after 3 and did not return until 7. The burglar had been so careful that she did not notice that anything was missing until 9 when she went to get an article from the suitcase.

When a search of the apartment failed to reveal the suitcase, Mrs. Ahko called the police. The thief got eight $100 bills, seven $50 bills and 50 $20 bills, a three and one-half carat diamond mounted in a platinum setting and a set of diamond earrings. The diamonds in the earrings were about one carat, she said.

The burglar gained entrance through a window but is believed to have escaped through the front door.

Popular Party Members Quit Italian Cabinet

Premier Mussolini Far From Satisfied by Resignations—Charges Explanations Not Clear.

Rome, April 24.—Premier Mussolini has accepted the resignations of the cabinet ministers belonging to the popular party.

In a letter to Stefano Cavazzoni, accepting the resignations of the ministers, Premier Mussolini said: "If my government were the result of one of the customary or traditional parliamentary crises the resignation voted by the parliamentary group of the popular party might in some degree have satisfied me. Today it does not and you can easily understand the reasons."

"It is not worth my while to undertake the difficult task of interpreting a resolution voted by the most violent elements of the left. I asked for an explanation and find myself confronted with a rather obscure document which does not modify the substance of the vote taken by the congress at Turin, which, according to the evidence of the popular deputies who participated therein, was essentially an anti-fascist gathering."

The premier concludes by thanking Signor Cavazzoni and his colleagues, Under Secretaries Vassallo, Milani and Gronchi, for their sympathy in the past.

Prince Charles Max Linchnowsky, German ambassador to Great Britain at the outbreak of the world war, has just accepted employment as the manager of a cigaret factory at Baden-Baden.

Klan Disputants Settle Quarrel

Atlanta, Ga., April 24.—The controversy between William J. Simmons, emperor, and H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, for control of the Ku Klux Klan was ended today by compromise and the matter settled. On motion of attorneys for both parties, Judge E. D. Thomas dissolved the injunction whereby the affairs of the Klan had been placed under a commission consisting of Simmons, Evans and J. M. George, marshal of the municipal court.

Under the agreement Dr. Evans retains his post as imperial wizard and Colonel Simmons as emperor of the Klan. The agreement was reached by a committee of Klansmen appointed by both parties, who called independent counsel, non-members of the Klan.

Aged Des Moines Financier Convicted on Bank Charge

Des Moines, April 24.—J. W. Gregory, aged financier and former owner of the Cottage Grove Avenue bank, Des Moines, was found guilty of accepting deposits after his institution became insolvent, by a district court jury here Monday night. Gregory is scheduled to be sentenced May 3. The maximum penalty is 10 years imprisonment.

Life's Golden Hours

Think how much, with women, they depend on beauty. And how much beauty depends on complexion. Does it not seem impossible that any woman should neglect that charm?

Two aids to beauty have for ages held supreme place. They are palm and olive oils. Modern science combined them in Palmolive Soap and made them more effective. That soap has become the leading toilet soap of the world. And for millions it is keeping youthful bloom.

Note, less neglect

We can remember—many of us—when most women of 30 started to grow old. Not so today. Women keep their youth. They care for their complexions.

And more women do that with Palmolive Soap than with all other ways together.

Where it excels

Palmolive Soap was perfected by experts who had spent a lifetime in the study of facial soaps.

The basic oils are ages old, but never were they made so efficient. They are embodied in a penetrating soap, which goes to the depths of the pores. It cleans the skin of all its clogging matter, then softens and restores it.

A soap which has gained such world-wide fame deserves a test from you. And once you know it you will always use it.

So always

3,000 years ago, in Cleopatra's time, Egyptian beauties got their complexions through palm and olive oils. 2,000 years ago, Roman beauties used them. Science never has found, and never will find, anything else to compare with this. Or a better way to apply them than in Palmolive Soap.

Palm and olive oils—nothing else—give nature's green color to Palmolive Soap.
