

Hereford Steers

Bring Top Price, $9.40 a Hundred

Cattle Fattened on Straight Ration Lack 10 Cents of Market Top—Lamb's Sell at $14.65.

Three loads of choice Hereford steers were brought to the local stockyards yesterday by George A. Johnson of Bradstreet. The shipment averaged 1,100 pounds and was good enough to bring $9.30 a hundred, just 10 cents below the extreme top price paid for the day. Mr. Johnson said he fattened the cattle on a straight corn and alfalfa ration, after being started on a mixture of corn and finished off with shelled corn.

A shipment of 392 head of Navajo lambs was brought to the local market yesterday by William Morrow of Scottsbluff. They averaged 77 pounds and were sold for $14.65 a hundred, the top price for the day.

A shipment of 29 head of wellbred and nicely finished Hereford steers, averaging 1,363 pounds, was brought in yesterday by J. L. Johnson of Newman Grove and sold for the top price of the day of $9.40 a hundred. Mr. Johnson said it had been a late spring in his section and that the farmers were hurrying to catch up. He said they had most of the small grain in, but that very little plowing had been done for crops and that the corn would be late.

The feeder movement showed up well at the stockyards last week, according to official records, with a total of 5,600 head being sent out, of which 3,087 head were distributed in Nebraska; 2,267 head in Iowa; 136 head in Illinois, and 119 head in Missouri.

The shipment of feeder sheep was rather small with 676 head being sent out through Nebraska and 280 head in Iowa. Week before last 4,909 cattle were sent out and the last week of April last year, 5,094 head were sent out, while 2,682 of sheep were sent out week before last and the last week of April, last year, 2,359 head went out.

Man to Be Tried in Girardi Death

Red Oak Farmer Faces First Degree Murder Charge in Slaying of Omahan.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Red Oak, Ia., May 1.—With the convening of the May term of the district court here today, interest was revived in the forthcoming trial of John Stewart, farmer, charged with first degree murder in connection with the slaying, on the night of January 23, of Albert Girardi, Omaha butcher and egg buyer, whose body was found in his car on a lonely road near Red Oak.

George Austin, Stewart's hired man, confessed to authorities that he was implicated in the killing and is now serving a life sentence at Fort Madison, Ia. He will be returned as a witness at the Stewart trial.

Stewart pleaded not guilty on a technicality.

Austin, in his confession, told of a fight on the Stewart farm, over 10 gallons of whisky, in which Girardi was struck on the head with a king pin.

Date for the Stewart trial was expected to be assigned today.

Armour-Morris Merger

Hearing Is Opened

Kansas City, Mo., May 1.—Armour & Co., and Morris & Co., packers, purchased and slaughtered 41,490 head of all cattle, hogs and sheep handled by the Kansas City Stockyards company in 1922, according to figures presented in a hearing instituted by the Department of Agriculture to determine the status of the purchase by the Armour interests, of Morris holdings.

The hearing resulted from a complaint issued by Henry C. Wallace, secretary of the department of agriculture, charging the two companies with violation of the packers and stockyards act.

Charles E. Collins, Carson, Colo., a ranchman, who said he had sold as many as 9,000 head of cattle yearly, sought to prove in his testimony that consolidation of the two packing companies would reduce competition and affect prices on livestock.

Traffic Manager of U. P.

Urges Lower Rate on Wool

Salt Lake City, May 1.—Hearings by representatives of the Interstate Commerce commission on petitions for readjustment of rates on wool shipments in western states opened here with a statement by F. W. Robinson, freight traffic manager of the Union Pacific railroad, that "the railroad rates must be lowered in order to meet water competition."

Mr. Robinson, who was the first witness to testify, was still on the stand when the hearing closed today. He declared that the rate on wool of $2.70 a hundred pounds, which is under suspension pending the investigation, was announced before the latest reduction on water lines.

Humane Body Holds Horse Against Will of Owner

Barney Google and his brown-eyed "Sparkie" may have their troubles, but Dock Loyd, who resides at 271 1/2 Cumings street, firmly believes that he and his horse, "Frankie," have the comic strip favorites cheated when it comes to being magnets for bad luck.

Dock was peacefully driving "Frankie" along the street the other afternoon, looking for a load of ashes or tin cans to haul, when a humane officer approached. The officer insisted on taking "Frankie" to the animal shelter at Twenty-first and Izard streets for treatment.

Since then, Dock says, the humane officers have become attached to "Frankie" and won't part with him. Dock goes farther and states to the wide, wicked world that unless the humane society gives him back his brown-eyed "Frankie" there won't be any food in the Loyd household.

Dock is about 40 years old. Humane officers declare the horse is about the same age. Dock heatedly denies this, insisting that "Frankie" is quite young and even colts at times. In rebuttal, humane officers declare "Frankie" is not only old but decrepit, that his knees are wobbly and that he shouldn't be permitted to work anymore.

"I treat 'Frankie' like a member of the family," asserted Dock. "When we're short of food he eats first. Every night I kiss him goodnight. We bake extra loaves of bread to feed him and I comb his hair like I would my own."

Dock has consulted the law firm, O'Brien and Powers, and the firm is planning to file a writ of replevin against the Nebraska Humane society unless the horse is returned to its owner. Dock says he paid $30 for the horse last fall, and that he has been making a good living for his wife, mother-in-law and three children since then by hauling.

Welcome W. Bradley of the Humane society remains adamant, however, declaring the horse shouldn't be worked in its present condition.

Failure to Aid Negro Deplored

Colored People Have Served in Every U. S. War, Says Congressman Dyer.

Charging that the United States had helped the Filipino native, a member of the colored race, and has refused to aid the colored people in its own confines, L. C. Dyer, congressman from Missouri and author of the Dyer anti-lynching bill, addressed the Omaha chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People in the council chamber of the city hall Monday night.

The bill which he is the author was passed by the house last session and killed by the senate. He says the bill will be the first to be considered by his committee, the judiciary, at the opening of the next session.

He deplored the small number of regulars in the Omaha chapter of the association and said he noticed several ministers were evidently working against the aims of the society by not belonging.

"The negro," stated Mr. Dyer, "has been in every war of the United States from the revolution to the last war, and has served his country as well as the white man. If the government can ask the negro to fight it must see that he has protection in every state in the union. The anti-lynching bill would make it compulsory to indict any or all members of a mob participating in a lynching. When that bill is passed, America will no longer be looked upon by the world as the one nation where mob rule is not punished."

Tariff Reduction on Feeder Cattle Asked

Washington, May 1.—Investigation of the tariff duties on stock and feeder cattle with a view to an adjustment that will aid the cattle feeders in the United States who depend to some extent on Canadian sources of supply was asked of the tariff commission in a brief filed by the American Farm Bureau federation. At the same time the Pennsylvania federation and the Illinois Agricultural association filed briefs urging that the present duty on the two classes of cattle be reduced the full 50 per cent permitted by the flexible provisions of the tariff law.

Plans to Reorganize Parcel Post Service Under Consideration

Washington, May 1.—A general reorganization of the plan of handling parcel post packages which would revolutionize the whole service, is under investigation by the Postoffice department. It would provide for the sorting and distributing of the larger packages at warehouses adjacent to railroad stations and possibly for special types of railway cars to carry them.

Under the plan proposed by Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, parcel post packages except those smaller than a standard cigar box and perishable goods such as one day old chicks, would be separated from the regular mail and handled at the warehouse. Such a course, it is explained, would conserve expensive postoffice space, economize on motor vehicle expense, eliminate double hauls and speed delivery. The regular mail service would benefit in a like ratio.

Which Woman Cared?

You see two women, young in years, as youth is counted now. One looks aged—one retains her girlhood bloom.

You know that one neglected her complexion—the other gave it care.

Caring means mainly this:

Use a soap that penetrates the pores. Keep the skin clean to its depths. Use a soap that restores, softens and fosters the skin texture.

That means Palmolive

That means Palmolive Soap—made by experts who have devoted their lives to the study of facial soap.

Made by experts so successful that their soap has become the leading toilet soap of the world.

Made to bring to the skin the matchless effects of palm and olive oils.

Forget the price

Many women feel that higher prices buy them better soaps. They do not. Science has never created a better or purer skin soap than Palmolive.

Men have never found, in all the ages, skin helps that compare with palm and olive oils.

No one has learned a way to make them more effective.

Millions of beautiful women know what they owe to Palmolive. Ask those you know, and you will do what they have done.

The age-old cosmetics

Cleopatra used palm and olive oils 3,000 years ago. Roman beauties used them 2,000 years ago. In all the centuries since then, science has never found a complexion help to compare with those ancient oils.
