Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The new home in the maple tree. Never ask a lady's reason. You're bound to find it in due season. Had you watched Drummer the Woodpecker and Mrs. Drummer making their home over in the tree by the Long Lane you would have thought that they were working about as hard and fast as they could, but had you seen them at work in the maple tree by Farmer Brown's house you would have thought they had taken matters very easily before.

"You seem to be in a dreadful hurry to get back to work," grumbled Drummer.

"I think I will sleep in here tonight," said she a little wearily.

"All right, my dear," agreed Drummer, although he thought it a little queer. So he left her there and went off alone to his secret place to spend the night. The next morning he was back bright and early. But early as he was, Mrs. Drummer was up and outside waiting for him. Together they flew over to the old Orchard to hunt for their breakfast. Mrs. Drummer seemed excited about something. Before he had had half enough to eat she was urging him to go back to their new home in the maple tree.

Take Hood's for fifty years a spring tonic

Demands of modern life often bring about a weakened or debilitated condition of the blood generally resulting in defective nutrition and in a run-down condition of the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is needed to sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the blood and keep the digestive and assimilative functions healthy and active. There is nothing so good as Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It restores normal appetites, brings restful nights, and tones up the entire system. Ask your druggist. The tonic for that tired feeling.

After 7 Years of Suffering She Got Well by Taking Cardui Which She Found "The Right Medicine."

New Orleans, La.—"I am in the best of health," writes Mrs. Lucien Jacobs, of 2223 Marais street, this city. But some time ago, Mrs. Jacobs found herself in a condition which she described as follows: "When my baby was about five weeks old, I caught cold, and was a very sick woman from that time. I was unable to do my work. I did not know what it was to feel well a day. I spent money, I tried everything, and to think I suffered and suffered for seven long years, just the shadow of a woman hanging on, not fit to do anything, just a bunch of nerves, aches and pains. I had awful hurtings in my back sides. I could not rest at night. I would hear of something, take it, and feel better for a little while—then back to my old aches, someone else doing my work. "Someone told me of Cardui, and as I had tried so many things that had failed, I tried it with little faith. I soon found it was helping me, first my nerves, then I began to gain strength. I knew then I had found the right medicine. I took it faithfully, and I grew well and strong—the nice part of it, I stayed that way and grew stronger and stronger."
