

Harding to Push World Court Fight

President Emphasizes Opinion U. S. Cannot Remain Aloft From International Politics; Old Order Changed.

Plans Plea to People

By Universal Service.
Washington, May 4.—President Harding, at today's cabinet meeting, emphasized his opinion that the United States no longer could maintain a position of aloofness from world politics.

At the conclusion of the cabinet conference it was said that his statement of a few days ago that he does not propose to conduct "propaganda" for the world court during the summer had been misunderstood.

It was stressed that the president had no intention of reaching the policy which was referred to as "the big issue" in speeches he will make this summer on his western trip.

As the cabinet members left the White House, world court talk befogged the situation to the exclusion of other topics.

To Lay Plan Before People.
If it ever had been intended to subordinate the issue of involving America in world alliances, this view has been reversed and it will be carried before the people, it was made plain. This one distinction was brought out. It is not to be a personal question with the president, but with the party of which he is the head.

He will advocate the court as a means of meeting obligations to the world and carrying out "campaign pledges." It was submitted to the senate on this basis, it is said, and it will go before the people in the same name.

The fact that the senate is not in session and will not be for eight months makes the situation "less acute" but does not change the administration's intention to keep it before the public.

Why Tut's Face May Remain Hidden.

Do strange occult forces lurk within the tomb of the Pharaoh, Tutankham, waiting to greet with death those who attempt to probe the secrets of the sarcophagus? The superstitious Egyptians believe this is true and so great are their fears that it is now believed the seals on the inner tomb will remain unviolated forever. In the magazine section of The Omaha Sunday Bee.

Would You Like to Live 100 Years?

Statistics reveal that there are in the United States more than 1,500 persons who have passed the century mark. How would you like to reach such a ripe old age? It's easy enough, according to Stephen Leacock, who explains just how to do it in a highly amusing story in the magazine section of The Omaha Sunday Bee.

Real Romance? Find It in the Ads.

How do you like your literature. Do you thrill when proud little Beth is rescued from the clutches of the monstrous millionaire? O. O. McIntyre doesn't. He registers contentment, as they say in movie circles, when reading the saucy pleadings of the copy lads who, as he says, can weave romance around a hang-nail. A naively humorous story that is distinctly different. In the magazine section of The Omaha Sunday Bee.

Gigolo—Say It Zho-lo.

A swiftly moving story of youth is this yarn by that famous storyteller, Edna Ferber. A story that grips and thrills you and holds your interest from the first paragraph to the last. The second story in The Omaha Sunday Bee's new series of Sunday magazine fiction.

All the News and Always First.

The Omaha Sunday Bee is the only Sunday newspaper in Nebraska that is served by three Saturday night wires. If it is news you want in your Sunday paper you have to read The Omaha Sunday Bee to get it.

Many Other Big Features.

In addition to these special Sunday carries The Omaha Sunday Bee carries a complete sport section, complete society news of Omaha and Council Bluffs, a special Sunday editorial page, three city pages for the youngsters, a department devoted to music, Mark Sullivan's weekly political review, two pages of news from the movie studios and everything else necessary to make a complete Sunday newspaper.

Kearney Military Academy "Gym" Destroyed by Fire

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.
Kearney, Neb., May 4.—The big gymnasium at the Kearney Military Academy was completely destroyed by fire. The origin of the blaze is unknown. There was no fire in the building and it had been in little use for the past two months. When students discovered the blaze, the structure was in flames and an auto parked within a few feet of the gym could not be moved, intense was the heat. The loss is estimated at $12,000, fully covered by insurance.

Daughter of Clubman May Lose Millions by Marriage to Gardener

Detroit, May 4.—A romance that began among the rose terraces and fountain filled vistas of a multi-millionaire's summer home ended last Saturday in the marriage of Florence Olcott Avery, daughter of John H. Avery, prominent Detroit clubman, to Francis Barrigand, her father's gardener.

The wedding, which was carried out secretly, did not become known outside the immediate family until today.

Incidentally Mrs. Barrigand, by her act, may have lost the Avery millions. Her mother, who made every attempt to prevent the marriage, said the couple "can have no place in our life from now on."
