

Supreme Court Upholds Terms Given 'Slickers'

Review of Case Shows Plot to Use Counterfeit Money in Nabbing Omahans for Conspiracy.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Lincoln, May 15.—This is a story entitled "Outslicing the Slickers in Omaha," in which the supreme court of the state upheld a sentence of two to 10 years imposed on the "slickers," Lewis F. Dochoff and Billie Gorgis. Here's the story as it was reviewed by the highest tribunal in the state:

Gorgis struck up an acquaintance with Carl Todorff. During their conversation Gorgis informed Todorff that Dochoff was an intimate friend of the United States treasurer.

"Yes, he knows him well and if he had some more money I know how we all could make a pile," he said.

"How?" Todorff inquired.

Then Gorgis told him that the treasurer would sell the paper that bank notes are made from, but no sale would be consummated for less than $10,000.

"We can make $1,500,000 in paper money out of the $10,000 in bank note paper," Gorgis said.

"Why don't you?" Todorff asked.

"Haven't the $10,000," was the reply.

"How much do you lack?"

"About $2,000."

Thereupon Todorff offered to get the money as soon as he could get to the bank and return. Instead of going to the bank he went to the office of the United States marshal.

That official gave him $2,000 in counterfeit money. Todorff took the money to the two men in an Omaha hotel. Deputies from the marshal's office followed half an hour later, recovered their counterfeit money and placed Dochoff and Gorgis under arrest. The state prosecuted them on a charge of conspiracy to commit larceny.

Triangle Club Told of Oberammergau Play

Members of the Triangle club were favored yesterday with an interesting talk by Miss Evelyn Cole of Omaha on the "Passion Play," which is presented decennially at Oberammergau. She attended a performance last summer.

"The persons who are assigned to the various parts are voted on," Miss Cole said. "Most of the actors aspire to play the role of Christ. Anton Lang, who has played it many times, probably will be too old to act the part when the play is presented again."

The speaker said there are 1,000 persons in the cast, chorus and orchestra. Married women are not allowed to take part in the play. The theater seats 4,000 and part of the stage is open to allow natural lighting effects. There were 60 performances last year. The play lasts four hours during the morning and the same time during the afternoon.

"One is impressed of the fact that these simple people are expressing their feeling rather than merely acting," Miss Cole added. "It is all so real. The play has been given every 10 years since 1632, when a plague threatened the village."

Dr. Cutter Chosen Head of Welfare Federation

Dr. Irving S. Cutter was elected president of the Omaha Welfare Federation and community chest, it was announced yesterday.

Other officers include Henry Monky, vice president; Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm, second vice president; A. P. Stricker, third vice president; E. F. Foida, treasurer, and George M. Carey, executive secretary.

Executive committee is composed of George Brandeis, Ward M. Burgess, S. S. Caldwell, J. E. Davidson, Al Gordon, Mrs. W. J. Hynes, Mrs. George Johnson, John L. Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Metz.

The community chest consists of 27 social agencies and the general drive will take place in November, according to announcement.

Central High School Paper Wins First Place in Contest

The Weekly Register, publication of Central High school of Omaha, was announced as winner of the first place in the state contest conducted by the Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, University of Nebraska chapter, at a banquet held in Lincoln Saturday, marking the close of the annual journalistic convention.

A silver loving cup now on display in Central High was received by Stanley Street, managing editor, who represented the Register staff.

Technical High school won third place in the contest.

Owing to the immensity of the stocks and the hundreds of items involved, we have not attempted to quote sale price. Come expecting to encounter the greatest apparel values in years. You shall not be disappointed.

Out-of-town patrons should avail themselves of this rare opportunity for savings

Drive in, come by bus or train. Come for a distance of many miles. The savings warrant any journey you might make. The assortments are wonderful. Plan an early attendance.

Forced to Expand After 18 Months in Present New Building

In October, 1921, we moved into our new building feeling confident that our needs for selling space would be ample for at least ten years.

Today, just eighteen months from the occupancy of this new building, we find our space totally inadequate. We have been unable to serve our constantly increasing clientele. The work of adding two new floors is now in progress. When completed this additional space will be devoted to the expansion of our present departments.
