

Harding to Make Dozen Speeches on Western Trip

President Expected to Outline Future Policy of Administration—First Address Will Be at St. Louis.

Washington, May 15.—Having virtually decided on the itinerary of his western trip, President Harding has begun to give considerable thought to the addresses he will make en route to the Pacific coast and in the coast states.

The itinerary, as now arranged, provides for speeches in about 12 cities, the first in St. Louis and the last probably in San Diego, Cal. Although Mr. Harding has indicated his regards these addresses as somewhat secondary to the real purpose of the trip—his visit to Alaska—he nevertheless, proposes to prepare them with care. Through them he intends to report to the American people on the stewardship with which he was entrusted two years ago and also to outline the future policies of his administration.

As the first step toward preparation, he has begun to select the topics he desires to discuss and to assign them to the various cities chosen for principal addresses. In doing this the president is understood to be forming a policy of speaking upon a topic of special interest to the community of which the particular city is the center.

To Define Views on Court.
The initial address in St. Louis, it is understood, will be of a general nature, somewhat of a preface to the others to come, but devoted in the main to a presentation of the president's views on the proposal for American membership in the permanent court of international justice. These views are expected to follow along the lines laid down by the executive in his New York address last month, with the addition of new arguments in support of the proposal. Passing on to Kansas City, the president, according to some of his advisers, will speak upon the transportation problem. In this address it is considered likely Mr. Harding will outline the recommendations with respect to railroad legislation which he will make to congress next December.

To Announce Alaskan Policy.
Speeches to be made at Denver, Salt Lake City, Boise, Idaho, and Helena, Mont., likewise will be upon subjects of particular interest to those communities. As for Seattle, some of those who have talked recently with the president understand he desires to announce his new policy for Alaska as based on observations made during the more than two weeks he will spend there.

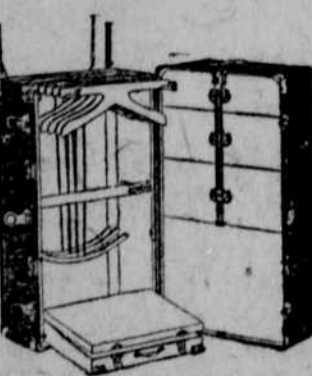

One of the addresses will deal with the results of the arms conference, and he is said to feel that the logical place for such a speech would be a Pacific coast city.

Palmtag Is Suspended for "Talking Too Much"

Old man Jinx caught up with former Detective Fred Palmtag again yesterday in the guise of a five-day suspension for "conduct unbecoming of an officer." Translated, according to a conversation between Commissioner Buteler and Acting Chief Police Dillon, it means that Palmtag "talked too much."
This is the sixth time the jinx has met Palmtag within the last six weeks. The first time followed a transfer to the police department of Commissioner D. B. Byler. Palmtag was reduced from detective to patrolman; then came an attack of grip from walking a night beat. He later was jerked from his position as pedestrian officer and placed on another beat. Before he could walk it, Palmtag was assigned to guard a man held for murder in a local hospital.

Senator Warns of Revolutions

Senator Willis Addresses Ad-Sell League at "Tiajuana Night" Celebration.

With the Ad-Sell league spending "A Night in Tiajuana" in the Live-stock Exchange building Monday night, something was naturally bound to happen. And it did.

After the 1,200 members of the league, all bedecked in bandannas, had been fed Chairman Herb Johnson, president, introduced the principal speaker, Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio.

"Don't be a polygamist patriot and don't be a pessimist," were his leading points.
"Pessimism never solved a single world problem and it has never built cities," said Senator Willis. "To retain our past successes we must have the cheering power of optimism, the driving force of courage, respect for the law and a little of old-fashioned faith."
Place for Americans.

"In one of my committees, that of immigration, I am endeavoring to keep the law strict. I believe that if a man coming from Europe is willing to put off his old world ideas for the ideals of America, he should be welcomed, but if he refuses to be all American, then we don't want him."
"There should exist no unemployment problem in this country. There are enough jobs to go around. Too many of the young fellows are beginning to look for positions and not jobs; they seem to have the idea that manual labor is not honorable. Unless they change their thoughts the next generation will be the first in the decline of this nation."

"Beware of revolutions in the guise of reforms. If the spurious reform now proposed is passed, it will be the end of constitutional government. In the place of reason, prejudice will rule. The proposition is in substance, to take from the supreme court the power of passing on the constitutionality of congressional laws. Under the proposed regime, the congress would be the last word in legislation, there would be no redress should law conflict with the constitution as it stands—there would simply be another amendment."
Points Way to Serve World.
"In regard to Europe, why should we be continually holding out the helping hand, or rather letting her dip into our treasury. As long as we continue to foot the bills she will be in a turmoil. We can serve the world best by building up our own industries. When we are ourselves stable, we may help others."

Guests at the speaker's table besides Mr. Willis and Mr. Johnson were United States Senator-elect R. E. Howell, ex-Congressman Albert J. Jeffers, Mayor James C. Dahlman, W. T. Cox, W. B. Tager, Bruce McCulloch, William Truesell, O. C. Willis, O. W. Waller, James Allen, E. L. Everhart, Fred E. Hovey, Frank J. Coad and M. P. Hinchee.
Governors of AK-Sar-Ben were called upon to present themselves. Dardane's band played throughout the dinner and during the community singing. Vardon and Perry, now appearing at a local theater, entertained with popular songs and jokes. Agnes Britton and Florence Ellsworth presented their "Jiggers" act. Gus Swanson led community singing. Twenty hams and bacon sides and 20 cans of coffee were distributed. Six four-minute boxing bouts were staged.

Fireman Answer Alarm but Fail to Stop Blaze Under Chief's Collar

New York, May 15.—Last night was dedicated to the city's fire department at Townhall and the only reason the building did not burn down was because it wasn't on fire. A packed audience heard Chief Kenlon tell of his charges. He told the audience that he had planned a demonstration and walking back stage he pulled the handle of a fire alarm.
The chief took out his watch, strapped up stage and waited for the entry of the helmeted corps that was to respond.
"One minute," he called. A pause. "Two minutes," a pause and a giggle. "Three minutes," a pause, a giggle and a moan.
"Four minutes," said the chief. "Traffic is pretty heavy on the streets they have to travel."
Finally, the chief looked for the alarm box. He saw a young man tinkering with it. The chief yanked him into the wings. But the young man had fixed it.
Soon the belated firemen arrived, but they went away without extinguishing the blaze under Chief Kenlon's collar.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats
Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Good News
For those who breakfast in a hurry

There is now a Quaker Oats which cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes—the quickest cooking oats in the world. It is called Quick Quaker—perfected by our experts. No other oat dish can compare with this in the little time needed to cook it.

The same Quaker flavor
Quaker Oats dominates because of its flavor. It is flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flaky oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these extra-flavorful flakes.
That's why millions of mothers, all the world over, insist on this premier brand. They want their children to eat oats, so they make the oat dish tempting.

Quick Quaker is made from those same selected grains. But we cut the oats before flaking. Then they are rolled very thin and are partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

So there are now two reasons for Quaker Oats. First, that matchless quality and flavor. Second, oats that cook faster than the coffee.
