

Beatrice Fairfax Problems That Perplex

What Is Love?
Most of the problems which come to lovers could be avoided if "lovers" really loved.

break up romance and separate husband and wife can generally be traced to bad temper, jealousy, lack of consideration, cruelty, selfishness, stinginess, impatience, or disloyalty. And none of these things has any place in a real love.

No better talk on love can ever be given than the one you will find in the 13th chapter of Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians. No better illumination can be thrown on the inspired words of Paul than Dr. Henry Drummond's "Greatest Thing in the World." I wish I knew some way of assuring myself that everyone who reads this would turn to first Corinthians—13, and then go out and get "The Greatest Thing in the World" and read that magnificent and tremendously interesting little booklet once a week for the next year.

No one who reads and digests these words on love—the greatest thing in the world—can help being as a result a finer, stronger, happier and kinder man or woman.

If love has never brought you happiness, ask yourself this question—and answer it sincerely:
"Do I worship self and try to ensnare love by my whims—do I seek self-aggrandizement through love—or do I know that love is giving?"

According to Dr. Drummond, "the spectrum of love" has nine ingredients: Patience, kindness, generosity, humility, courtesy, unselfishness, good temper, guilelessness and sincerity.

Which of you brings all these things to love?
Most of you think of love as self-expression, a guarantee against loneliness, emotional fulfillment, a harbor against storms, companionship—or some combination of these things.

Love stands to you for "getting"—not "giving."
"Love is a side issue," said a brilliant woman to me the other day. "I'm too busy to think about it. My problem is to succeed—to make the most of myself."
But no one can make the most of herself unless she is enriching her nature by spending it in the right kind of love.

Trouble Ended Quickly, States J. A. Quigley

Kansas City Man Declares Tanlac Entirely Overcame Indigestion, Headaches and Biliousness and Nipped Rheumatism in the Bud.

The way Tanlac put me on my feet again is surprising, and if all my enthusiasm for the medicine was put in print it would fill a newspaper. It is the characteristic statement of J. A. Quigley, well-known plumbing expert, of 214 East Fourteenth street, Kansas City, Mo.

My nerves were all unstrung, and my digestion was out of order. After eating I had a terrible time with the gas and pains in my stomach. My appetite fell away and may strength threatened to do the same thing. Headaches, biliousness and loss of sleep also irritated me and got to having pains in my shoulders like the warning of approaching rheumatism.

Millions depend on S.S.S. to purify their Blood

SINCE the power. It builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting power. And fighting power destroys impurities! It always wins! JUST A SHADOW, WEAK AND NERVOUS

Kentucky Lady Says That She Was in a Bad Condition, But Took Cardui With Great Benefit.

Ashland, Ky.—Mrs. Cora Newsom of this city, says: "Sometime ago I began suffering with womanly weakness and was in a very bad condition. My trouble was weakness and nervousness. I was just a shadow—I didn't weigh but a hundred pounds. I was so nervous I couldn't rest nor sleep. I didn't have an appetite, in fact, did not want to eat. I just dragged around—seemed like I couldn't lift my feet. I heard of Cardui as a good tonic and I began to use it. I can't begin to tell how I improved. After six bottles I was like a different person. I worked and enjoyed life. I began to eat heartily, sleep well, and weighed 160 pounds. I certainly can recommend Cardui. I also used it during . . . and it gave me strength and relieved the tired, weak feeling in my back."

COULD HARDLY DO ANY WORK

But Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound This Woman Feels So Well

Keeseville, N. Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. I was so much troubled with female weakness I could hardly do any work. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and read it to my husband. He said, 'You had better try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,' so I bought six bottles, and by taking it I am not troubled as I was. I am gaining strength and getting hoesy. My female troubles have vanished and I have never felt so well. The Liver Pills are the best I ever took. If you think my letter will encourage other sufferers you have my permission to use it as an advertisement." Mrs. SARAH BLAIS, Box 177, Keeseville, N. Y.

Doing the housework for the average American family is some task, and many women lose their health in so doing. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.
