Gay Month Augured With June Guests' Influx

Gaps left in the social calendar after all the affairs for the June brides have been scheduled will be filled with entertaining for the many June guests who are soon to arrive. Always a gay month with the homecoming of the school set, it is to be unusually brilliant this year. With the growing fame of the races, and the predictions of the cool weather that will make the outdoor clubs a popular rendezvous, Omaha is to become its own most popular summer resort.

Omaha girls who have moved to distant climes will return to be feted, among them Miss Marie Neville, who has been in Pasadena this winter. She will be the guest of the Lester Klopps in their new home. Miss Ruth Hamilton, who has spent the last five years in Los Angeles, will visit Miss Alma-rine Campbell, who will also have Miss Florence Marsh of Highland Park, Ill. Mrs. Christine Brooks of New York will return to renew old acquaintances while she visits her sister, Mrs. A. V. Shotwell.

Other out-of-towners will be Miss Arline Lee of East Orange, N. J., who will be the guest of Miss Onnalee Mann, Miss Lillian McMeekham, who returns from the Bennett school on the Hudson, with Miss Doris Talmage, and Miss Marie Hills of Logan, Pa., who will visit Miss Bernice Metterraugen. For a short stay will come the Misses Louise Larawa and Helen Hill of Minneapolis, who will be with Dr. and Mrs. George Pratt.

Some of the June brides have imported their attendants. Miss Helen Bryan of Fort Crook will have Miss Eleanor Ayer of Chicago, and Anna Drew Kaufman of St. Louis in her wedding party. Miss Adelyn Wood will have Miss Zabelle Smith of San Francisco, and Miss Frances Borglum, of Chicago, be attended to the altar by her cousin, Miss Frances Borglum, of Chicago.

Additional Affairs for Miss Adelyn Wood.

Added to the affairs already scheduled for Miss Adelyn Wood, who is to be the bride of James Leslie Abney on June 12, is a luncheon given by Mrs. Theodore Maerner at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. M. Robertson, on Tuesday, and one given by Mrs. A. V. Kinsler on Wednesday. Mrs. Jay Foster and Mrs. Everett Buckingham will entertain at the Country club on Friday for Miss Adelyn and for Mrs. Foster's niece, Miss Zabelle Smith of California, who is to be maid of honor.

On Saturday the wedding party will go to the formal opening of the racing season at Ak-Sar-Ben course and Sunday Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Davis will give a picnic at the Council Bluffs Country club.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rees will entertain for Miss Wood and Mr. Abney Wednesday evening of next week. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Warren Beckenkande are their hosts and Friday Mrs. Herbert Smalls will give a luncheon.

Miss Worley Honors New Control Board Member.

Mrs. Charles L. Hempel of Omaha, chairman of American citizenship, Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Frank J. Biers shared honors at a luncheon given by Miss Katherine F. Worley Friday at the Lincoln hotel. A color scheme of blue and gold was used and covers were laid for 10. Mrs. Biers succeeds Miss Worley as a member of the board of control July 1. Miss Worley will return to Omaha soon and occupy her cottage, Edgewood, near Lakoma Country club.

College Club Drama.

Mrs. John A. McKenzie and the Misses Bertha Marshall and Mabel Field will be hostesses for the meeting of the Omaha College club drama section Saturday afternoon, 3 o'clock, at Miller park, when three scenes from Shakespeare plays will be presented. The program will be followed by tea.

Community Hikers' Club.

The Girls' Community Service Hikers' club will have a moonlight picnic Saturday evening. Members will meet at the end of the Florence car line at 6 o'clock. Those who are unable to start until later will be met at the same place at 7 o'clock. Margaret Adams, leader. Bring lunch, a dime and a cup.

Memorial Service.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. and the World War Mothers have jointly accepted an invitation to attend in a body memorial services on Sunday at the First Christian church, Twenty-sixth and Harney streets, Rev. George A. Miller, pastor. The services will be held at 11 a. m.

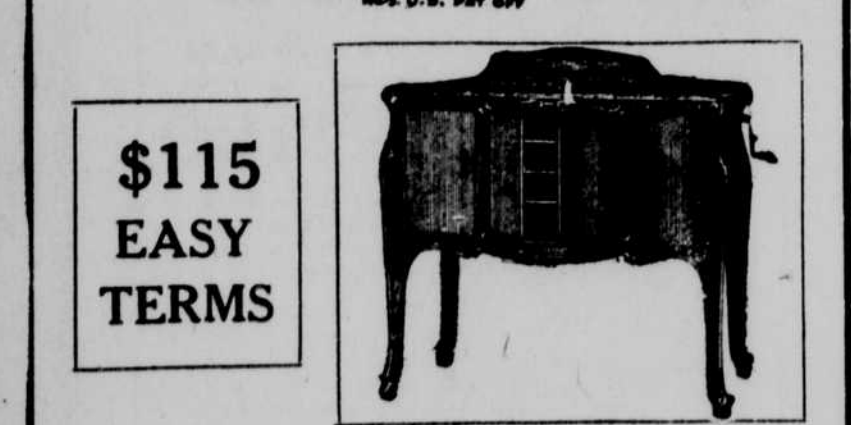

Miss Hulst at Annapolis.

Miss Nancy Hulst, who has been studying at the Peabody conservatory in Baltimore, Md., this winter, will return home for the summer months. Miss Hulst is going to the Naval academy at Annapolis the second week in June for the graduation festivities. Among other entertainments there will be the ring dance and the farewell ball.

For Dorothy Higgins.

Miss Dorothy Lord will entertain at luncheon at the Country club Saturday for a number of the schoolset honoring Miss Dorothy Higgins, who leaves Tuesday for a summer abroad. Covers will be laid for Jane Stewart, Bertha Mae and Martha R. Bradford, Emma Nash, Margaret Lee Burgess and Marie Dixon.

Ballet Dancer

Faye Evelyn Williams

Faye Evelyn Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Williams and dance pupil of Miss Grace Abbott, gave several solo ballet numbers at dinner of the Business and Professional Women's division of the Chamber of Commerce recently. Her dance frock was of bright red tulle trimmed in ostrich feathers of the same shade.

French Beauty Compared to American.

According to Alma Rubens, featured with Lionel Barrymore in Cosmopolitan's picture of Vicente Blasco Ibanez's story, "Enemies of Women," the American woman is far more beautiful of face, form and even feet than the French woman. But the French woman is more beautiful from neck to hips than her American rival.

According to Miss Rubens, the French women are gorgeously smart and possessed of wonderful bodies from the shoulders to the hips. The body lines surpass the same lines in our native femininity, and right here Miss Rubens cites the reason. Our girls have a modest little habit of binding in their torsos, fastening, pulling, pinning—until their figures attain that straight up and down look of boys. It is a fashion suited to the popular sport clothes of the flapper. It is a figure that furnished a flat, non-skid surface for the draping of the brightly sport scarf. But with maturity, it is also responsible for the womanhood too frequently lacking the most beautiful curves of the feminine figure. It is this particular difference between American and French figures that is the rub when an American steps into a French frock, according to Miss Rubens. It is like encasing the vigorous boy of the house in his new georgette gown—wrathily wrinkles where there should be purring pleats—puffery on oatmeal.

Many veil trimmed hats are shown by the best French modistes. Medium large shapes in brown shades are draped with black Chantilly lace veils. The drapery is much elongated at the sides. Lace veils are sewed to round turbans and small-cloche shapes, the veils forming the entire trimming.

Mrs. M. M. Murray entertained at bridge on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon of this week. Six tables were placed for the game each day.

Queen Plays Golf.

Brussels—Queen Elizabeth has become an ardent devotee of golf. She has had links laid out in the park at Lusk, where she plays almost every day. Prince Leopold plays frequently with his mother and has become very fond of the game.

Two Bridges This Week.

The royal patronage has led to the building of several new courts in Brussels and Antwerp and has increased sales in the athletic stores.

Club Committee Elects Officers.

The Omaha Woman's club membership committee elected the following officers last Tuesday: Mrs. Richard Smith, chairman; Mrs. Bert C. Fowler, secretary, and Mrs. Allan Koch, treasurer.

Benefit Cards.

The Engineer Ladies will give a benefit card party at the A. O. U. W. temple Monday evening.

Never let a day go by without a little fruit and some green vegetables.

Boxer Sees the Triplets Again.
By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Day by day learn something new. This will wisdom come to you. —Old Mother Nature.

People of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows soon forget troubles that are past. Boxer, the young Bear who had started out into the Great World for himself, wisely heeded the warning of Mother Bear to keep away from that part of the Green Forest where her home was. More of the three little cubs, which, as you know, were Boxer's little brother and two little sisters, he soon forgot all about them.

There was plenty to do, and as the weather grew warmer there were growing and interesting discoveries to be made every day. Boxer was enjoying life. Now and then he met his father, great, big Buster Bear. Boxer had the greatest respect for him and always took care never to offend him. Altogether, they were on very good terms.

Boxer was continually finding new things to eat. It was great fun to explore the Green Forest. All the time he was growing bigger and stronger and more and more independent. And all the time he was growing wiser. He sometimes did foolish things, but when he had once learned a lesson he never forgot it.

Now all this time Mother Bear's triplets had been growing and learning. Though still very small, they were big enough now to follow her about while she hunted for food. Usually they kept close to her heels. When she wanted to get rid of them for a while she would send them up a tree and tell them to stay there. They didn't miss this. There was nothing they liked better than climbing about in a tree. They used to have great times together, playing with each other among the branches.

One day Mother Bear had led them further from their old home than usual. She had sent them up in a big hemlock tree and then had gone off a short distance to pull over old stumps in search of ants. You know Mother Bear, like Bears, is very fond of ants. The triplets were feeling very full of life that morning and were as lively as only three little cubs can be. They chased each other about in the branches of that big hemlock tree, and did their best to knock each other off. Now, it happened that Boxer came along that way shortly after the cubs had been sent up in that tree. He had nothing in particular on his mind. He was just roaming about. He was startled by a noise off at one side. Instantly he stopped to listen. There was a great thrashing about among the branches of a certain big tree. Now and then there was the snapping of broken twigs and dead branches.

Boxer became curious. Very carefully and silently he stole forward until he could see up in that tree clearly. Three funny little black forms were scrambling about up in that tree. They were having no end of fun. Boxer recognized them at once. They were three little cubs whom he had almost forgotten. Boxer sat down and watched them, and as he watched and watched some of his old anger and jealousy returned.

Favorite Recipes of Famous Women

By MRS. ALBERT SYDNEY BURLESON.
(Wife of Postmaster General in President Wilson's Cabinet)
War Bread.

Two cups cornmeal.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons melted lard.
Scald the meal, thin with cold water to a thick batter, mold into cakes the size of a large batter cake and the thickness of a thin biscuit, and fry brown on both sides. Then run the griddle iron into a warm oven and bake for about 20 minutes. The result is something between a Mexican tortilla and an old-fashioned cornpone, without the flabbiness of the one or the underdone taste of the other.

Brownell Hall Signs Lease on Happy Hollow Building

Trustees of Brownell Hall have signed a lease with Happy Hollow club directors to use the club house for class rooms and other school purposes, beginning October 1 this year, and the school will open in the club house on that date, according to Barton Millard, secretary of the board. The lease runs to May 15, 1924, at which time the trustees hope to be in the school's new buildings which are now being planned. Although the school has purchased the club house and 11 acres of ground, it will not get possession until the fall of 1924. The new building will be immediately north of the club house, according to Millard, and the club house will be kept as a part of the school plant.

Mrs. Luther Drake, chairman of the teachers' committee of the board, is planning changes in the faculty, she said Friday.

Girls to Represent Kellom School at Conference

The following girls of the canning, baking and sewing clubs of Kellom school will represent their school at a county club conference to be held at Lincoln, May 28 to June 1. Ruby Fontaine and Libby Blacker, sewing; Iris Schrock and Helen Smith, baking; Helen Mann and Ida Cohn, canning. The expenses of these girls will be paid by Walter W. Head, Burgess-Nash company and Omaha Flour Mills company. This work at Kellom school is conducted by Mrs. Erid Ihm. Members of these classes pay the expenses of their activities through sales of their products.

Hairs Will Vanish After This Treatment

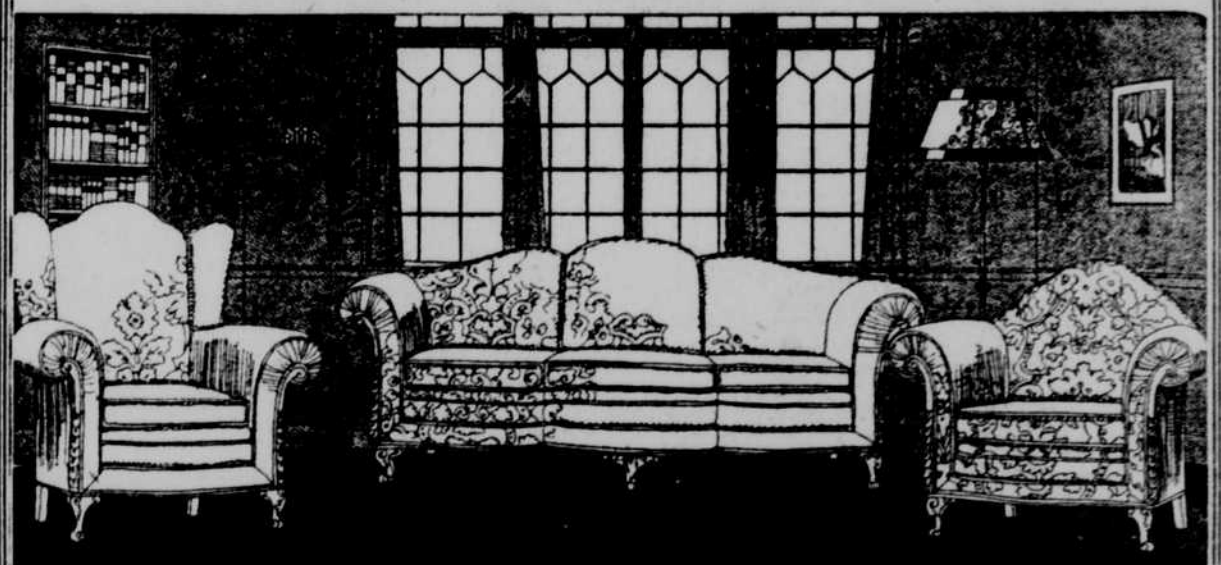

(Toilet Helps.)
You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone and mix fresh.
