

Doctor Fields Enlists Friends to Get Release

Omaha Man Sentenced to Prison for Illegal Operation Makes Second Appeal for Parole.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Lincoln, May 26.—Dr. Leslie S. Fields of Omaha has applied a second time for a parole from the penitentiary. His case will be heard June 12, 1923.

Doctor Fields entered the penitentiary February 3, 1922, to serve from 1 to 10 years on a charge of performing an operation which resulted in the death of Ruth Ayers, a country girl. The girl's sweetheart shot and killed himself after her death.

Shortly after his entrance to the penitentiary, the doctor was removed to the reformatory. Complaint was made and he was sent back to the penitentiary. Then the doctor demanded a parole, claiming that he had been under sentence for several months prior to incarceration. This time, he asserted, should be counted by the parole board. The application was turned down.

Enlists Friends' Aid.

At the hearing next month, the doctor will have the support of Robert C. Dreuselow, former member of the state legislature; State Senator John W. Cooper, and W. G. Crouse, publisher of the Omaha World-Herald. Dreuselow and Senator Cooper appeared before the board at the previous hearing. A portion of the letter written by Doctor Fields to the board follows:

"I leave it to your judgment as men whether I should be further penalized because a few irresponsible, space writing reporters have chosen me as a target for their sensational and sentimental slush.

Woman Given $5,000 for Death of Husband and Son

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Fremont, Neb., May 26.—The sum of $5,000 will go to Mrs. Silas F. Knapp as a result of the railroad tragedy of a year ago that killed her husband and two young sons on a crossing in Fremont. County Judge Wintersteen today ordered that sum be paid the estate by the Northwestern Railroad company.

The father, caretaker at the Fremont Country club, and his two sons were en route home after the day's work. The three were instantly killed and the car demolished. The sum of $100 was allowed for the destruction of the auto. Circumstances tended to show that the father was to blame for the accident, the court explained in the decision.

Hart Has Sympathy for Woman Who Accused Him

"Two Gun" Hero of Movies Says Miss MacCaulley, Who Charged He Was Father of Her Son, Need Sorrow No More—Will Not Bring Action "Is Case for God."

By International News Service. Los Angeles, Cal., May 26.—Breaking the silence he had maintained for 35 hours, William S. Hart, famous "two gun" hero of the movies, in an exclusive interview declared he had only sympathy and sorrow for Miss Elizabeth MacCaulley of Boston, who has retracted her sensational charges that he was the father of her year-old boy.

With tears in his eyes the famous portrayer of western roles on the screen declared that from information he had received from Boston, he knew Miss MacCaulley must be suffering—suffering as he had suffered before the charges against him had been cleared and her statement completely vindicated him. Hart said that his sympathy went out to her in her hour of distress.

"I know Miss MacCaulley must be suffering and she need not suffer more," the actor declared in a broken voice that came between heavy gulps. "I have no intention of bringing any action against her. It is a case for God—the highest court. The whole thing—I want to consider a closed chapter. I never hit a woman when she was up and I am certainly not going to hit Miss MacCaulley, now that she is down."

Answered Letters.

Hart declared he first knew of Miss MacCaulley in 1916 when she wrote him "fan" mail and he was starring in films. Her letters arrested his attention, he said, because of her flawless English and led him to believe she must be a woman of unusual intelligence, and he answered them.

"In December, 1916, I met her in person. When I returned from the studio one evening my sister told me the woman who had written me such fine letters from Boston was in Los Angeles and had called by telephone. I suggested that she be invited out for dinner, which my sister did. When she came to the house was the first time I had seen her.

"Only once did I see her alone. That was a night or so later when I took her to a local cafe for dinner. We were together than about two hours. Then I left her with friends who had been with her when we met that evening. After that I saw her a few times, certainly not more than three or four times. As I went to work I met her as she was walking with her dog near Westlake park. I would be parking in my machine and would draw in to the curb to chat with her a few minutes, and would leave the motor running. She used to object to that, I remember, and tell me it was not very courteous.

Knows of No Trust Fund.

"I realize now the woman must have had some sort of a weird attachment for me, but as far as demonstrations of affection on either of our parts there were none," he said.

"Speaking firmly and without hesitation Hart declared he never knew that a trust fund had been provided for the boy which Miss MacCaulley claimed was his. However, he admitted that this might have been arranged by other persons who had money invested in his films and had
