

Beatrice Fairfax Problems That Perplex

A Case of Tolerance.
Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl of 22, of one religion, and my sweetheart is 23, of another. We have been going together for the past four and a half years. My mother says if a man thinks enough of a girl to marry her he should change his faith for her. Now this young man holds that both being the same religion does not guarantee happiness. So we have decided to settle it by your answer. We have been engaged one year. P. D. Q.

No matter what your difference in creed, you both believe in the essentials of faith, if you both have a deep religious sense. We all turn to the same Father for help and guidance. We all give gratitude and love to the same great Creator. If you love and respect each other, the differences in method of worship cannot matter when compared with the great essentials. To pretend to change a creed is to be miserable. Try to see how much your creeds have in common and recognize that they are but branches of the same basic faith in love and truth and humanity. Tolerance, rather than argument, will bring you close.

Dateless: If you are fortunate enough to have an escort to the graduation exercises tell him that you will be glad to go with him and simply thank him for the courtesy. It isn't at all necessary to have an escort and I wouldn't worry about it if I were you.

Troubles Over, States Popular Hotel Man

"My friends all say I look better than I have in years, and I certainly do feel the part, too," recently said Geo. L. Burke, popular day clerk at the Portland hotel, 555 Main street, Kansas City, Mo., and a former resident of Youngstown, O., in relating his experience with Tanlac. "Before taking Tanlac I had no appetite, and for two years had been almost a chronic sufferer from indigestion. Rheumatism, knife-like pains in my back, headaches, dizzy spells and frayed nerves also added to my misery. I was losing weight, and had to strain every nerve and muscle to keep going. "Well, Tanlac did away with all my troubles, added fifteen pounds to my weight, and put me in pink of condition. I can't say enough for Tanlac." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold. Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.—Advertisement.

Hiding a rash wont heal it
Attempts to conceal complexion blemishes usually fail, and only serve to draw attention to the defects.
Underneath most unattractive skins is a clear, pleasing complexion—all that is needed is the proper treatment. It is surprising how often a brief use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap will clear away blotches, redness and roughness and give the skin its natural freshness and charm.
Ask your druggist for Resinol.
