Woman Leader of Republican National Committee Issues Hot Reply to Charges.

Washington, May 28.—Democratic National Chairman Hull's recent statement criticizing the treatment accorded republican women by the republican national committee, drew a sharp retort yesterday from Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the republican national executive committee.

Chairman Hull attacked the republican party chiefly for its failure to recognize the rights of republican women to positions of leadership in the party and full membership on the national committee. This statement, Mrs. Upton says, "invites a comparison of the respective records of the republican and democratic parties in their treatment of women."

Defeated Suffrage.

She continues: "In view of the written record, Chairman Hull's statement was indiscreet."

"Five times between 1913 and 1919, the democratic party, in control of congress, defeated the proposal introduced by republican minority leaders in congress to give women full citizenship under the federal constitution. Each time the suffrage amendment reached the state of a vote in the house of representatives, Democratic National Chairman Hull, then a member of the house, representing his district in Tennessee, recorded himself against giving women their equal rights as citizens. In this he was in perfect accord with the democratic majority in the house.

"The republicans carried both branches of congress in the 1918 elections. The newly elected republican congress was convened in special session, May 19, 1919. The first act of the republican congress after organization was the introduction and passage by the house of the equal suffrage amendment.

Draws Striking Contrast.

The date of its passage was May 21, 1919, only two days after the republican congress assembled. Quite a contrast to the six years of opposition to it and defeat of it by democratic congresses.

"Chairman Hull, still a member of the house from a district of Tennessee, was one of the opponents of equal rights for women, even when it was perfectly apparent that the amendment would be passed by the republican congress. He was one of 90 who stood out on the final roll call against giving women any voice under the federal constitution in the affairs of the American government. "In view of this record, the real friends of equal rights for women do not regard the chairman of the democratic national committee as a well chosen spokesman to plead the cause of women."

Girl Motorist Gets Day in Jail

But Judge Suspends Sentence When She Appeals to Him.

Madeline Fenton, 2601 Q street, a stenographer, niece of Warden Fenton of the state penitentiary, was sentenced to a day in jail by Judge Patrick in South Omaha court Monday morning.

But when the pretty girl went up to the judge later and turned her eyes upon him and said she just couldn't go to a terrible old jail, Judge Patrick stroked his whiskers and suspended the sentence.

"We haven't good accommodations in jail for nice girls, no powder puffs and such things," he said, and Miss Fenton said she surely would never exceed the speed limit again.

Other sentences and fines were as follows: William Bell, 2615 Z, charged with crashing into a car of S. D. Smith, 2222 R street, $15; William Mollin, 4127 M street, reckless driving and speeding, three days in jail; Thomas Dempsey, 4182 K street, and Otto Maure, 2329 J street, Union Pa-

Yeggs Attempt to Blow Safe

Set Off Charge of Explosive in Office of Daily Journal Stockman.

An attempt was made to blow the safe in the plant of the Daily Journal Stockman, livestock paper, published in a building at Dahlman boulevard and M street.

The janitor Monday morning found one window blown out and papers and furniture in the office scattered about by the force of the explosion.

The yeggs had bored a hole into the front of the safe, filled it with an explosive supposed to have been nitroglycerin but the charge was not sufficient to crack the safe. They were either frightened away or had no more explosive.

They entered through the basement. The building is situated about two blocks north of the stock exchange and in a lonely district where hazard of discovery is not great. The office has been entered before by yeggs.
