Oxford Students Return.
The three Omaha boys, students at Oxford, are coming home this summer. Russell Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Peters, will sail June 8, landing June 18 and going directly to Ithaca for Cornell university affairs. He is expected in Omaha shortly after.

Paul Means, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Means, will not sail until later in the summer. He plans to take a term at Narburg university, Germany. Mr. Means is a student of theology and will take courses in theology and philosophy in the German college. He will reach home probably in August and may spend a year in America before going to India which he hopes will be his field. He is Congregationalist by denomination.

Ralph Wilson is the third Omaha student at Oxford. He will also return to Omaha for the summer, but will later resume his work at Oxford as will Russell Peters. Mr. Means has completed his course there and will take his degree this month.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

For this the Great World has no use. For selfishness there is no excuse. —OLD MOTHER NATURE.

Littlest Bear Grows More and More Selfish.

Littlest Bear was growing more selfish every day. It was all Mother Bear's fault. Yes, sir, it was all Mother Bear's fault. Littlest Bear was being spoiled, and a spoiled child, whether it be a little Bear or a little boy or girl, is sure to grow selfish.

Mother Bear began it by always giving Littlest Bear the best of everything. She did it because Littlest Bear was the littlest. She was afraid that, being the littlest, she wouldn't get her share. It wasn't long before Littlest Bear felt that she should come first. If she happened to be behind when Mother Bear found a treat for the little Bears, Littlest Bear would rush up and crowd Brother and Sister aside. At first Brother and Sister would promptly push her away.

"We got here first!" they would growl.

"You ought to be ashamed of yourselves," Mother Bear would growl in her deep, grumbly, rumbly voice. "You ought to be ashamed of yourselves to treat your little sister so, when you know that she is smaller than either of you." Then she would push Brother and Sister aside and give Littlest Bear a chance to get the choicest of tidbits.

If Brother and Sister were rough in their play with Littlest Bear, Mother Bear would interfere. But it didn't make the least bit of difference how rough Littlest Bear might be to them. If Brother and Sister wanted to take a nap, instead of playing, and Littlest Bear wanted to play, she would torment them until they couldn't take a nap. But if Littlest Bear wanted to take a nap when the others wanted to play she had her nap

"That little Bear will come to no good end," declared Blacky the Crow, who watched the triplets every day. "No, sir, that little Bear will come to no good end. I never saw such a selfish youngster. She does just as she pleases, and one of these days she is going to get into a lot of trouble."

"It will serve her just right," said Blacky's cousin, Sammy Jay. "I never could bear selfish people. They never think of others. They seem to think the Great World is made just for them. I hope I am around when that Little Bear does get into trouble. Yes, sir, I hope I am around."

Bond's Quality Tailoring Is Responsible For the Lasting Quality Of Bond's Clothes

Bond's has reorganized the "old fangled" tailoring methods and created new and better methods. In the illustration you will see how the genuine "Hymo" front is handled to build the Bond convex front—how the edges are linen taped—how the Bond flexible shoulder is worked out to conform perfectly to the human shoulder—how the style is actually built right into every Bond garment—built to stay put throughout the entire life of that garment. We have but one standard of tailoring—the best that skilled tailors and modern methods can possibly produce.
