wings by Rope Cut From Flagpole at 18th Floor and Reaches Window.

By International News Service.
Portland, Ore., June 8.—Arthur Barrett, 15, gained his freedom early today in a sensational and death-defying escape from the juvenile ward on the eighth and top floor of the county court house here.
Barrett saw the bars of the window leading to the light court and pulled himself over the cornice of the building to the roof. He quickly cut the flagpole rope, made it fast to a convenient vent pipe on the opposite side of the light court and swung himself over the projecting cornice.
High in the air and with death his inevitable lot if the rope should break or his hand hold slip, he started swinging back and forth in hope he could reach with his feet the sill of an open window on the top floor of the building. He finally hooked the window ledge with his toe and worked himself into the open window while three of his comrades in the cell across the court yard watched the performance.

Once inside the office, the boy broke down a door leading to the corridor and calmly walked down the stairs and out to sunny freedom. He was arrested June 2 for being out after hours. Burglar tools were found on him and he admitted that he intended to rob a store.

Oldest Survivor of Mexican War Celebrates 100th Year

San Francisco, June 8.—Urban Chaudereau, oldest surviving member of the Mexican war of 1846-48, on the pension rolls of the United States government, celebrated the 100th anniversary of his birth here today.
"Grandpere" Chaudereau was born in Alsace-Lorraine on June 8, 1823, and came to the United States in 1846.
He fought for the United States in the Battle of Buena Vista in the Mexican war, when the slogan of the Americans was: "Remember the Alamo." While he has been a resident of this country since 1846, Chaudereau did not forget his motherland in the world war crisis in 1918. When General Pau visited San Francisco in 1918, "Grandpere" Chaudereau handed the French general his savings to be used for France.

Girl Attacked by "Ape Man"

Los Angeles Poses Are Combining Swamps in Effort to Locate Monster.

By International News Service.
Los Angeles, Cal., June 8.—Squads of deputy sheriffs and volunteer citizens were combing the swamps near Belvedere today for the "ape man" who late last night tried to attack Miss Edna Sykes, 18, as she was returning to her home after a dance.
According to Miss Sykes' story, she was but a few doors from her home when a man stepped from the darkness, seized her and attempted to throw her to the ground. She tore herself loose from the man, whom she described as a monster, bare-footed, with a heavy beard and clad in rags, and fled.
During the attempted attack the ape-man growled like a beast but spoke no words that could be understood, she said.
Miss Sykes' screams aroused William McKinney, who came to her assistance, scaring off the brute, who fled toward the swamps and thickets.

Editor to Be Made Priest for First Time in Catholic Church

Denver, Colo., June 8.—For the first time in the history of the Catholic church, it is said, a man who is actively engaged in managing and editing a newspaper will be ordained a priest when the Right Rev. J. Henry Techen, bishop of Denver, raises the Rev. Matthew J. W. Smith to the priesthood next Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Smith is editor of the Denver Catholic Register.

Passage of Lady Astor's British Rum Bill Assured

By Associated Press.
London, June 8.—Notwithstanding the fact that the ultimate passage of Lady Astor's liquor bills has been virtually assured, it may be November before the measure is enacted. It provides for the prohibition of the sale of intoxicants to persons under 18.
The bill has been considerably weakened since its introduction, especially by the insertion of the word "knowingly," which will compel any prosecutor to prove that the vendor of an intoxicant to a person under 18 was aware of the buyer's age.

Viviani Falls in Faint at Court

Former Premier of France Taken to Home in State of Collapse.

By Associated Press.
Paris, June 8.—Former Premier Rene Viviani suffered a fainting spell while pleading a case in court this afternoon and was taken to his home in a state of collapse.
M. Viviani, while addressing the court, appeared so fatigued that the judge asked if he did not wish to rest a few moments. The former premier made no reply, but stood looking vacantly at the court and suddenly crumpled to the floor within a quarter of an hour, when he was taken home. He has been greatly depressed since the recent death of his wife.
Rene Viviani, who is 60 years of age, was premier of France in August, 1914, when war was declared. He retired as head of the government after the hostilities had continued a year.

REEL REMARKS

By the M. P. Editor
Johnnie Walker is releasing "The Fourth Musketeer." The day's meanest query "Is it a fifth wheel to the wagon?"
Mrs. Wallace Reid's picture on dope, "Human Wreckage," has been booked for its initial showing in the United States at the New York Lyric theater, July 1.
The innermost secrets of Hollywood are to be revealed in "Mary of the Movies," tells the press agent. Those guys have a lot of respect for the United States mail.
Hall of Fame Stuff.
Allen Holubar has been nominated for the screen's hall of fame. Owned a pair of leather puttees. Worn a flowing black butterfly-effect necktie.
Filed a lawsuit over the size of his name on the boardbill.
Had himself modeled in bronze.
Donned a pair of horn-rimmed spectacles.
Appeared in a fur-trimmed leather overcoat.
Or scolded his star for being late on the set, the latter perhaps due to the fact that Dorothy Phillips, whose productions he has directed, is in private life Mrs. Allen Holubar.
