$2 for Bricklayers—
Awful.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Soon you will know what can be done in getting money from a country by those that have conquered and disarmed it.

The French will take the private property of Germans, mines, factories, etc., and work them. Those that interfere will stand before a firing squad "for sabotage."

Those that refused to work in confiscated plants will go to jail. The French, thorough, logical, go through with what they start.

But they may be disappointed.

A religious organization in South America undertook to treat a tribe of Indians as France now tries to treat the Germans of the Ruhr. The Indians were kindly treated, but thoroughly exploited. They went to bed and got up by the ringing of a bell, worked hard all day long and their souls were saved by conversion to Christianity, an additional profit.

Everything seemed to be going well, when suddenly the Indians stopped having children and there were no more workers after that generation. Exploiting human beings on a big scale is always difficult.

Marcus Garvey who started an "all black" steamship line, promising his negro followers a republic in Africa, goes to prison for five years.

His followers kneel, praying, as he is led away, a pitiful scene of confidence misplaced, if the judge and jury reached a righteous decision.

Everybody will read about the illiterate black organizer of the African republic, his collegiate gown, gold-headed cane, gold eye glasses, top hat, etc.

Simeon Strunsky, in his able editorial page, reminds you that the country should also hear about another negro, Dr. Carver, winner of the Spingarn medal.

Dr. Carver's work in agricultural chemistry, as Mr. Strunsky says, will honor any white scientist. What is more important, it will greatly increase the value of farm lands and crops throughout the south.

Passing from grave to gay, Mr. Strunsky creates this pleasant mot:

"In reply to reiterated inquiries as to his plans, Mr. Ford says: 'Yes, I have no presidential ambitions.'"

Mt. Etna's violence is subsiding. The worst is over, perhaps, for centuries. Villages and vineyards are locked up forever in the solid stone of cooling lava. And you see an interesting contrast between ancient and modern methods.

The inhabitants of two towns engage in a desperate fight to secure a miraculous "staff" supposed to have power to stop the lava flow.

While the fight was going on engineers with trenches and barricades actually were diverting a lava stream from a village of many inhabitants toward land uninhabited.

Modern miracles also work.

Bricklayers have won their strike and $2 more pay. They set 1,000 bricks per day.

Conservatism is horrified at this, but nobody seems excited because the brick manufacturers get $9 more for 1,000 bricks than they did a year ago. The manufacturer demands an increase in profit 400 per cent as great as that demanded by the bricklayer. But the brick maker is a capitalist—so that's all right.

Baron Rothschild in Paris discovers that he paid 150,000 francs for a "fake" antique. He was just as happy before he knew of the fraud. Now he is unhappy; also slightly ridiculous.

Let that teach us to think long before we reveal too much truth to those that do not want it. If the Mohammedans like to believe in a heaven, with private ownership of many young ladies, made of solid mink; if Buddhists wish to believe that Gautama, tired of his young wife and her many assistants, gave his body to feed a starving tigress that had no milk for her cubs—be careful how you convince them of their folly.

Their "antique delusion" may be more valuable to them than your modern truth.

John D. Rockefeller, jr., gives $150,000 to supply hospitals with insulin, the miraculous extract of the pancreas that cures diabetes.

This news is far more important than the amount of money involved, which is small for a Rockefeller gift.

It proves that the Rockefeller scientists have thoroughly investigated the value of "insulin" and have pronounced it beyond question a cure for diabetes, although possibly not in every case.

The Rockefeller gift generously, but cautiously and scientifically.

Departmental
Surplus Is Cut
by Bryan Forces

Administration Continues to Load Up With Supplies at Cost of McKelvie Regime.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Lincoln, June 22.—The effort of the Bryan administration to load up with supplies at the cost of the McKelvie administration continues. The biennium ends July 1 and after that date all purchases must be paid for with appropriations charged to the Bryan administration.

Such spending also cuts down any surplus in the various departments and a surplus in a department presided over by the former governor is something appointees of the present governor understand they must avoid. Whether they can find enough needs to absolutely wipe out the surplus which should be on hand July 1 is problematical.

Spends $500 for Stamps.

Today George E. Hall, secretary of the department of finance and revenue, purchased $500 worth of stamps for that department. This is sufficient stamps to operate his department for the next two years. The average monthly stamp bill of the department is $20.

Tom Carroll, state sheriff, is to have another high-powered motor car this month. State Purchasing Agent Ferris announced. Four new automobiles and extensive camping equipment have been purchased for the bureau of game and fish.

The purchasing agent has ordered

150,000 fish and game licenses for 1924. Ordinarily such licenses would be ordered and paid for in November, 1924.

Thousands of dollars worth of annual reports have been ordered and will be paid for this month, many months in advance of the publication of such reports.

Another Stamp Spree.

Grant L. Shumway, secretary of agriculture, has ordered $600 worth of stamps. Several hundreds of dollars in stamps also has been ordered by the department of public welfare.

The state university has transferred $270,000 from the general fund to the cash fund. This will enable that institution to spend the $270,000 during the coming biennium if it depends on the cash fund may be drawn upon at any time.

If the money remained in the general fund after the end of the biennium it could not be spent until the legislature meets in 1925, when it could be reapportioned. This transfer has been sanctioned on the ground that the university had drawn on the cash fund when the expenditures should have been made on the general fund.

Woman Acquitted
on Murder Charge

Mrs. Creighton Must Again Face Jury on Charge of Poisoning Mother-in-Law.

Newark, N. J., June 22.—Mrs. Mary Creighton and her husband, John, were acquitted by a jury late today of the murder by poisoning of Charles Raymond Avery, Mrs. Creighton's brother.

The jury was out but an hour. The defendants awaited the verdict with tense impatience. Mrs. Creighton clutching nervously at her handkerchief. She fell sobbing into her husband's arms, when the verdict was read. It was several minutes before either could recover sufficiently to acknowledge the congratulations of their counsel and friends.

Mrs. Creighton was taken back to Essex county jail to await trial on another indictment charging her with the murder of her mother-in-law, Mrs. John M. Creighton, who is alleged to have been poisoned several years ago. Creighton was freed.
