

Old Skull Found in Elkhorn River

Children Come Upon Ghastly Trophy—Grave Perhaps Antedates Indians.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. O'Neill, Neb., July 6.—Children at play along the Elkhorn river on the Strong ranch west of Emmet found a skull having portions of the scalp with long black hair, and an ear attached. A badly corroded earring of coiled copper wire still was attached to the ear.

Further investigation by the authorities located a grave in the bank of the river, which had been exposed by recent high water. A copper ring was found on one of the finger bones in the grave.

Soil indications are that the skeleton is that of a race possibly antedating the Indian. The skull and portions of the bones, with the ornaments are being preserved by Sheriff Duffy at O'Neill.

Man Lying on Track Killed by Freight

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Rulo, Neb., July 6.—Raymond Marchum, 30, a laborer of Rulo, was killed instantly Thursday night when he was struck by a freight train while walking the Burlington tracks near the Kansas state line. He leaves a wife and family in Rulo. He had been shoveling wheat on the Allie Moorehouse farm three miles south of Rulo. He became overheated Thursday and started home afoot that evening.

It is said he had been sunstruck at a previous time. The man is thought to have fallen asleep or become unconscious. His head was pillowed on a rail when struck by the engine. The engineer did not see Marchum on account of rounding a curve and the headlight glare causing the weeds in the track to cast heavy shadows. The body is in charge of George O'Camp of Rulo, the Richardson county coroner.
