By BROADAN WALL. New York, July 10 .- Apprehension over the Ruhr situation and lower the lowest level in many weeks. Some bankers gave it as their opinion that Great Britain would undoubtedly make an important deal with the

make an important deal with the German government.

The presence of Secretary Melion in London was also used as the basis for hopes of some important development in the immediate future. Even those who are prominent in the bear side of the stock market believe that shares would respond to but alight improvement in the European political situation.

Offerings Are Light.

While offerings of stocks were light the fact that the general list failed to maintain its strength shown in the previous four sessions had a discouraging influence. Offerings continued up to the close. Final prices were near the lowest and showed net losses of about a point in the leaders.

Foreign exchange rates were slightly better but did not lend any color to the rumors of favorable European news current the last few days.

The showing made by the United States Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage statement did as much as anything else to cause discouragement. It reached a decrease of 595,090 tons in orders on hand at the end of June. The street had looked for a shrinkage of from 400,000 to 450,000 tons, so that the actual figures were worse than generally looked for.

Fresh liquidation and short selling broke out in the sugar shares. Prices eased off on small offerings. American sugar on transactions of less than 1,000 shares, lost three points and closed at the bottom Other sugars lost from one to two points. Offerings of the sugars were due to further heaviness in the sugar market.

Lower commodity prices almost always reflects overproduction so that the street did not take kindly to lower quotations announced for lead, oil, pig iron and lumber. It develops that there has been quite a little shading of prices recently in the lumber business notwithstanding the building boom now under way. The decline in September wheat to $1 a bushel also had a depressing influence.

Announcement of a reduction of 25 cents a barrel in Pennsylvamia crude oil emphasized overproduction in the oil industry. The oils, however, were relatively steady. The rece

New York Bonds

New York, July 10.—Widespread uncertainty over the trend of securities and commodity prices was reflected in the irregular and listless trading in today's bond market. United State government bonds held firm, Foreign bonds were mixed with the French governmental and municitial issues, showing slight im provement with the other exchange rates while Mexican is and Judgen es each dropped a point.

Further recovery of the New Haven issues was the feature of the railroad list. New Haven Francs 7s and New York, westchester & Boston 4½s eac hgained about a point and New Haven convertible 6s advanced one-half. Liens of some of the western roads turned heavy on the announcement of a break in wheat prices.

Some good gains were recorded in the public utilities section, Interboro Rapid Transit 6s and Refunding 5s each gaining 2½ points with smaller gains by other local traction company bonds. Milwaukee Electric railway 6s also advanced a point.

Indications of a price war in the sugar
