

Women Will Go to G. O. P. Conference

Mrs. Anna McFarland to Represent Nebraska Women at Republican Meeting in Chicago.

The republican regional conference which will be held at the Drake hotel in Chicago today will be of particular interest to the women members of the party.

National Chairman J. T. Adams recently announced that the executive committee of the national committee voted almost unanimously to receive women from the states as associate members of the national committee until 1924, when they are to be elected on the basis of one woman and one man for each state.

Mrs. Anna McFarland, who served as executive secretary at local republican headquarters during the last campaign, has been named by Mrs. W. T. Graham, vice state chairman, to act as substitute at the Chicago conference. Judge E. B. Perry, state chairman, named Dr. Bass of Broken Bow, republican state secretary, to be his representative on Thursday.

They will leave for Chicago tonight at 6.

One of the objects of the conference, as outlined by the national chairman, is to promote closer co-operation between the national committee and the state organizations. The Chicago conference will comprise the states of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas.

Mrs. Draper Smith stated that the action of the national committee in receiving women into its councils is a forward step and is another recognition of women in practical politics. She explained that Mrs. Medill McCormick has been one of the national leaders in putting over the idea that women should serve with men on the national committee.

Hessian Fly Is Damaging Nebraska Wheat, Says Report

The Burlington railroad crop report just released shows that the Hessian fly is causing considerable damage to both spring and winter wheat along that company's lines in eastern Nebraska, especially from Plattsmouth to Omaha and Omaha to Friend.

Some fields have been entirely destroyed by the fly, and many fields have been damaged 40 per cent, according to the report, which also declares that the recent extremely hot weather has done some damage.

Western Nebraska wheat is pronounced in excellent condition, however, particularly on the Holdrege-Sterling line, where the crop is expected to be the heaviest in years.

25 Cars Stolen in Saline; Thieves Stored in Lincoln

Lincoln, July 11.—Twenty-five Ford cars are stored in Lancaster county, taken in the Saline county thefts, and are being inspected by State Sheriff Carroll and other officers. The total value is about $15,000. Other recoveries are in sight and possibly additional arrests to the six men that have been taken into custody.

Officers will not let the hiding place of the cars be known until they have checked them over, as they expect such a rush for attempted identification by owners that they want to finish their work first. On each car the factory numbers have been ground down and new numbers were stenciled over the old.

Scottsbluff, Neb., July 11.—The Western Public Service company, which supplies electric current to Scottsbluff, Gering, Bayard and Minatare, has been ordered by the Scottsbluff county board of equalization to show cause why its valuation should not be increased from the return of $112,000 made by its local superintendent, to $225,000. ### Sisters Meet After 40 Years

South Dakota and Florida Women Reunited by Funeral Notice.

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Sioux Falls, S. D., July 11.—Mrs. Esther Ellen Kinsey of Custer and Mrs. Mary Ritchie of Klissimnee, Fla., sisters, met at Custer a few days ago, after a separation of 40 years.

When the Burlington train pulled into the Custer depot, a tall, elderly woman alighted and stood looking about, as if expecting someone to meet her. There came slowly from one end of the platform another elderly woman, a short, spare little person. She, too, was looking for someone.

After a little time the train pulled out of the depot, the crowd disappeared and the two elderly women found themselves facing each other. Neither recognized the other until a few words were passed between them, then there was a happy reunion.

Forty years ago in Ohio they separated and they had not seen each other since until the arrival of Mrs. Ritchie in Custer. Mrs. Kinsey had until recently been believed by her sister to be dead, as letters sent to her at Buffalo Gap, S. D., the former home of the Kinseys, had been returned unclaimed.

They finally gained knowledge of each other through the publication of an obituary of a relative, which happened to come under the eyes of Mrs. Kinsey. In this notice the names and addresses of the surviving relatives were set forth.

Mrs. Kinsey is past 80, while her Florida sister is nine years younger. Mrs. Ritchie will spend the summer visiting her Custer sister. They yet call themselves girls and expect to live for many years longer.

According to reports no fewer than 5,000 persons in Germany are taking their lives every month. These suicides are largely from the aged and infirm and impoverished middle class.

think of him before. He must be the one. Hello, there he is now!"

Sure enough, there was Old Man Coyote just coming down on the Green Meadows from the Old Pasture. Peter was glad that he was in the dear Old Briar Patch and not on his way home. He sat up, the better to watch Old Man Coyote. He wondered what Old Man Coyote was coming down on the Green Meadows for. He didn't have to wait long to find out.

Old Man Coyote headed straight for the place where Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse had been living when Peter last saw them. When he got there he began to hunt. He ran this way and that way, back and forth, crossing and recrossing his own trail, and covering every bit of that ground. Most of the time his nose was to the ground. Once in a while he would stop to prick up his ears and listen.

Peter watched every move Old Man Coyote made. He understood perfectly what Old Man Coyote was doing. He was hunting for Meadow Mice. He was hunting for Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse.

"I'm wrong again," muttered Peter. "Yes, sir, I'm wrong again. Old Man Coyote is hunting for Danny and Nanny Meadow Mouse, and of course, he wouldn't do that if he had already caught them. I wonder who did catch them. I'm sure that Reddy Fox didn't."

Man Loses Mind Over Loss of Automobile

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Wilber, Neb., July 11.—A sad chapter was added today to the Mares Bros.' automobile theft exposure case here, now being investigated by local and state enforcement officers, when Frank Bosak, 25, farmer east of Wilber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bosak, pioneer residents of Wilber, was bereft of reason, and it became necessary for officers to take him to the asylum at Lincoln.

Bosak "batted" on the farm he operated, and two months ago purchased a new automobile from the Mares Bros.' garage in Wilber, giving in payment an old car and $500. When the illegal operations of the garage recently were uncovered by officers working on the case, and Bosak's coupe, along with 15 other cars, alleged to have been handled unlawfully by Mares Bros., were confiscated by the Saline county sheriff working with state officers, the loss was too much for Bosak, and his mind turned.

His father here bought him a new coupe in an effort to relieve his mind, but to no avail. The case against Mares Bros. is pending the gathering of more evidence.
