THE MORNING BEE

MORNING_EVENING_SUNDAY

THE BEE PUBLISHING CO., Publisher.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated Press, of which The Bee is a member, is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published herein. All rights of republications of our special dispatches are also reserved.

BEE TELEPHONES Private Branch Exchange. Ask for the Department AT lantic or Person Wanted. For Night Calls After 10 P. M.: Editorial Department. AT lantic 1021 or 1042.

OFFICES OFFICES Main Office-17th and Farnam Co. Bluffs - - 15 Scott St. So. Side, N. W. Cor. 24th and N New York-286 Fifth Avenue Washington - 422 Star Bldg. Chicago - - 1720 Steger Bldg.

"BEAT YAKE, BY YIMINY."

Magnus Johnson did what he said he would, and Minnesota has another farmer-labor senator. His defeat of Governor Jacob A. O. Preus is an event of more than state importance. Assuring the balance of power in the senate of the United States . to a radical group, it becomes of national consequence.

It is to be wished that Governor Preus had stuck more closely to the principles of the republican party in this campaign. He weakened himself and his party when he disowned the protective tariff and ignored the achievements of the national administration. From the first it was plain that he stood not for principle but for anything that seemed to promise votes. There was nowhere about him the air of certainty, merely a wishy-washy willingness to favor anything that appeared popular.

A false start was made when, after the death of Senator Knute Nelson, the governor planned to resign his office and have the lieutenant governor make him senator by executive appointment. That is not the sort of thing to appeal to the American electorate, and he backed down, entering the primaries against a badly split field. Preus seems to have been a man who was all for himself. Party leaders charge that Senator Kellogg's defeat last year by the farmer-labor senator, Henrik Shipstead, resulted from Preus' lack of co-operation. Preus wanted the senatorial nomination then, and sulked because circumstances forced him to be content with the governorship.

At one time President Harding was willing to go into Minnesota and aid the campaign. But Preus did not welcome this. Nor in his speeches did he refer to the national administration in any way. Such a mistake must have cost him many votes. Several republican leaders switched their support to Johnson, and the democratic machine that changed over to Peus hurt him more than it helped.

It becomes of importance to know what Senator Johnson stands for. Here is his officially declared platform:

"Unified government control of railroads, with immediate reduction in freight rates.

"Government control of federal reserve banking system.

"Government control of coal mines, water power sites and other natural resources. "Graduated tax on incomes, inheritances and excess profits. "Cash bonus for ex-service men.

"Restriction of courts in the use of injunctions in labor controversies and in nullifying acts of congress "Friendly relations with all nations and entangling alliances with none.

"Stabilization of prices of farm products through federal regulation. "Legislation making the constitutional rights of free speech, free press and peaceable assembly "I'll beat Yake, by Yiminy," said Magnus Johnson, in the account he brought from Sweden. And he did.

HAIL TO THE CHIEF.

For many years Pete Dillon carried his six feet and then some of his brawny manhood around the streets of Omaha, wearing a policeman's uniform and doing a policeman's duty. He had his ups and downs, his good days and his bad, just as others do, but he attended strictly to business, didn't get himself talked about overmuch, wasn't fussed when the spotlight turned in his direction occasionally, and didn't get envious when it shone on another.

In other words, Pete knew his business and attended to it. Now he has been made chief of the force he has long served on, and has the distinction of being chosen at a time of crisis without dissent on various papers about the government part of any member of the city commission If financing, buying and storing surplus there be reservations in the minds of any of the city commissioners, the objection is kept in the background, and the disposition, so far as surface indications go, is to give Chief Dillon a chance to make good on his management of the affairs over storage, from the weevils, etc., and which he has been given charge.

Chief Dillon has been acting chief for several months, during the absence of Chief Dempsey on eventually result in much lower price leave incidental to his sickness. He has so far dis- if the stored wheat was kept in proper charged his duties with that same patient attention at an inopportune time. and care that distinguished him as sergeant and captain. That he will continue in this course may be assumed, for he has the stability that comes with age and experience. This is an asset in any line other cereals, resulting in the break of endeavor, and especially is it an advantage in hay and pasture lands, which have such a position as that of chief of police.

Citizens generally will hope that the selection of Chief Dillon is an omen portending a cessation of the agitation that has threatened the efficiency of the Omaha police force. Discipline that has been sadly disturbed should be restored as rapidly as possible; men in the ranks must be given to understand that fidelity to duty comes before allegiance to faction, and that a man who obeys orders and to bear upon them to cut the wheat partially true. public requires, will not be disciplined for doing tion, the Omaha police department should move at once into a new day.

A STRENUOUS VACATION.

A day in bed was what Mrs. Harding needed. and, recovered from her weariness, she is with the presidential party on the way home again. In this news the country will rejoice, and will also find in it something to reflect over.

One of the peculiarities of the American vacation is that the program usually turns toward hard work. Most of us want to get as much as we can for the time and money we have at our disposal, and so go in for such a schedule as makes recreation a source of weariness. America is a huge country, and a lifetime might be spent in exploring it without exhausting its possibilities for novelty. One man we know has crossed the western half of the country on every railroad line but one from the river to the coast; has journeyed on foot and by horseback over side trails, has spent some years in the Rocky mountains, and still regrets not having visited many interesting places. Others doubtless can duplicate this experience.

When the president set out from Washington a few weeks ago, to do the longest journey ever unfor a demand on endurance not appreciated by those who have never tried long distance traveling. Even under the most favorable of conditions the expedition was certain to produce fatigue, and it is not to be wondered that Mrs. Harding succumbed and that a change was made in plans that she might get a little rest.

The Omaha Morning Bee: Wednesday, July 18, 1923-

"The People's Voice" Editorials from readers of The Morning Bee. Readers of The Morning Bee are invited to use this column freely for expression on matters of public laterest.

Suggests Lower Grain Acreage. Fremont, Neb .-- To the Editor of The Omaha Bee: The writer has been eading comments in the daily papers referring to low prices for wheat, its, rye and other grains and they being so much below cost of producion, also considerable agitation in the vheat and the holding of balance by the farmers and co-operative associa tions. All of this would probably help in a temporary manner, but it might lead to disaster eventually by the wheat spoiling unless kept in cold probably cause a serious shortage at the proper time to market the wheat, in case of short crops, or probably condition and thrown on the marke

During the period of the war and extremely high prices for wheat and grain crops of all kinds, the farmers were urged to produce wheat and ot been put back into hay and pasnaturally leads the political economists ture excepting on a small scale. The into a careful investigation of the results have been that the hay cro causes that have led to this undesircauses that have led to this undesir-able condition of affairs, and the sug-bers of each legislative session. This of last year is practically exhausted with high prices for hay and a short crop the coming season, according to gestion of remedies that ought to be has been for the purpose of acquaint. Weekly Market Reporter of the De- applied to bring about the desired ing the lawmakers with the work of applied to bring about the desired ing the lawmakers with the work of The farm Western people are of late the fish department. Governor Bryan partment of Agriculture. change. in the habit of ascribing all the pre-insulted Mr. O'Brien by indirectly valling human ills to the avarice of charging that these dinners were ers, therefore, have it within their own power to aid themselves if sufficient and proper agitation is brought monopolies. This, of course, is only given for the purpose of influencing There are causes legislation. Two years ago the legis carries on as his obligation to his place and the and grain crop acreages in half and reaching to the very root of our so- lature very properly increased seed the balance of the acreage to cial life, whiich operates even more salary of this efficient public servant, disastrously upon the American peo- whose long years of unselfish service white blossom sweet clover to renew Under a new chief, chosen with so little fric- their land, or to alfalfa, clover and ple than the most greedy and soulhay lands, resulting in the benefit of less corporations.

theap hay for themselves, as they are the largest users of hay and pasture, up as follows: and better prices for their wheat and "First. Among the American peo and better prices for their wheat and

quivalent

ple there is altogether too much not quite proper and refused t scheming to get a living without an the payment of the voucher. not quite proper and refused to allow grain crops If, in addition to the above, every farmer will hold his wheat that is in equivalent in honest toil and honoryears of acquaintance with the two position to do so, until winter or next able labor. Our boys are not learning summer, the writer believes they will useful trades; our farmers' sons crowd to remark that he is convinced Mr. btain a much better price for their the small towns and large cities, seek wheat when the prospective smaller ing employment as clerks; our girls political cleanliness is quite as good acreage is realized.

idea to agitate smaller acreage of we are compelled to send to Europe all grains to be put in this year and a for our skillful artisans, our farm do not know a fish bladder from a to the farmer WILLIAM EMERSON.

A Dissertation on Money.

Auburn, Neb .- To the Editor of The Imaha Bee: We have the greatest olume of money and products ever and want ever known, and all at the our exported raw materials are not an known, and the greatest starvation

Financially, things are being done just the opposite way to what they hould be. For instance, everything pends originally on the farmer. He loafing around saloons, spending their without food. Also he buys the manu-factured article, so it is evident if the farmer is not prosperous, no one litical nostrums, continue to be Determined best efforts of the grangers and po-litical nostrums, continue to be can be prosperous for any great length of time, and it also follows into the hands of the sheriff. We ap-

Fifty years ago some conditions were similar to those that prevail to-day; at least the change is one in degree rather than in distinction. Edward Rosewater read the world a moral lecture on July 16, 1873, after moral lecture this fashion: "The universal prevalence of duil any time. cottage of his own about three miles away, where he lives, and where Mrs. and hard times in this country very O'Brien can have the privacy she de Governor Bryan insists that Mr. O'Brien occupy the state-owned cottage. For 30 years Mr. O'Brien This had earned an even greater increase Governor Bryan again Insulted Mr These causes may be briefly summed O'Brien by intimating that the rease was secured by Mr. O'Brien through the use of methods that were men affords this editor an opportunity O'Brien's character for probity and country over.

We, there consider housework and culinary em- as Governor Bryan's. believe it would be a good ployment beneath their dignity and arger acreage of clover and hay lands hands and our domestic servants. Second. Through the prevailing extravagant customs our young men political matter. and young women are acquiring the a politician, and he doesn't care a the hardest and there were the mos habit of living beyond their means who and income. They shine in foreign publican or a democrat-he hatches fabrics and dress in imported clothes, the fish and plants them where they his place practically free from det thus compelling the export of many will thrive.

millions of money annually, because When this editor was lending what ever measure of support it was pos sible to lend to Governor Bryan's car Now, as long as this incubus is aldidacy, he did so with a full know! lowed to weigh down upon our naedge of Mr. Bryan's limitations and relief from hard times. As long as unsaldably given by the support was courage the farmer, when just the opposite is what would be best for all o. The farmer is the initiator of eighers to beln out their when bein out the farmer is the initiator of eighers to beln out their when bein as the unselfishing at the unsel on the farmer is the initiator of eigners to help cut their wood and clusion that instead of growing to brosperity to all. All other business feed their stock, while their sons are governor is merely swelling. One wo more incidents like the one cited dertaken by a national executive, his schedule called furnishes the food. (We cannot live precious time playing billiards and above and the conclusion will be con-length of time, and it also follows that any plan that will keep the farmer prosperous, will keep the world prosperous. The sensible way to do this is to make what the farmer produces (that means the necessaries between the sensible way to do this is to make what the farmer produces (that means the necessaries between the sensible way to do this is to make what the farmer produces (that means the necessaries between the sensible way the sensible way the sensible way to do this is to make what the farmer produces (that means the necessaries between the sensible way the sensible Detroit's venture in the field of city owned street railways was recently temporarily raised in the esteem of the citizens when announcement w made that during the first year of

Detroit's Public Car Lines.

"From State and Nation" -Editorials from Other Newspapers-which, if figured on the basis gener Blow to Nebraska Sportsmen From the Gering Midwes ally recognized by utility companies The resignation of "Bill" O'Brien, would wipe out the $1,000,000 profit and leave a deficit. Another item of the time-tried and efficient superin-$400,000 seems to have crept into the tendent of the fish hatcheries profit column, when its real business of Nebraska, forced by officious inter- was to go toward defraying the interference and total disregard of the est on some bonds. Detroit, however, is in the street wishes of the real sportsmen of the car business. Having gone contrary state, is a matter that not only brings to the experience of practically every regret to thousands but arouses a large city in the country which has feeling of resentment that will not tried the experiment, it cannot gracedown. To Mr. O'Brien, more than must continue in an effort any other man or coterie of men, is that, while municipal ownership as due the splendid development of fisha general proposition may be a mis ing in Nebraska. That he should be take, it is not wrong at Detroit, the hectic city of the straits. But it is reforced to reeign in order to maintain his self-respect is humiliating to men markable that in one year she should who have learned to know him and have to make rather doubtful use of his splendid work. the word "profit" in order to demon

The facts are simply these: Mr. strate that she can succeed where oth O'Brien refuses to live in the state owned cottage at the South Bend

Hatcheries because it is a pleasure re-sort and compels Mrs. O'Brien to keep Preaching, Not Practicing. From the Washington Post open house to all the strangers wh think that because her husband is in of nations defers action on reduction the state's employ and can get fish for nothing he ought to feed them at So he erected a modest tion after recommendation. But evi-dently the powers that be in the > sincere in their declaration of desire to promote peace and to block war does the council hesitate to move in that direction? Its repeated refusal suggests unwillingness to practice league preachments as to promotion of peace

Another Land Boom

From the Gordon Journal With crops this year looking so nice in this part of the state, there strong likelihood that considerable land may change hands. There are no doubt many renters who would We have heard already, chance. Thirty through a local realty company, that

But we do not want to see another 'land boom." We have had one to The trouble is that "Bill" O'Brien many of those already in recent years. refuses to be bossed by men who do All over the state during these hard times there were spots where c turtle's head, and he simply will not tions were worse than others. And consider the propagation of fish as a the worst places were those where the He is a fishman, not land selling business had been worker op whether the governor is a re new farmers. Formerly there was very likely an old-time farmer, who owned

Circulation Department. Money to Loan on

Abe Martin

"One country an' one flag," but of armament. Report after report jest th' same th' president has t' fix has been submitted and recommenda- up a different kind of a speech fer ever' state he goes into. Th' boy league are not disposed to consider layin' after he graduates 'll never

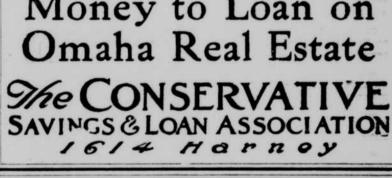

If members of the league have been have t' work. (Copyright, 1923.)

In his place, after the boom, there was a new-comer, owing more than to take action on armament reduction the land was worth and with machinery and everything else covered with a mortgage. His credit was not good at the bank, at the store or with his neighbor. It was not his fault either for he may have been the best kind of a worker and absolutey honest. He was simply caught in a trap. We believe this western country has a future. We believe it is lagely unde veloped as yet and that it will pay much larger dividends than the welcome a chance to get out here densely populated land in the eas where the good farm land is reason- But it can be best developed by a able in price and a poor man has a group of men not too heavily in deb men who can stand some "hard times" without having the value of quite a number of prospective buyers their property wiped out will be out here shortly to look the JAVE The Omaha Morning Bee or The Evening Bee mailed to you when on your vacation. Phone AT lantic 1000.

You Get ALL COAL When You Buy

THE FARMERS' HOME MARKET.

Some people eat more, some eat less. It depends partly on appetite, and partly on pocketbook. The federal department of labor has made an investigation of the household consumption of foodstuffs by 900 families whose incomes averaged $1,430 a year. It found that the per capita consumption of meat by these families was 150 pounds a year, while that for the country as a whole was 180 pounds. Their consumption of flour and bread amounted to 113 pounds, while the national average was 317 pounds. Of milk they used 80.2 quarts as against the national consumption of 182 quarts, the latter representing less than a pint a day. One hundred and forty-one pounds of potatoes were bought for each of these persons, while the average national consumption was 223 pounds.

It hardly requires these figures to prove that full employment at good wages in the city broadens the farmers' market. There would be less talk of surplus production if people were able to buy all the food needed and all the woolen, cotton and leather goods also. The worst thing that could happen for the farmer would be a wave of unemployment.

The assumption of economists that the consumption of food varies little is disputed by statistics. All this goes to show the importance of the home market and the possibilities of its enlargement. If the low prices received by the farmer were reflected and passed on in low prices for food on the consumers' table, there might well be expected an increased demand for farm products that would tend to shorten the supply and thus improve prices on the farm. There is too much friction in getting goods from farm to table, too much lost motion.

BRINGING THEFT HOME.

Here's a precedent that will set a lot of lawyers thinking. It has to do with robbery, and will be read of with interest by a lot of folks, especially bankers and the managers of safety deposit vaults. In Chicago a safety deposit vault in one of the prominent down-town buildings was raided by a gang of bandits, and something like $200,000 in loot was secured. One of the losers, the German Hodcarriers' union, has just recovered a judgment for $34,000 against the owners of the safety vault, to replace the money that was stolen by the bandits.

This adds a new terror to banditry, or rather puts an additional burden on the owners of banks, vaults and the like. Should the judgment of the trial court be affirmed, it is certain that other similar suits will follow. What will come out of it may only be conjectured, but it certainly ought to add to the interest of the managers in the work of suppressing banditry and outlawry in any form. Burglar insurance and the like has brought a certain amount of reverse English into the general problem, because the insured proceeds on the theory that he is protected by his policy, and so does not always exercise to the fullest the vigilance that might ward off loss.

In some sense the verdict is an argument for the policy of requiring restitution and reparation from the thief or mischief-doer. If the criminal knew that, in the event of conviction, he would be compelled to restore the property he had stolen or damaged, he might think more than twice before he entered at his career.

pleasure, and the hospitality of the people has been kindness to the limit, but human nature will stand just so much. Those who went with the president on his journey will return with a much more accurate notion of the extent of the country than they had when they started, but also with the conviction that too much of a good thing has a bad effect on all hands. Presidential vacations ought to be arranged for pleasure rather than for hard work.

A boy approached the polls to vote, so runs an old story, when his father challenged him as not being of age. In the dispute that followed the father snorted, "I guess I ought to know, for I was there when you was born!" "I was there too," the boy retorted. This may in a measure apply to an interesting little argument that has come up same time do justice to all. with regard to the Leviathan, owners of the Majestic, which was laid down as a sister ship to the former, asserting that they have the largest vessel afloat.

a fairly accurate understanding of at least one phase of the trial of Editor Magee on charge of contempt. He admits that the court convicted itself. The rest is in the hands of the New Mexican voters.

Manuel Quezon is testing his strength against Leonard Wood, and is apt to find out that while he may be president of the Filipino senate, the general is governor of the islands, and that the office of executive counts for something.

China's former emperor is also in flight, if any further evidence were needed as to how uncertain conditions are over there.

If everybody could go swimming at least once a day, much of the troubles that affect the summer would vanish.

Stay-at-home voters are represented in the results, whether they realize it or not.

Minnesota voters seem to know what they want.

King Ak is getting real devotion once more.

Homespun Verse -By Qmaha's Own Poet-Robert Worthington Davie

DEEP INTO THE NIGHT.

Deep into the night, the silent night, The solemn night, the dreamy night-I toil with pen, I toll with hope;

Faith glows aloft as a beacon bright, And leads me straight in the path of right. Though oft' my thoughts the darkness grope.

When the world is still; when the world's asleep I scatter the seeds of thought, I reap. But hope as the dreams of a dreamer are: Under the tide and over the deep-I am the shepherd, my thoughts the sheep.

Lost in the haze and the maze afar.

Under the tide of the mystic sea, Over the blue that watches me-Glowing and growing and going away.

Up and down till it seems to be Beyond the bounds of eternity. Above the good of work and play.

Sight-seeing along the way has given them great asure, and the hospitality of the people has been dness to the limit, but human nature will stand es (that means city's operation of its $40,000. street railway system it had cleared $1,000,000 in profit.

But according to the Investment pered. It is easy today to keep all courage the manufacture and conarticles of food indefinitely, such as sumption of American products, in-wheat, corn, oats, and grains, all stead of importing them from foreign News, the $1,000,000 profit is co puted by a method not generally a cepted by privately owned public util kinds of meats, vegetables and fruits countries, and adding to our already enormous foreign debt. We must drying, canning, etc., and stored inties. Street railways, even when owned by such hustling cities as Dedrying, canning, etc., and stored in-definitely, by the government, as a hasis of value for issuing money that will have real value behind it. It can be done in this manner. Let (we'll suggest) wheat be taken as the basic or unit value, and all other nec-cessary and processary if the trolt, have a way of wearing out. is customary to make some allowance for this fact, and to set aside a sum for depreciation. It appears that De troit's municipal bookkeepers have

Why have

T. R. LACKEY.

verlooked the depreciation item essary and preservable food products American people desire to free them should have a value accordingly, as selves from impending general bank they compare in food value to wheat rupto for the unit of value). Then there is "If "If the granges or the new-fangled secret order of American farmers and he labor problem which is the next most necessary problem to quiet and mechanics will undertake these re-satisfy. It seems to me that can be forms, they will accomplish more toward effectually uprooting 'hard easily and equitably done, and at the times' than could be done by any crusade against privileged rallway aw require that each be allowed at porporations or banking monopolies east enough for one day's work to ive on for two days, in as good co dition as the average require, same to be designated by law. the who was in jail, told him its mean If The king dreamed he saw seve Governor Hinkle of New Mexico seems to have as highways, cleaning streets, alleys, as highways, cleaning stress ary to and many other things necessary to and many other things necessary to there will be seven years of plenty there will be seven years of famine and rovernment should allow good prices the seven years of famine will eat up or the food products, say, base it all the seven years of plenty." So the king told Joseph to put by all he n $2.00 per bushel for wheat and all ther things accordingly. Then we ould in the next seven years and he and cotton should be included and all did, and the seven years of famine came, and in all the country around should be standardized and stabilized so that farmers, laborers and the there was no corn, or wheat, but in rovernment (the people) could be abso-Egypt there was plenty. lutely assured against want or famine not all countries done that ever since? If all countries in the world and everyone be independent. The amount you allow the farmer and can be induced to do this, and have the more prosperous they are, the times of plenty, for use in times of the more prosperous they are, the times of plenty, for use in t more luxuries they will buy and more famine, there will not be a attractive the farm will be, and the over-the Bible, the ant, the bee, nabetter wages they will pay, and easier ture and common sense all teach us, he can pay his debts. But the plan it is the only way to provide think is workable in every counemergency; and keep the people of ry, and taxes can be raised in two the world happy and prosperous and ways, one-half a property tax and take away many of the cares of this one-half a sales tax, then the rich world. There is much that can be pay most, but all pay some. At one said on this important subject-I ime in Egypt the king had a dream would like to hear from others. Sin and none of his magicians could in orely. terpret it. But a poor man (Joseph)

Daily Prayer

Evening, morning and noon will I pray.

Abba, Father, trusting in the mer its and saving grace of Thy Son, our Savior and Redeemer, Jesus Christ, we come before Thee to ask grace and loving mercy during the hours of this day. Should temptations assail us, we ask for strength to resist them suc-censfully. Should evil attack us, may Thy grace strengthen us to fight i soldiers of the Cross, thoroughly fur-nished to all good works. May our ears be open to the cry of the weak and suffering, and our hearts he ready to respond to every appeal from one of Thy suffering ones, and may we be

Name, as Thy servants. Let the close of this day find us in the path of duty, and grant that in rendering loving service to others we may realize a blessing as having ren

View with compassion our many weaknesses and faults, and touch us with a consecrating power that we may be able to stand in the evil day and to render worthy and acceptable service as faithful servants of Jesus Christ, in Whose Name we ask all these blessings. Amen.

CLARKSON CLOTHIER Philadelphia, Fa.

dered the service to Thee.

enabled to minister to others in, Thy

May we hold ourselves as valiant bold fight for the right.

The Gregarious Poet. Omaha .- To the Editor of The maha Bee: I was very glad to see The Omaha Bee Jack Lee's call o Nebraska poets in regard to meet ng and forming an organization. I hope all Nebraska poets will respond the call, for we owe it to ourselves and our noble state. The Omaha Bee s to be commended for the help and interest it is taking in Nebraska poets. HORACE A. GILBERT, 715 North Twentleth Street.

NET AVERAGE CIRCULATION for June, 1923, of THE OMAHA BEE Daily 72,799

Sunday 77,783 Does not include returns, leftovers, samples or papers spoiled in printing and includes no special sales.

B. BREWER, Gen. Mgr. V. A. BRIDGE, Cir. Mgr. Subscribed and sworn to before me

July, 1923. W. H. QUIVEY, Notary Public

Woman's Saddest Hour

When signs of age come-when youthful bloom departs. That hour used to come early. Now millions of women postpone it-some for two and three decades. It's a question of care. The greatest factor is Palmolive Soap. That has become the leading soap of the world, because of what it does for complexions.

So easy-so simple

This way is easy, simple, inexpensive. It seems impossible that any woman will nowadays neglect it. This is penetrating soap. It cleans the skin to the depths. It leaves no clogging matter to harm the complexion. Then it applies a palm and olive oil blend. And those oils have for ages held supreme place for the skin.

A lifetime result

The experts who perfected Palmolive Soap have studied facial soap for a lifetime. They have combined here the utmost that soap can do for the skin. The ten-cent price is due to volume. But no other skin soap at any price has gained anywhere near such fame. Remember that. Wherever women are famed for beauty, you will find Palmolive Soap. Wherever women keep their youth, their chief help is Palmolive.

Volume and efficiency produce 25c quality for only

nothing else - pio sture's green com