

Woodmen of World and Murphy-Did-Its Cross Bats in Feature Amateur Contest

Win for Murphys Will Put Them in Tie for Lead

"Ike" Mahoney Scheduled to Hurl Against Jimmy Moore - Nebraska Tires to Play Standards.

THE Woodmen of the World, leaders of the Metropolitan league, will come into the focus of the calendar plans this afternoon when they meet the Murphys-Did-Its in the feature Sabbath day twist at Fontenelle park at 3 o'clock. The Did-Its are former leaders of the Metro loop and are presently trailing the lodgeners by a single game margin. A win for the Murphys will put them in a knot with the Woodmen for the top position.

"Ike" Mahoney will likely take the mound himself for the automobile artists, while Manager Gary has chosen Jimmy Moore to do the top-notchers' mound work. Allen, the runner-up ace, has a sore arm and announced that he would not be able to work in today's contest.

The Nebraska Tires and the Standard Laundry mix at Riverview at the feature hour in the other upper division of the Class A group in a test rating close behind the Fontenelle confab. These two nines are at present tied for third place in the percent column and a win for either will boost them high into the running. Beers and Custer will be apt to oppose each other from the mountain and a twirling duel may result.

The lower Metro scramble will be headed by the Schneider Electric-Walter G. Clark affair at Munny beach. The outcome of this test will break the loop holding these two teams knotted for second place. The Enginemen will attempt to win one more game against the Knights of Columbus at Miller park in a contest that should bring the lodgeners into the credit column.

The final round of the American League race is carded for this afternoon with the bunting coppers having an easy slate with the Post-office Employe crew at Thirty-second and Dewey at 3:30 o'clock. The Carter Lakes will finish in second place, win or lose, against the Kinney Shoes on their home diamonds, while the Betty Ross are expected to turn back the Western Union at Athletic park. After today the Paxtons will remain idle until the championship series with the other class B winners.

The West Side Boosters will meet the Y. M. H. A. in the outstanding Southern League contest at West Elm, while the Corr Electric mix with the Omaha Campers at Thirty-second and Dewey in the opener of the afternoon. The Union Stockmen remain idle, winning a forfeit from the Christ Child Seniors.

The Gate City league will hold many enthusiasts' attention when the Bettolows will attempt to down the leading Darkers at Munny beach in the grid. The upper four teams of the Class C division are exceptional in class and a mere upset will change things suddenly. The Naples Banks and the Leavenworths are not expected to have much trouble with the 15-gg club and the Fu-A-Jo while the Vinton-Sherman Merchant twist is an exhibition of much promise.

West Pitches the Pearls to North Church Loop Flag

Hardings Down Old Foes From David Cole Creamery in Industrial Feature.

The Pearl Memorials won the Northern Church league championship yesterday afternoon by defeating the Clifton Hill Presbyterians, the second time in three weeks, at Fontenelle park by a score of 7 to 2 in the feature contest on Saturday's sandlot schedule. The moundmanship of Manoy West has practically won the Class B bunting for the Pearls in the Northern division with the Tech high ace doing the majority of the twirling throughout the entire season.

Yesterday West struck out 15 batters and allowed but four hits. The Clifton Hills have defeated every team in their group with the exception of the former league leaders downed. Brewick pitched good ball for the losers but erratic support caused the downfall of his mates. Had the Clifton boys they would have held the title this morning.

Beninato Twirls Good Ball.
Hardings defeated the David Coles in the final Creamery league twist of the season when Beninato twirled good ball against the runners-up while his mates clouted the ball at will for a 12 to 7 decision. The Kirschbrauns were idle when the Fairmonts took the mound for the second time in the Kirshbrauns hold Class B flag as the season closes.

The Omaha Police and the Cudahy nines are still at the top with one defeat each in the first division of the industrial group. Both had easy time in turning back their opponents yesterday in confabs of the slugging variety. The Guarantee Fund Lifes were trimmed for the second time this season by the Overland Tires at Munny beach. The Lifes hold first place by a half game margin and will have to pull out of their present slump in a hurry or forget about winning the second division honors.

The Cudahys defeated the Swifts for the second time this season at Riverview, 12 to 8, while the Omaha Printers had no trouble with the Omaha Street works with Jim Carey on the mound and won, 12 to 7. Don Houser, another Tech high chucker, struck out 11 Guarantee batters in the feature second division twist.

Firpo to Dance at Krug Park

Luis Angel Firpo, the "wild bull of the Pamapas," who fights Homer Smith in Omaha next Friday and who is matched to fight Jack Dempsey September 14, will make his first public appearance in this city, not as a damager of human anatomies, but as a connoisseur of feminine beauty.

Firpo, through his manager, Billy McCarthy, yesterday gladly accepted an invitation of Charles Kleinschmidt, manager of Krug park, to select a dancing partner in the Krug park ball-room Wednesday night at 9:30.

Firpo, who may be characterized as a "dance hound," will occupy a conspicuous place in the Krug park ball-room and from that point of vantage select an Omaha girl for a dancing partner.

Firpo manipulates a wicked pair of dogs as well as a mean pair of dukes, and the floor will be cleared while he indulges in a few fancy steps for the edification of Omaha dancers.

The Argentinian will select a girl of beauty and gracefulness for his partner and the Krug park management will award the girl he chooses with a beautiful prize.

May Sutton Bundy and Tilden Win; Champ Gives Cup to Pola

Los Angeles, July 28.—Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, formerly national women's champion, and Tilden won the mixed doubles, defeating Miss Caroline Bryant and Harold Godshall, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Tilden did not play so well in this match, being tired from his strenuous contest with Alonso. Godshall was the star of the quartet, though Mrs. Bundy played in excellent form.

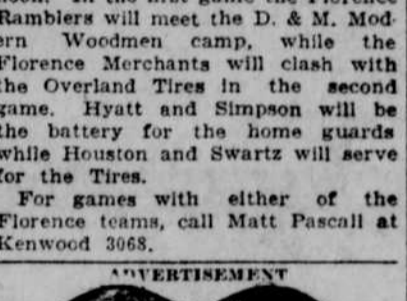

Immediately after winning the mixed doubles, Tilden presented the cup he won in the men's singles to Miss Pola Negri, film actress, and four of his racquets to Douglas Fairbanks, motion picture star. Miss Negri and Fairbanks had cheered for Tilden throughout his two matches. Miss Marion Williams of La Jolla, Cal., won the women's singles championship, winning from Miss Bryant, 6-2, 6-4.

McGraw Expresses Faith in Giants' Corps of Hurlers

Yankees Have a Lead From Which They Hardly Can Be Rooted in Junior League.

By JOHN J. MCGRAW, Manager World's Champion Giants.
As the major league teams all have made the half way turn and the race narrows into the stretch, interest seems to be centered on the Giants and the possibility of the Reds or the Pirates knocking us out of the lead.

In the American league the Yanks are so far out in front that their third pennant seems almost a foregone conclusion. By winning half of their games from now they could win even if Cleveland took an unexpected spurt and won more than two-thirds of their games. That I do not consider likely. When the Tigers and the Athletics failed to develop a punch the race was practically over.

While it may have added a few gray hairs to the pretty good-sized crop I already have, I am not nearly so much alarmed over the situation facing the New York club as are many of our supporters. I know that we have a fight on our hands and my players know it. Their realization of the danger, in a way, has been a good thing. Just when the Reds threatened closely while playing at Brooklyn the Giants tightened up and came through. They did that two years ago and again last year. It is that spirit that gives me confidence.

Pitchers Wobbly at Times.
The pitching staff has been very wobbly at times, but when it came to a pinch the driving force of the club showed itself even without steady, reliable pitching. If you will recall the feelings of the fans last September you will notice that exactly the same things are being said now as was so freely discussed then.

"The Giants can not beat the Yanks with their pitching staff," nearly every expert in the country said. The only statement I had to make then was that my pitchers had managed to deliver every time I called on them in the league race. I figured that if they would show the same spirit in the world's series that we would have a chance. It turned out that they did that very thing, and we won.

My faith in them is just as strong today. We have no more easy games ahead of us. We must beat the actual contenders and that is what we expect to do. With Bancroft back in the lineup the Giants feel that they can do it. His experience and field leadership are a big asset.

The fighting at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh will be something worth seeing, but I have not lost faith in my club, not by any means. They have a terrific batting punch, as baseball people know. When pushed to the wall they always have used it. A look at the schedule makes it evident that the contenders in the National race—Pittsburgh and Cincinnati—have most of their games against the weak clubs, while most of ours are against the strong clubs. That is true, in a way. We have less than 10 games against the Braves and Phillies altogether, while the Reds and Pirates have more than twenty. I do not lay as much stress on that situation as others do.

Pitcher May Is Sent to Pittsburgh in Deal Which Brought Boehler Here

According to a telegram received early this morning from Barney Burch, owner of the Omaha club, Pitcher May has been sent to the Pittsburgh Nationals on option in the deal which brought Pitcher George Boehler, $30,000 hurling beauty to the Omaha club on the same basis.

Clem Johnson Shows Langford More Gloves in 12 Rounds Than 'Tar Baby' Saw in Any of 300 Fights

E. J. PASO, Tex., July 28.—It was a wobbly, peace-craving "tar baby" Sam Langford that hobbled back to his corner in the Juarez bull ring last night after signaling the referee that he would relinquish all claims to the heavyweight boxing title of Mexico to the huge and perfectly built negro from New York City, Clem Johnson.

Sam made his defeat-denoing journey in giving away many pounds. Langford, who won the Mexican heavy title by a knockout of Kid Savage in Mexico City several months ago, battled the last two or three rounds of the fight that was his downfall with only a faint sight of his opponent, for the constant rain of lefts and occasional rights that found Langford's face often reached his eyes. In the 13th both his eyes were of little use to him.

The "tar baby" had gone into the ring once too often.
