

Aged Man May Die as Result of Car Crash

Madz Mortenson, 80, Seriously Injured in Collision at Creighton Boulevard and Lake Street.

Madz Mortenson, 80, 6125 North Twenty-fourth street, was badly cut about the face and head and received possible fatal internal injuries, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Morrison, 65, 6514 Florence boulevard, a passenger of his car, was less seriously hurt when their machine was struck by a Ford coupe in which two women were riding at Creighton boulevard and Lake street at 7:30 Monday morning.

Mortenson was driving north on the boulevard and the coupe was driving west on Lake. Mortenson swung out to avoid collision with the other car, which struck the rear end of his machine, overturning it.

Both Mortenson and Mrs. Morrison were taken to the Methodist hospital by the two women, who did not give hospital authorities their names.

While Patrol Conductor Schwager was waiting at the hospital, a woman, who said she witnessed the accident, called to learn the condition of the victims. She refused to give her name or address. No other eye witnesses have been found.

Mortenson had taken his wife and a friend to a doctor's office this morning and was taking his sister-in-law to her home when the accident occurred.

Hospital authorities said his condition is critical.

Sam Gellott, 3724 Ohio street, told police he witnessed the accident from a distance. He said he would like to identify the two women if he saw them again.

Restless Youth Laid to Parents

Speaker Says We Are Reaping Fruit of Seeds Planted During the War.

Columbus, O., July 30.—That the "freedom" of young folk today originated during the world war to a considerable extent is the claim made by Mrs. A. H. Reeves, editor-in-chief of Child Welfare magazine and member of the national board of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' association, in an address here.

"Seeds for the freedom about which parents now are complaining were planted by them when they encouraged girls to go to public dances arranged for soldiers and to pick up in their automobiles anyone in uniform," said Mrs. Reeves.

"The big factor in dealing with the high school and college problem is to remember we ourselves sowed the seeds," continued Mrs. Reeves. "We must be more patient with the rising generation than we are and set higher standards. We must not feel our children have gone to the 'demolition row' just because they are full of life and spirits."

"When we parents think the schools are to be held responsible for the education of our boys and girls we are unjust. The great trouble with our children is their lack of concentrated interest in anything. Many times they learn more in the school or home. Public opinion is the biggest force outside our own training that can influence our children. We must work in all ways that our sons and daughters shall not be 'spoiled darlings' but good citizens."

Priest Attacks 'Pest' Reformers

Local Pastor Brands Professional Workers as Hypocrites and Modern Pharisees.

Professional reformers are the publicans and the Pharisees of modern life, Father Sinne, pastor of St. Mary Magdalene church, told his congregation Sunday.

He called them "pests" and declared them guilty of one of the unforgivable sins, hypocrisy.

"Just as the Pharisees were the hindrance to the work of Christ in His public life, so today the modern Pharisees, better known as reformers, are the chief stumbling block to the work of Christ," Father Sinne said.

"The reformer of today is a busy-body and a hypocrite," he continued. "He pretends, just as the Pharisee of old, to be just a man. He gives to the support of the church, he tells you he doesn't smoke tobacco, he doesn't drink, he doesn't play cards, he doesn't dance, and he thanks God he is not like other men."

"Yet what has he done? The only Christian reform is the individual reform. Reform, like charity, begins at home."

Father Sinne declared that Christ cannot forgive a hypocrite because the hypocrite has no humility, and humility is an essential integer of contrition.

To Be, Not Have, Road to Wealth, Says Pastor

Columbus, O., July 29.—"Every great movement for the world's betterment has risen from a great personality," asserted Rev. Daniel F. Rittenhouse, local Baptist clergyman, addressing an audience of over 200 Columbus boys, on the subject of "True Greatness."

"Riches of life rests in being something, instead of having something," said Rev. Dr. Rittenhouse. "The power which each man exerts in his community depends upon his individual efforts."

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Who always does his very best Alone is fit to meet life's test.
—Old Mother Nature.

Danny Has a Close Call.

There is such a thing as being too safe. Yes, sir, there is such a thing as being too safe. It is a good thing to have to watch out for danger at least once in a while. Those who don't have to are apt to forget that there is such a thing as danger.

This is the way it was with Danny Meadow Mouse. Since he and Nanny had made their home in the old scarecrow in Farmer Brown's cornfield they hadn't been in danger once. Of course none of their enemies ever thought to look for them in such a place as that old scarecrow. So day after day, and night after night, they played about and went and came as they pleased. At first Danny had kept a sharp watch for possible danger as he had been obliged to do all his life. But as the days went by he thought of danger less and less often, and finally not at all.

Early one morning he ran over to the Green Meadows which began just beyond the fence that bounded Farmer Brown's cornfield. Danny had gone to get his breakfast. He was busily eating a blade of grass when happening to look behind him he saw the grass moving as if someone were creeping through it very softly. It was just pure good luck that Danny had looked back when he did. Through the grass stems he saw something black. It was Black Pussy the Cat from Farmer Brown's house!

Danny dropped his piece of grass and started to run. Black Pussy's ears must have caught the faint sound of Danny's footsteps, for instantly she sprang. She all but landed on Danny's short tail. Danny squeaked with fright and my, my, my, how he did run! It didn't seem as if those short legs of his could move so fast.

Now it is probable that if the grass had been short I would have no more stories to write about Danny Meadow Mouse. But the grass was tall, and Black Pussy couldn't see Danny. She had to be guided by her ears and by movements of the grass as Danny ran through it. Several times she all but pounced upon him. It was a long time since Danny had been in such danger.

At first Danny was too frightened to think. He was too frightened to anything but run. But he knew he must get to a safe hiding place soon. Then into his head popped the memory of that old tin can at the foot of a fence post on the edge of Farmer Brown's cornfield. If he could reach that he would be safe.

"I've got to get there, I've got to get there," he kept saying over and over to himself as he ran.

"I've got to get there, I've got to get there," he kept saying over and over to himself as he ran. And it seemed somehow as if just saying that over and over helped him to run faster. He did get there, but only just in the very nick of time. Just as he whisked in through the little round hole in the end of that old tin can Black Pussy made a last swift spring, and Danny actually felt one of her claws. He squeaked with fright and pain, and then he was inside. He was safe for the present. But it had been a very close call. Had he had to run any further Black Pussy certainly would have caught him.

Men Told How to Be Beautiful

President of Cosmeticians Says "Leave Liquor Alone"—Women to Quit Rouging.

By International News Service.

Chicago, July 30.—No more than the convention of the American Society of Cosmeticians got under way today, a large sized discussion began on what to do to give our men a clear skin, rosy cheeks and bright eyes.

"Any man," said Dr. Nell Cooper of Baton Rouge, La., the president, taking in with a wave of her hand, choristers, truck drivers, brokers, motemen and such, "can beautify himself easily."

"Oh, doctor," shrieked her interviewers aghast, "what makes you think men are interested in it?"

The doctor, quite nice looking herself, rolled her eyes up, down and across several times.

"My dearest own," she sighed, "aren't the half of my clients men?"

"Are they?"

"They are. And you'd be surprised. Once they get to coming to a beauty shop they wouldn't go back to barber shops for the first. Usually their wives—or someone—bring them. But they get used to it. Dear, dear, yes, they get used to it."

"Well, now, doctor, if I should wish to become beautiful, what would I have to do?"

"Complete abstinence from alcohol is necessary, coupled with exercise whereby the foods are complete oxidized, with external cleanliness and application of constructive cosmetics."

The doctor said letting a barber make mud pies on one's face with beauty clay was terribly wrong. Dr. Cooper said clay was good only for oily skins.

Asked what sort of makeup would succeed the recently popular leaden and rust complexion with brilliantly colored lips, Dr. Cooper said there would be none at all.

"That was just a fad," she explained.

John H. Regan Dies.

New York, July 30.—John H. Regan of Tacoma, Wash., died today of heart disease at the Hotel McAlpine, where he had been stopping for a week. At the hotel it was said he was an official of the American Wood Pipe company. He was about 58 years of age.

"Clear Traffic and Let Pedestrians Look Out for Themselves"—Butler

Traffic on Omaha streets is to be speeded up.

This was the announcement Monday morning of Police Commissioner Butler in commenting on the new traffic ordinance sponsored by Commissioner Dunn, which, he says, eliminates the pedestrian traffic officers on downtown corners.

The right-hand turn is also reinstated, although there will be no left-hand turns.

"The officers now have instructions to clear the traffic as fast as possible, and let the pedestrians look after themselves," he said.
