

Board Approves 11.5 Mill Levy at Special Meeting Expected to Yield $3,646,645—Budget for Teachers' Services Higher Than Last Year.

The school district levy of 11.5 mills for the ensuing year was approved by the Board of Education at a special meeting yesterday.

Applied to a valuation of $326,906, this new levy will yield $3,646,645, according to a board estimate.

Other sources of revenue, also estimated, plus the tax revenue, will yield a probable total of $3,826,145 for the next fiscal year.

The new budget for instructional service, including salaries of teachers, principals and supervisors, shows a total of $2,599,650 against a total of $2,516,943 for last year.

An increase of $8,000 for new text books is shown in the new budget.

Expenditures for the new school year is shown as $4,069,240, as against $3,985,238 for the closing school year.

The increase, it is claimed, will be taken up by the balance, which is carried over. The cost of operating the school district for the next fiscal year will be $100,000 higher than the last year, although the levy is half a mill less and the valuation $11,000,000 higher.

The school board also authorized the sale of $1,500,000 short-term notes to carry the school district over until the taxes are received next year.

Columbus Voters Divided on 75,000 Bond Issue Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Columbus, Neb., July 30.—Bitter strife attends the special city election to be held in Columbus Tuesday in which the voters are asked to decide if the city shall issue $75,000 in bonds for the erection of a new city hall.

The city is divided into two factions separated by the railroad yards. The south side or older part of the town is expending money freely to combat the move while the north side of the city which includes the retail and wealthier residence section favors the erection of a city hall rather than to continue paying rent on private property.

U. P. Geologist Inspects Gering Vicinity for Oil Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.

Gering, Neb., July 30.—The Union Pacific has sent its head geologist, Dr. Boyce, to Gering to make a complete survey and report of this immediate territory with a view to ascertaining whether there is good prospect of striking oil.

A local company has been endeavoring for several months to secure necessary leases on land in vicinity of Brockhoff, beet siding and an expert driller has been assisting for a couple of months. There is a general impression that oil in paying quantities exists in this vicinity.

NEWS of SCHOOLS and COLLEGES

Open Air School Proves Success

School of Instruction Holds Summer Session on Screened Porches.

The summer session at the School of Individual Instruction has been an unqualified success, according to the instructors.

Sixty-one pupils are still at work studying on next term subjects or making up grades. The classes are held on screened open air porches and in a grape arbor. The fall session opens September 4, and a limited number of pupils will be received.

The new building of the school was formerly the E. S. Westbrook residence. The class rooms are spacious, full of sunshine, sanitary, and heated by hot water. One teacher has been added to the staff, Mrs. Martha Bellinger, graduate of Mount Holyoke college. Mrs. Bellinger will assist in the special classes now being formed for pupils who are preparing for eastern schools.

This school features individual instruction, small classes and careful explanation of assignments and is accredited by the University of Nebraska.

Parents ordinarily like to see all schools before registering their children. Mrs. Pratt of the School of Individual Instruction has cordially invited parents to visit the school.

Nebraska Wesleyan Notes. Seventy students have registered for the second summer term at Nebraska Wesleyan university.

The July bulletin of Nebraska Wesleyan came from the press last week. It was edited by Dean F. A. Alabaster and was richly devoted to Wesleyan athletics and physical education. The bulletin bears some illustrations and has a colored cover. The 1923 football schedule is announced.

Prof. W. L. Ruyler, director of rural extension, announces that a rural life institute is being planned in connection with the annual state conference which will be held at Grace church, Lincoln, September 19 to 24. An outstanding speaker will be brought for the rural conference which will otherwise take the character of a round table. The purpose will be to co-ordinate the church more fully with rural life. These meetings will be largely educational. The field and methods will be discussed.

Prof. W. G. Bishop of the geology department will lecture on the subject, "Why Young People Drop Out of Sunday School," at the Epworth assembly August 8. Dean Parvin Witte of the Wesleyan college of fine arts will give a concert at the Epworth assembly August 12, after which he and Mrs. Witte plan a western trip.

Chadron Normal. Superintendents W. R. Pate of Alliance, G. F. Liebendorfer of Sidney and Howard Smith of Chadron have joined instructors in the departments of education and mathematics this summer. Superintendent Pate is the newly elected president of the Nebraska Teachers' college.

The citizens of Chadron furnished 150 cars with which to take the students out on the annual picnic at the State park near Chadron. The picnic was very enjoyable and was well attended. The students were entertained by ball games composed of members from the various schools. A faculty team, and one from the business men of Chadron.

The commencement program was given Friday morning. Earl Meyer, attorney at law, presided. The program included "The Glory That is America." The orator was Mr. Bradley. The degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education was conferred upon Miss Lucie Daboll, principal Rapid City public school, Mrs. Adine E. Woyner, Riverton, Wyo., and Superintendent. Miss Freda Nelson, principal of the high school, Council Bluffs. Elementary state certificates were given to Emerine Hudson, Anna Kocher, Lloyd Krickbaum and Ford Miles.

Cotner Notes. Prof. Ernest Lundeen is spending a part of the summer working out two new courses which he will offer next year—educational sociology and social principles of education.

President Cobbe and family left Saturday for Sioux Falls, S. D., by auto. He is the guest of the church there Sunday. They intend to take a month's vacation in Minnesota.

Brownell Hall Adopts Courses

Lyceum Numbers to Be Part of Curriculum Coming Year.

The board of trustees of Brownell hall last week adopted a resolution making a part of the school's course for boarding pupils all concerts, lectures, art exhibitions and plays given under the auspices of the Tuesday Musical club, the Omaha Fine Arts society and the Drama league.

The trustees authorized the principal, Dora Lee Newman, to reserve blocks of tickets with all these organizations of sufficient size to accommodate all boarding pupils of the school. The plan is to have the Brownell Hall students attend these functions in a body, chaperoned by a member of the faculty.

The trustees said they could not make this policy apply to day pupils because of the fact that they live at home and are not under supervision of the school authorities except during school hours.

Brownell Hall will open this year on October 15, a month later than usual because the school does not yet possess possession of its new property, the Happy Hollow club house and grounds, until October 1.

Creighton University. The 11th session of the Creighton university summer school, one of the most notably successful sessions since the inauguration of the vacation courses, comes to a close this week with graduation exercises in the university auditorium Tuesday. The vast majority of the students are teachers from schools distributed through a large number of states.

Dr. Clarence Hyland of the college of medicine writes from the east that Dr. James S. Foote, whom he visited, expects to be back as an active member of the Creighton dental faculty this fall. Dr. Foote is one of the oldest professors of Creighton. For a few years past he has been carrying on special research on the hard tissues of the mouth. Last summer he became ill while on vacation in New England, and he has been slowly recuperating during the year. He has been able to go forward with his research work during his long convalescence.

Business Men Are Calling for More Proficient Help "The demand for our graduates is a great source of satisfaction to the faculty and management," says Prof. J. A. Youngstrom of the American College of Business, 1912 Farnam street.

"The expansion and improvement in every line of business in Omaha requires more office assistants and is keeping the demand for our bookkeepers, stenographers, secretaries and comptometer operators continuous. That there are a great many people out of employment is true, but seldom a week goes by but we have two or three calls for graduates, and consequently every qualified student from the American college is enjoying pleasant office employment."

There is, however, he says, considerable difference in the calls now and a couple of years ago. Business men are demanding that their office assistants be thoroughly proficient, and almost every call, whether it is for a young man or young woman, requests someone who has a knowledge of more than one thing, i. e., someone that can do both bookkeeping and shorthand, and frequently they want someone who understands not only bookkeeping and stenography, but also the comptometer or calculating machines.
