Boehler and Bailey Turn in Two Victories

Omaha's New Pitchers Hold Indians to Nine Hits All Afternoon.

By RALPH WAGNER.

terday afternoon These Omaha Buffaloes turned in a couple of victories. winning over Jack Holland's Oklahoma City Indians Winning double headers isn't what the Buffaloes are noted for doing, but yesterday they simply couldn't do anything else, but win both ends of a bargain-day attraction. One of the reasons was that they received some mighty good hurling from a couple of newcomers, Messers George Boehler, late of the Pirates, and Lantern Jaw Bill Bailey, recently of the Houston club of the Texas circuit. The other reason was that they cracked that ol' agate at the opportune times. An other reason was that those Buffaloes ran the sacks better than the day previous, all of which went to win the double-header Indians Didn't Have Chance.

The Indians didn't have a chance in either game, although the night Boehler and Bailey deserve shutout games and had not little Johnny Kern got all excited in the ninth inning of the initial game and the fourth round of the final, chances are that the Buffalo "chuckers" would have plastered the visitors with a coat of whitewash Those two bobbles of Kerr's allowed the Indians to score their three runs of the afternoon. But you gotta give Kerr credit in spite of his errors. He was on his "toes" all afternoon and right in the game. The diamond was eavy from the recent rains and Johnny wasn't altogether to blame. George Boehler demonstrated to all concerned in the first that his arm isn't so bad off. George allowed the visitors four hits, one of them a dou ble. He kept his hits so scattered we doubt if Oklahoma City has found 'em. Boehler held the tribe hitless until the third. Johnny had trouble fielding the agate and his throw to first must be still traveling. Anyway, the overthrow allowed Hock to score the only Oklahoma City run of the first game.

Bailey Wins First Game.

The second game was all Omaha. Lantern Jaw Bill Bailey, a lanky sort of hurler who twirls his curves from the awkward side, made his debut before the customers. He showed plenty of steam and fairly good control. He also mixed his deliveries up in such a fashion that he fanned five Indians and fooled

Omahan Sees Firpo, Then Wagers $2,000 to $1,000 That Dempsey Beats Him

A well known Omahan watched Luis Angel Firpo go 10 rounds with Homer Smith at the baseball park Friday night, formed his opinion of the Argentinan's chances to lift Jack Dempsey's crown on September 14, and made it known that he liked the champion more than ever.

A grading contractor, who makes his home here, 'overheard him and wagered $1,000 against $2,000, which the first party put up, that Firpo would win. It was the first big bet recorded on the outcome of the match.
