

SOCIETY
Guests Dance in Evening Wraps at Kountze Party

Smart summer evening wraps, which had languished all this season swathed in tissue paper, were released last evening by the lowering skies and blighting breezes which descended on the Luther Kountze garden party.

No longer cumbersome, as always in line as the most lissom of dresses, they are a joy to the beholder. And hardly warrant the banishment enforced on them up to this time by the heat, Mrs. Denman Kountze wore a particularly handsome one all evening over her lingerie frock. It was of silver brocade, trimmed in black velvet and sable.

Miss Claire Daugherty wore a white chiffon velvet banded in pink, over a white crepe gown, girdled in white and crystal. Miss Daugherty's gown was unusual in that the Jenny neck was trimmed in gold crystal, the gold being repeated in a satin bow caught at the hip.

Mrs. Douglas Peters, who looks so well in shades of brown, wore a tan velour cape, with satin circles of ribbon, and a tan wolf collar, and Mrs. Harkness Kountze wore a pink velvet wrap lined in pale blue. Another very light cape sheltered Mrs. Norman Curtis. It was the lightest thing, in robin's egg taffeta, and was a very charming complement to her auburn hair.

Mrs. Alfert Sibbernson and Mrs. Robert Garrett wore Spanish shawls. Mrs. Sibbernson's was white one which hung nonchalantly over a black satin and ecru lace frock. Mrs. Garrett's, of bright bluish pink, completely covered her gown.

Mrs. Charles Burgess appeared in a white fur jacket collared and cuffed in gray squirrel, and of white angora and white fox was Mrs. Yale Holland's wrap. A rust duvetyen cape, trimmed in sand caracul, almost hid Miss Mary Findley's jade chignon.

Society proved last evening that the plain coiffure is the thing. Hardly an ornament was worn, except the tiny Dolly Varden bow wrapped high on the head and tied just above one eye. Miss Helen Rogers wore a cunning orchid one to match her orchid frock, and Miss Edith Latta bound her short locks with a white one.

Everyone was greatly intrigued with Ray Millard's birthday gift to his fiancée, Miss Gertrude Kountze. She wore it Tuesday evening above the square cut diamond, which was her betrothal ring. The gift was an elongated wristwatch of sapphire and diamonds, and was unusual in that the plain band of ribbon, which almost invariably is used, was replaced by four strands of pearls caught in a diamond and platinum clasp.

Let Sister Manage Her Own Affairs of the Heart

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.
Dear Miss Fairfax: My sister is a fine young lady 24, and is engaged to a man 34. He is a fine business man and a good man as far as we can find out. But mother objects seriously, owing to the fact that he has been married twice before, but from what we find out neither of his young wives took the marriage vow seriously.

The first one left because he refused to turn Christian Science; the second one became homesick after a short time and went to California to visit her folks and soon wrote that she loved another and did not return. Of course there are two sides to everything, but it seems there is no way to find the other side.

Mother also thinks he is too old for sister and marrying a man with such a blight in his life will wreck her life. Do you think there is such a doubt in this case that sister would be taking a terrible chance? If he were to blame is he not old enough now to realize his mistakes and make a good husband?

You gave me no name or nom de plume. I am printing your letter. I think that the business of marrying this man is entirely up to your sister, and you have no right to interfere one way or the other on the strength of my advice. Personally I should hesitate a long time before marrying a man who had failed so often in marriage. But that is your sister's business. If she is willing to take a chance, let her. Any interference in what she has decided to do will only make her more determined to do it.

Worried: Of course, the amount of silver used at your dinner would lead largely upon the number of courses. The forks are always placed to the left of the plates arranged in the order of size, the largest nearest the plate. Knives and spoons are placed to the right of the plates, knives on the inside and spoons on the outside. These also are arranged with the smallest pieces farthest from the plates.

You will, of course, have the dinner knife and fork. In addition you will need a soup spoon if you have a soup course, a dessert spoon and a coffee spoon. Individual butter knives are always used. Then you will need a salad fork for the salad course, a fork for the fish course, a fork for the cocktail, and, of course, a fork for the dessert if you use a dessert requiring one. However, never more than three forks should be placed upon the table at one time for the reason that they must be placed between the service plate and the napkin. Any additional forks must be placed upon the tables when their courses are served. All the silver, except dessert silver, should be put upon the table at the same time except in the case cited above. Bread and butter plates are in much better taste than butter dishes.

Comings and Goings of People You Know.
Ernest Hemingway of Lincoln is spending a few days in Omaha.
Mrs. Paul Greer and children left Thursday for a visit in Kansas City.
Miss Abbie McDonald of Dubuque, Ia., is the guest here for a few days of Mrs. E. W. Nash.

Mrs. William Kellogg and daughters, Margaret and Carmelita, are visiting relatives in Iowa.
Mr. and Mrs. Carol Belden and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Brewer left Saturday for a motor trip to the Minnesota lakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe Harzberg returned home Tuesday after five weeks in New York and the Adirondack mountains.
Miss Florence Kathryn Donahue leaves soon to attend college at St. Marys of the Woods, Notre Dame, Indiana, this coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Davis are spending a few days in Omaha en route home to Pilger, Neb. They have toured Colorado and Missouri.

Miss Jane Wells left Tuesday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. E. W. Green, at Ewing, Neb. She will also visit the summer home of her uncle, M. D. Cameron, at Lake Okoboji.
Wray Brown of St. Louis, who has returned from Sioux City from the tennis tournament there and has been at the Fontenelle for the past few days, left Thursday for his home. He was the winner of the state tennis tournament last year.

PAUL J. WURN
Succeeding the Late
B. F. WURN
OPTOMETRIST
675-677 Brandeis Bldg.

TWO TO-NIGHT
for loss of appetite, bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness.
Without gripping or nausea
CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
Set your liver right—only 25c

Wednesday Bride

Miss Marie Nesman, Wednesday bride.

The wedding of Miss Marie Nesman and Orland Huyck, son of Elmer E. Huyck of Grand Island, Neb., was solemnized Wednesday noon at the new home, at 4374 Barker street, where Mr. and Mrs. Huyck will reside. Rev. W. H. Wright of Grand Island, an old friend of the groom's family, read the marriage lines. The ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast at the Fontenelle hotel. Mrs. Huyck is the daughter of Mrs. W. F. Niesman of this city.

The bride was gowned in white, chastely lined with a tulle veil caught with pearls, and carried a shower bouquet-colored crepe Romanne and tulle hat to match. Glenn E. Musgrave was best man.

Adele Garrison
"My Husband's Love"

The Surprise That Greeted Madge in the Parlor.
"I told you so," Mother Graham's voice rang out triumphantly as she pushed open the door to her daughter's room. Adele was sitting at her dressing table, and she looked up at her mother with a startled expression. "Where are you going?" she asked. "Can't you answer the door when I call?"

"I have a surprise for you," Adele said, looking up at her mother. "Come in, please. I have something to show you." Mother Graham stepped into the room, and Adele pointed to the door. "That's my husband's love," Adele said, smiling. "He's waiting for you in the parlor."

quiescent of roses and swansonia. Mrs. F. A. Mellin, sister of the bride, and matron of honor, wore a gown of gold she finishes serving the dessert? They can wait a minute or two.
"I'm afraid they'll ring again," I flung back over my shoulder as I dashed into the hall. "I don't want them to wake Junior."
"To think I never thought of that!" My mother-in-law's astonished ejaculation came to me just as I swung the hall door open. The young trooper stood just outside the door in an apologetic attitude.

"I'm sorry to disturb you, ma'am," he said, "but the federal officer's come, and I've got to leave right away. Could you come over long enough to tell him what they have done down to the village about the woman? He hasn't been down there yet. You see, this man we're chasing is our business, the feds ain't got nothing to do with him, but this still is theirs, and we haven't anything to do with it as soon as they get here."

"I'll wait for you," he offered gallantly, and taking my coat from its hook, I went to the dining room for a word of explanation before rejoining him.
"I'll be back in a few minutes," I said. "Be sure to keep my dessert for me."
"Why can't they wait?" my mother-in-law snapped.

I put up a warning hand.
"It's the officers," I whispered, significantly, and was rewarded by Harry Underwood's resourcefulness to be sure that even with any aid my revelation of his complicity might give the troopers, there was no possible chance of their finding him.

As we entered the door, the young trooper lowered his voice.
"Say, excuse me, but what's your name?" he asked, and when I had told him, he accented a man standing in the kitchen with a hastily mumbled: "Meet Miss Graham, Federal Officer Farrell."
After that, with no further words save a "So long, folks," he gathered up his belongings and went out into the yard, from which a few seconds later came the sounds made by the hoofs of a galloping horse.

Farrell was a dark, stocky, serious-looking man of perhaps 40 years, as great a contrast to the rattle-brained young trooper as could well be imagined. He used but few words in questioning me concerning the release of the woman who sat sullenly staring at him, but these few were so well chosen, so directly to the point, that almost at once he knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.
"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

The young trooper held his flashlight to light our path and talked volubly every step of the way over to the house across the road. By the time we reached the door I had learned that his "buddy" was even now listening to Jim's report of the fugitive bootlegger's flight, and that as soon as he had brought me to the federal officer, he and his "buddy" were to take up the trail and press on after the fleeing criminal.

I felt like a traitor to law and order for holding my tongue, but I reasoned speculatively that I had no official connection with the case, no responsibility, and that nothing could be gained by my revealing the little I knew. I had enough experience of seeing a quick change in my mother-in-law's face.

"Oh," she said importantly. "In that case, of course—"
I made a hasty exit, not daring to look at Katherine. I had no desire to have my mother-in-law suspect how irresistibly laughable as well as lovable was her reaction to my suggestion of melodrama.

BURGESS-NASH COMPANY.

"EVERYBODY'S STORE"

MONTHLY Sale of Toilet Goods

Two Days—Friday and Saturday

Imported and Domestic Perfumes, Toilet Waters, Sachets

- 100 "Mavis" Toilet Water 69c
- 10c "Trailing Arbutus" or Rose Toilet Water 69c
- 100 Lilac Vegetal 69c
- 25c "Mavis" Beauty Soap, cake 17c
- 10c Colgate's "All Around" Bath Soap, priced at 59c
- 25c package Swift's Washing Powder, 35c
- 10c Wool Soap Flakes, 3 for 19c
- 35c "Mavis" Bath Tablets, 2 for 35c
- 25c "Cutecura" Soap 19c
- 10c "Essex" Peroxide Soap, doz. 69c
- 25c Packer's Tar Soap in an aluminum soap box 17c
- 15c Jergens' "Boquet" Toilet Soap, 2 cakes 15c
- 25c "Resinol" Soap for cakes for 19c
- 10c Wool Soap, 3 for 19c

Ingram's Milkweed Cream

Improves the skin-health. It has a remedial action on pimples, freckles, blotches, eruptions, blackheads, etc. It relieves redness, roughness and irritation.

50c "Mavis" Cold or Vanishing Cream, 39c

50c Mary Garden, cold or Vanishing Cream, 39c

60c Lemon Cold or Vanishing Cream, 39c

50c "Stillman's" Freckle Cream, 33c

85c Daggert & Ramsdell's Cold Cream, 69c

Wool Soap

With each purchase of 50c Jergens' Lotion we will give without charge one cake of Woodbury's Facial Soap.

For the Nails: 25c Burgess-Nash Nail Cake or Paste, 2c; 75c Hygie Polish, powder or cake form, 29c; 35c "Cuteux" Cuticle Remover, 29c.

For the Hair: 75c "Djer Kiss" Brilliantine, 59c; 50c Lemon Shampoo, 35c; 10c "Wild-Root" Hair Tonic, 79c; 50c "Wild Root" Shampoo, 39c; 35c "Multifit Compound Oil", 39c; 50c "Palm Olive" Shampoo, 39c; 60c Packer's Tar Shampoo, 39c; 50c Roger and Gallet Brilliantine, 39c.

Face Powders and Rouge: 11.25 "Manon" Lescout Powder, 89c; 50c "Djer Kiss" Face Powder, 35c; 50c "Dorin" Rouge 1249 or 1251, 39c; 50c "Djer Kiss" Rouge, 35c; 50c "Mavis" Face Powder, 35c; 10c Mary Garden Face Powder, box, 79c; 50c "Helen's Choice" Face Powder, 39c; 75c "M. M. C." Face Powder, 38c; 10c "Le Trefle" Face Powder, 38c; 20c "Ambre Royale" Face Powder, 1.39; 35c Roger and Gallet Rice Powder, 24c.

Depilatories and Deodorants: 30c Amolin Powder, 19c; 25c "Creme Odorono" at 19c; 25c "Mum" at 19c; 50c Beecham's "Odericid", 42c; 65c "Liquid Dress Shields", 35c; 50c "Non-Spi", 39c; 45.00 "Zip" Depilatory, $3.79.

Soaps: "Life Buoy" Soap 69c; 11.25 "El Murrillo" Castile Soap, 3 lb. bar 89c.

Sponges: 50c Grass Sponge, 19c; 75c Wool Sponge, 39c.

Old Dutch Cleanser

Old Dutch makes utensils clean, sweet and wholesome. Removes lye and grease and every trace of odors.

Old Dutch gives full cleaning value

Old Dutch is economical and gives maximum cleaning value for your money because every particle cleans. That's because of the nature of this thrifty cleanser, a substance mined from the earth. It is a very fine, flat, flaky material that spreads over surfaces and erases dirt with a clean sweep; it contains no acid, lye or hard grit; it won't scratch. Millions are proving to themselves every day that Old Dutch saves them money.

Its economy is the secret of its popularity

Combs and Hair Brushes: 25c Men's Pocket Combs, 19c; 50c Prophylactic Hair Brushes, 69c; 50c Men's Imported Combs, 29c; $2.50 Pure Bristles Hair Brushes, $1.29.

White and Two-Toned Ivory: At Greatly Reduced Prices. White Ivory in the Du Barry Pattern: $2.50 Tray, $1.19; $1.00 Comb, 39c; $3.00 Clothes Brush, $1.49; $2.00 Hat Brush, 59c; $2.75 Picture Frame, $1.69; $2.50 Powder Box, $1.19; $2.50 Nail Buffer, $1.19.

Rubber Goods: $2.50 Douche, $1.59; $1.50 Douche Spray, 98c; 25c Syringe Tubing, 19c.

Drugs: 50c "Listerine", 39c; 20c "Bayer's Aspirin", 15c; 60c California "Syrup of Figs", 39c; 50c Medicated Alcohol, pint 37c; 25c Medicated Alcohol, 19c; 50c "Phenolax", 21c; 10c "Sal Hepatica" Wafers, 89c; 10c Bay Rum, 69c; 60c "Buffalo" Lithia Water, 29c; 20c "Carbena" Cleaner, 15c; 35c Dr. Hobson's "Pain Dispeller", 19c; 35c Dr. Hobson's "Wild Cherry Compound", 15c; 35c "Dr. Scholl's Foot Balm", 29c; 5 yards "J. and J. Red Cross" Gauze, 69c; 60c "J. & J." Sanitary Napkins, 49c; $2.00 Hughes "Ideal" Hair Brushes No. 66, $1.79; 25c Nail Brushes, 24c; 50c Dr. West's Tooth Brushes, 33c; 50c English Tooth Brushes, assorted styles, silver wire draws, 29c; Main Floor.

Shaving Needs: 35c "Krank's" Lather Cream, 29c; 50c "Gem" Razor Blades, 35c; 35c "Palmolive" Shaving Cream, tube, 21c; 50c Gillette Razor Blades "6's", 32c; 35c Johnson's Shaving Cream, 24c; 30c Men's Shaving Cream, 35c; $3.00 "Auto-Stop" Razors, 69c; 10c "Gem" Safety Razors, complete, 39c; $1.25 Pinaud's L'Occitane Vegetale, 89c.

Curling Irons: $2.50 Electric Curling Iron guaranteed one year, $1.39.

Incense: 75c box Cone Incense Burners, 19c; 10c package Incense, all odors, 3 pkgs., 19c; 25c Incense Cones at 19c.

Three Piece Ivory Sets: These sets, consisting of brush, comb and mirror, are decorated in pink or blue. $10.50 Sets, $6.98; $15.50 Sets, $10.95; $15.00 Sets, $9.98.

Absolutely Pure imported POMPELAN OLIVE OIL Sold Everywhere