Drama League to Sponsor Little Theater Plays.

The Omaha Drama League will sponsor a group of Little Theater plays to be given this winter at the Brandeis theater under direction of the Misner School of the Spoken Word.

Honoring Mrs. Grigor.

The Misses Clara and Mary Hawley will entertain at tea at their home on Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Will Grigor of Los Angeles, the guest of Judge and Mrs. Howard Kennedy, and for Mrs. H. B. Sargon, who is visiting her son here before leaving for Denver to spend the winter with General and Mrs. Wheaton there.

Comings and Goings of People You Know.

Dr. R. B. Benda has returned from Shelby, Neb., where he spent a few days on his farm.

Mrs. J. W. Kane and son, Edward, of Boone, Ia., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Crowe.

June Ellison and Vivian Johnson leave Saturday to spend a week with friends at Abion, Neb.

Mrs. John Douglas and son, Donald, are spending the month of August at Lakewood, Wall Lake, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noack and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sverdrup are motoring to Denver and Estes Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Davis of Lincoln will arrive Saturday to be dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hertz that evening at Happy Hollow.

Mrs. George Myers, her daughter, Barbo, and Miss Abbie McDonald of Dubuque, are the guests of Mrs. Myers' mother, Mrs. E. W. Nash.

Miss Ila Faye Andrews of Kearney, Neb., returned to her home Thursday accompanied by Miss Lois Walmer, who with Miss Laura Perkins, was her hostess during her stay. Miss Walmer, who formerly resided in Kearney, will visit there for some time before returning to Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester L. Towne and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Honig returned last week from a motor trip to Caspar, Wyo. The Towne's children, Norma Lee and James, were with an uncle in Des Moines during their parents' absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Rawlins leave Saturday for Boston, where they will join Mr. Rawlins' sister, Mrs. Leonard C. Fisher of New York. The three will go by boat to New York, where Mr. and Mrs. Rawlins will be for three weeks before they start home.

J. E. Blanchard and his daughter, Mrs. Howard McMonie, returned last Saturday from Long Beach, L. I., where they have been the guest of another daughter, Mrs. Ben Burge. Mrs. Will Cippery of Minneapolis, a third daughter, was with them, and on their return to Omaha was met by her two children, Marion and Janet, who remained for a week as guests of Mrs. Blanchard.

Clinton Bromie is in Wyoming on an exploration trip of the Ten Sleep country, accompanied by his brother, Charles Bromie of Basin, Wyo., formerly of Omaha. They have been traveling for a month with a pack horse in the uninhabited parts of the mountains. Sheridan, Wyo. was their starting point. Mr. Bromie returns Sunday to his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Plate and son, Norman, leave next Wednesday for a motor trip through Minnesota and Wisconsin before going to Chicago to visit Mrs. Leonard Stalke, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Plate. Mrs. Plate will stay with Mrs. Stalke until October, but Mr. Plate and Norman will return about the first of September in order that Norman may attend the University of Nebraska.

Former Omaha Girl a Visitor

Miss Halcyon Cotton
DEWELL PHOTO

Miss Halcyon Cotton of Chicago, who, with her mother, Mrs. H. R. Cotton, is the guest of Mrs. Charles E. Black, is a former Omaha girl. She was prominent here in her Brownell Hall days and is a Wellesley graduate. A number of affairs are being given for Miss Cotton and her mother. Last Wednesday Mrs. Newman Benson entertained at luncheon for them and next Wednesday she will again be hostess at luncheon at the Country club in their honor. Miss Mary Taylor was hostess at a bridge at her home Thursday and today Mrs. Ferd Plate gave a picnic at Elmwood park for the Cottons, and also for her guests, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Blake and their sons, Howard and Eugene of Chicago, who arrived today after a motor trip from northern Wisconsin. Mrs. Cotton and Miss Halcyon will return to their home the latter part of next week.

Nagging Wives Should Read This Husband's Plea

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Dear Miss Fairfax: Why don't you write occasionally to the married women and tell them how to treat their husbands? Tell them what nagging means to a man when he gets home after a hard day's work, especially in these days. Some of the married women don't know that the war is over, and they think the husbands go down town and spend up a few hundred dollars and that's the day's work and when they get home all they have to do is to hand it over. They tell how so and so has a maid, so and so is going to Europe, so and so is sending all the youngsters to camp, so and so has four new dresses and why can't we live on this scale?

Take a woman who had nothing eighteen years ago, and who now has a fine home in her own name, a car, jewelry, four beautiful children and no gets seventy-five dollars a week for the table and the children's clothes—but she is always growling. I am hoping that your answer will do my wife some good and get her to thinking a little along your lines. That's all I ask.

A DISCOURAGED HUSBAND. Of course we all know that there are numerous parasite women in the world who take all they can get and give nothing. Sometimes I feel that what the nagging wife needs is a little experience in the struggle to earn a livelihood. If a woman who never thinks of her own blessings, but spends her time reproaching her husband because he isn't providing her with a palace at Newport and a few accompanying luxuries had to go out and earn the funds for the family, she would probably land in a tenement in a drab street.

The woman who has enough ability and understanding to face the world and wrest a livelihood from it generally has enough breadth of vision to know what an effort work implies. The woman who sits at home and dispenses her husband's earnings should not forget that she is a partner in a firm, and what wise and frugal expenditure is her department. She ought to appreciate his efforts, and to spur him on to greater ones by believing in him and his future—not by nagging at him because the present doesn't come up to her ideal.

There is no happiness to be found in the world in terms of sitting and envying those who have more than we possess. Nor is there any comfort in coming home to find that work and love and honest efficiency have been putting his house in order during the day when he was doing his best to earn the wherewithal to maintain his home.

"Poor and content is rich enough," and there are many fine women who make of home a haven for the man who earns five or six dollars a day. But the woman who has the "loggar on horseback" attitude of thinking her husband owes her strings of pearls and emerald rings and world tours is likely to wear out his nervous system, make life an endless burden and keep him from accomplishing the best of which he is capable.

The foolish woman who nags at her husband from morning till night and strives to drive him to greater and greater efforts breaks the spirit of a fine man—or estranges his love.

Marriage is a partnership—or it is nothing. The woman whose demands are outrageous and whose appreciation is zero is bound to wreck nerves and hope and happiness if she keeps at it earnestly enough. Fortunately many women are appreciative and loving and realize that a hard-working man comes home to be renewed and refreshed for the next day's efforts. But the woman who refuses to do her share in making the home even as her husband makes the money to support it—is bound to destroy, since she refuses to build up.

M. S.: Seventeen is pretty young to be entirely broken-hearted. I wouldn't try to make the young man come back. Any efforts on your part to bring him back against his will, will only make him more anxious to stay away. I am sure that you will soon find some one else whom you can love as dearly. Surely you wouldn't want to marry at 17 anyway.

C. H. T.: I suppose it is youth that attracts the men older than you. And maybe you are not as clever and interesting a conversationalist as you might be when in company with boys your own age. Be interested in the things they are, and I think they will find you attractive.

Marie: No one could say that such a marriage would come under the Mann act. There must be a basis for any objections to a marriage. Mere disapproval will not count with the law.

Sugar Economy. To eliminate the sugar that is usually reposing in the bottom of the glass after the tea is consumed, make a syrup of granulated sugar and water and use this for sweetening instead of plain sugar. You will soon learn how much you require and a great deal of sugar is saved.
